ITALY'S KING VISITS GORIZIA.

Greets Soldier as Comrade and Watches Effect of Artillery Fire.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

GORIZIA, Aug. 16 (via Rome and Paris.)—Although this city is still under bombardment by long-range Austrian guns, King Victor Emmanuel stopped here on one of his tours of inspection along the Italian lines, watched the effect of the hostile artillery fire and visited the tunnel by which the Italians penetrated and surprised the place. While he was entering an automobile to leave Gorizia the King saw a soldier wounded in the hand and foot standing at attention. "Don't bother to salute me, comrade," said the King, who shook hands with and then saluted the soldier.

OBSTACLES ON TRACKS

But Wilson Hopes to Remove Them.

A Definite Plan to Prevent Trainmen's Strike Evolved by President.

Will Appeal to the Patriotism of Both Sides in Urging a Compromise.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—President Wilson completed a definite plan today for settlement of the threatened nation-wide railroad strike and will submit it to representatives of the managers and employees tomorrow. Although administration officials said negotiations would be continued until a peaceful solution was found, the outcome of the President's mediation is expected to depend largely on the attitude of the two sides toward the plan he has drawn up.

The proposition framed by the President following conferences with the managers and employees since Monday morning proposes that the railways should concede the eight-hour work day with an agreement that it will be observed. Later it probably will be proposed that a Federal commission appointed by the President or created by Congress shall investigate all problems which have arisen during the present discussion.

OBSTACLES.

The chief obstacles in the way of acceptance of the plan lie in the insistence of the railroad managers on arbitration and their opposition to the eight-hour day and the demand for time and a half for overtime. Whether or not the two sides refuse to give in on these points constituted the chief danger in the situation tonight.

The general committee of the employees, including 640 representatives of the trainmen and enginemen on the 225 railroad systems of the country arrived here tonight in response to a summons by their subcommittee which has been meeting with the President. The general committee has plenary powers to accept or reject any suggestion.

The men, although refraining from discussing the plan of the President, said they thought the outlook encouraging for a settlement.

CONFERENCE.

At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the President will meet the entire committee of 640 in the east room of the White House and lay before them his plans. He will accompany it with a statement, appealing to their patriotism and urging a compromise in the interests of the people of the nation.

While no time has been set for a conference between the managers' committee and the President, it is thought probable it will take place tomorrow morning.

When Mr. Wilson sees the managers he will make practically the same statement he will deliver to the employees, paying particular attention, however, to the points he feels the managers should concede. The President completed his plan during a conference today with Judge William L. Chambers of the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation, who took to the White House statistics compiled by experts showing the probable cost to the railroads of the granting of a basic eight-hour day. Immediately afterwards Judge Chambers talked briefly with the managers' committee. He did not confer with the employees' representatives.

The conference between the President and Judge Chambers was the only formal meeting of the day in connection with the situation. There were no White House conferences with the managers and employees, pending the arrival of the brotherhoods' general committee from New York and the drawing up of a definite plan by Mr. Wilson. The managers spent the day in informal meetings and conferences at their hotel. The employees' representatives rested at their hotel, saying they had nothing to confer about among themselves.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The President is depending largely on public opinion to force a settlement. Should the present method of procedure seem about to fail, it was thought probable today he would take the public into his confidence.

Discussion of the creation of a Federal commission to investigate the railroad situation centered largely today around the contention of railroad officials that such a commission would be able to get at all the facts and be able to prevent a recurrence of the present crisis. The President has taken up with both sides suggestions as to the best way to make up a commission which would be satisfactory.

The principal reasons advanced by the managers in insisting on arbitration were their belief that the principle of arbitration is at stake, and points made during the consideration of their recent petitions for a 5 per cent. increase in freight rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission intimated at that time that when railroad officials gave wage increases of their own accord and without arbitration they must bear the consequences.

During the day the managers' committee had experts at work compiling data on the cost to the railroads of an eight-hour day. This data they planned to present to the President to uphold their position. It was anticipated that the managers would not give a decision on the President's plan until after they hold a

TURKS AGAIN DENY SYRIAN RELIEF.

POWER OF THE ARMENIANS ENTIRELY DISSIPATED.

Abolition of the Patriarchate is Regarded as Designed to Place All Positions in the Hands of the Musselmans—Executions of Arabs Continues.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—A reiterated refusal of the Turkish government to permit American relief supplies to enter Syria, cabled today to the State Department, coupled with yesterday's dispatch announcing abolition of the Armenian patriarchate in Turkey and the recent execution of many leading Arabs in connection with the Mecca revolt, is interpreted in official circles here as indicating that vigorous steps are being taken in the attempt to consolidate the Turkish regime through the weakening of the several other racial elements of the country.

Abolition of the patriarchate, which had both religious and administrative powers over the Armenians, is regarded as designed to break down Armenian power and place all positions in the hands of the Turks. Before the war there were 1,750,000 Armenians in Turkey, but 750,000 are reported since to have been killed and 250,000 to have fled. As a result Armenian power in Turkey is thought to have been entirely dissipated.

The executions of Arabs at the time of the recent Mecca revolt indicates further a systematic campaign against other races and in favor of the Turk.

SECRETARY TO APPEAR BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE.

Members Want Personal Explanation Regarding Details Relating to Business Concessions in the Islands Which it is Purposed to Buy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Secretary Lansing was asked today to appear Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to answer questions relating to the treaty for purchase of the Danish West Indies. The committee, at its first meeting to consider the treaty, decided a personal explanation from the Secretary would be necessary to satisfy some of the members regarding details relating to business concessions in the islands and to the purchase price.

Some of the Senators on the committee, although they favor purchasing the islands, believe the $25,000,000 asked by Denmark exorbitant, especially in view of the fact that she offered to sell them for $5,000,000 in 1902.

The committee will question Mr. Lansing particularly, however, about business concessions which the United States by the terms of the convention proposes to maintain. Among these are a license to a company called "Det Vestindiske Kompagni," giving it rights to drain, deepen and utilize certain areas in St. Thomas Harbor, and preferential rights as to commercial, industrial or shipping establishments in the harbor. Another concession gives the same company the right to supply electric light for the city of Charlotte Amalie.

Senator Stone, chairman of the committee, said tonight the treaty probably would not be reported to the Senate for ratification until next week.

FINAL DISCUSSION OF THE NAVY BILL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The $315,800,000 naval appropriation bill entered the final legislative stage today. Senate and House conferees resumed their discussions of the comparatively minor items remaining in disagreement with prospect of a final report to both houses within a few days, possibly by Friday.

Following acceptance by the House yesterday of the Senate's building and personnel increases, the Senate today agreed to another conference on the smaller items in dispute, and the conferees held an hour's session. No agreement was reached. Another session will be held tomorrow.

In the informal discussions today agreement by the conferees upon appropriation of $6,000,000 to equip navy yards for war craft construction was forecast. The conferees, however, still are divided on the question of which yards shall be equipped for immediate construction of capital ships. Acceptance of the Senate proposal for investigation of sites for submarine and aviation bases on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts also appeared probable.

Two Encounters Between Warships of Germany and Britain Indicated.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 16 (via London, 8:40 p.m.)—Two encounters between British and German warships were observed from Flushing, Holland, last night, according to a dispatch from Flushing today to the Telegraaf.

ATTEMPTED LANDING.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 16.—The attempt of the British to land troops in Flanders yesterday was frustrated by a clash between British and German warships off Zeebruge last night. Details of the encounter are lacking, but according to reports received in Amsterdam tonight there were two encounters of the fleets.

First reports had it that allied airmen were raiding the Belgian coast, but later reports made it clear that the British, in an attempt to land troops in Flanders, had unexpectedly come in contact with a German fleet.

It had been known in Berlin for some time that the British contemplated landing troops in Flanders, and it is believed here a part of German fleet of equal strength to that of the British was in waiting for the enemy. French experts for some time have been urging that greater offensive be launched in Flanders, demanding that the English land troops in Belgium and there concentrate the heaviest fighting.

According to the Frankfurter Zeitung, an unnamed French admiral is quoted as saying that an action on land supported by an attempt at landing troops on the coast of Flanders is to be expected. It was this attempt to land troops, according to tonight's advices, that led to the engagement of the British and German warships.

BATTLE AT SALONIKI.

PARIS, Aug. 16, 10:50 p.m.—The allied forces on the Saloniki front have captured the railroad station at Doiran and four villages at other points on the front, according to an official statement issued by the French War Office tonight. The statement covers continuous fighting extending from August 8 to the present time.

The statement shows that the Bulgarians are being engaged along practically 100 miles of the Serbian-Greek frontier. The text of the statement follows:

"Operations of the army of the Orient August 1 to August 15: Frequent engagements of advance posts and patrols on the whole line have marked this period, notably on August 4, when the Serbians took the village of Rempi, near Lake Presba. On August 7 detachments of the allies drove the Bulgarians from the cemetery at Ljumnica. On August 10 French units took by assault the railroad station at Doiran and the neighboring hill 227 which the enemy evacuated, leaving several dead behind him.

"On August 13-15 French detachments took the villages of Potka, Palmis, Sukovo and Matnica, at the foot of the chain of the Beles. Artillery actions, often very vigorous, have taken place almost daily, principally in the region of Doiran.

"Our aviators bombarded concentrations of the enemy at Nicolic and Volovec and military works at Stretmica station. Enemy airmen bombarded an ambulance at Vertekop.

"A German official statement on August 14 said that the Bulgars had successful engagements at Bitolj. In reality they reoccupied this locality without fighting following the departure of a Greek detachment which was in garrison there and had no conflict wtih the Serbs."

TESTING GERMAN STRENGTH.

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (via London, 5:02 p.m.)—The forces of the Entente allies on the Balkan front continue to test the strength of the opposing lines, making attacks in small force. Another engagement in the region of Lake Doiran, northwest of Saloniki, is reported today by the War Office.

"South of Lake Doiran," the statement says, "an attempt by a few French battalions to advance was repulsed by our fire."

"NOTHING SPECIAL."

LONDON, Aug. 16, 11:02 p.m. — The British official communication issued this evening concerning the operations in France says:

"There is nothing special to report."

Another communication dealing with the situation in Asiatic Turkey says:

GERMAN LINE PENETRATED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 16, 10:50 p.m.—The Entente allies, after a brisk combat, today captured a line of German trenches on a front of 1500 meters to the north of Maurepas, in the Somme region, according to the official communication issued tonight.

The statement adds that the French troops occupied all the German positions east of the Maurepas-Clery road, and that in addition German trenches 1200 meters long to the south of Belloy-en-Santerre were captured. The text of the statement follows:

CODY (Wyo.) Aug. 16.—Ned Frost, a guide, and Ed Jones, a cook, were brought here during the night suffering from serious injuries received in a battle with a large female grizzly bear, near the Lake Hotel in Yellowstone National Park Monday night.

According to their story, Jones caught the bear raiding the commissary and attempted to frighten it away. The animal was mauling Jones when Frost came to the rescue. Both were badly clawed before the animal was frightened away by approaching tourists.

The injured men were brought here on a two days' overland trip. Both will recover, say physicians.

The revenue bill as reported today would place on the free list print paper costing up to 5 cents a pound. Under existing law paper costing up to 2½ cents a pound is on the free list.

"Who Does not Toil Shall not Eat," the Dictum in Occupied Territory.

Personal Investigation of the Lille Episode Made by the Associated Press.

ATOWN in Eastern France, Aug. 25 (via Berlin and London Aug. 16.)—On account of the protests of France against forcible removal by German authorities of inhabitants of French cities in the occupied area and representations that hardships have resulted, a correspondent of the Associated Press investigated conditions under which civilians from Lille, Turcoing and Roubaix, quartered at various points in Eastern France, are living. The German authorities afforded every facility for the inquiry and permitted examination of official documents dealing with the subject.

The proclamation posted by the Germans in Lille, Roubaix and Turcoing said that since the English blockade made the problem of feeding the population of Belgium and the occupied part of France daily more difficult and since a call to agricultural workers by the German authorities had not been answered, the Germans were obliged to move to the country certain parts of the population.

PROCLAMATION POSTED.

The proclamation was posted on April 10 and at midnight of April 24 the German troops aroused the inhabitants in certain quarters of the three towns, telling them to assemble in front of their houses. Officers then picked the following persons for transportation: Males of military age or able-bodied males who were not engaged in fixed trades or other occupations; whole families unemployed and without financial support, and unemployed females. In all cases the instructions were to select persons familiar with agriculture or suited for it. The women were to do the cooking for men or to work for French country families who needed assistance around the house, in minding babies or doing other tasks.

German officers in charge of transportation admit that mistakes were made in a good many instances, but these have since been rectified. More than 2000 men and women are said to have returned to their home town since the transportation movement began.

GIVEN NINETY MINUTES.

Nearly 21,000 persons were removed from their homes. Those taken were told they would have ninety minutes in which to pack sixty-five pounds of household utensils and clothing. At the expiration of that time they were taken to the railroad station at about 2 o'clock in the morning and were examined as to their fitness for farm work. They were then permitted to return to their homes with orders to return to the station at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to take trains for their destinations.

The correspondent of the Associated Press visited four places from which parts of the population had been taken. Three were villages in Eastern France, and one was a camp for males of military age. In the first village the leader of those who had been removed had many complaints. He said the people he represented were not suited for farm labor and that French farmers did not like to employ them for that reason. He asserted that the food was insufficient and the fare was monotonous. In one house the correspondent talked with one of three girls. She said their treatment had been good, but the villagers had not employed them so they were not earning money, and were living on rations allowed them by the German authorities.

OPINION OF MEN.

In the next village the correspondent talked with five young men, aged from 18 to 19 years. They said they were earning their full keep, in addition to one to three francs daily by doing piecework on the farms. The food was good, they said, and their quarters were comfortable. In the same house there was a man suffering from rheumatism who was under treatment of German medical authorities. He was allowed forty pfennigs daily. The president of the village told the correspondent that it was his opinion that the move was good so far as the men were concerned.

An internment camp for males of military age was next visited. The men were employed at a sawmill and in cutting wood in a nearby forest, earning on an average of one mark sixty pfennigs daily and their board. Workmen on piecework were earning two to four marks daily.

The correspondent visited the kitchen and found the food to be of good quality. The next village contained a large number of persons employed in farming and in working in a sawmill.

FAMILIES SEPARATED.

In most of the places visited the chief complaint of those removed was of the hardship due to separation from their families and their inability to reach relatives by mail. It was learned the Germans permit letters to be sent only through the German Red Cross at Frankfort-on-Main, which resulted in many delays.

From a German officer the correspondent learned that the German authorities were considering a plan to return the transported persons to their towns after the crops were in, provided blockade conditions did not necessitate leaving them on the Definite Plans Cannot be Made by Board of Education, Although Decrease in Deaths and Cases is Encouraging to the Authorities.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—While September 25 was set today as the tentative date for opening the public schools of this city, postponed from September 11, because of the epidemic of infantile paralysis, Health Commissioner Emerson said it was by no means certain New York's 1,000,000 school children under 16 years of age could resume their studies as early as that.

Definite plans cannot be made, Dr. Emerson informed William G. Willcox, president of the Board of Education, because it is impossible to foresee whether the disease can be checked or whether the epidemic will assume still greater proportions.

Another decrease in deaths and new cases today encouraged the health authorities. There were thirty-four deaths today and 113 new cases, making the total fatalities 1497, and the total cases 6635. Twenty-two patients were discharged from hospitals today as recovered.

The Rockefeller Institute disclaimed a reported "corner on monkeys" for experimental purposes, the officials stating that the Institute had been unable to acquire enough of the animals for its own pathological work.

SALT LAKE (Utah) Aug. 16.—Frank Wylie, 25 years old, a carpenter of Idaho Falls, Idaho, who came here last Friday, developed a case of infantile paralysis today, the first in this city since the present epidemic began in the country. There is much speculation as to where the man contracted the disease.

BRITISH TO FIGHT FINE IN MANILA.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

MANILA, July 14.—The justice of the fine of $25,000 in the case of the British steamer Chinese Prince, imposed on her for failure to deliver to the consignors in Manila some 2000 packages of merchandise shipped on her from San Francisco, will be fought out on appeal in the local courts. This cargo was taken off the steamer and confiscated by the British authorities at Penang, as some of it was consigned to German firms in Manila and other parts were regarded as suspicious because consigned to the Bank of the Philippine Islands on orders. Meanwhile the filing of a bond of $25,000 was permitted, under which the steamer might be free to sail pending final decision of the case against her.

The Chinese Prince was the first vessel to reach Manila from which cargo had been taken by the British authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. — A conspiracy to manufacture and circulate $1,000,000 of counterfeit silver certificates and United States Treasury notes was frustrated here today by William J. A complete counterfeiting outfit was found, consisting of photographic apparatus, lithographic presses, electrotyping, etching tools, paper and colored ink.

An illicit wine and liquor blending plant also was unearthed. Two of the men taken in custody were operating this plant, it was alleged.

Death a Commonplace in the Most Murderous Engagement of all Time.

GERMAN TRENCHES, OPPOSITE THE BRITISH POSITION AT GOMMECOURT, ON THE SOMME FRONT, Monday, Aug. 14 (via Berlin and Sayville, by wireless, Aug. 16.)—(From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press.) Half a million British have been engaged in an effort to break the German lines on the Somme front. Often, as the fighting on the Gommecourt and Hebuterne, the British outnumbered the Germans six to one. They have gained ground to a depth of from three to five miles over a front of about eighteen miles, but nowhere have been able to break through.

More than ever death has become a commonplace in this most murderous battle of all times. The Germans in the first line know that they probably will be killed if their positions are attacked. Trenches are virtually useless, for the heavy British shells widen them in broad channels, affording no cover of any sort. The first line usually perishes.

THE REVERSE PROCESS.

The advancing British foot troops are no better off, because the Germans reverse the process when part of their positions have been captured. After the British artillery has levelled the German trenches the infantry rushes in, often to be thrown out again as soon as the British artillery ceases fire, which it has to do, owing to the proximity of the opposing lines. Thus the battle has been going on for weeks, the opposing forces now gaining, at terrific cost, and then losing at even greater cost, a few yards of trenches. At present all the fighting by the British is carried on from their Pozieres salient where their drumfire is increasing day or night. German officers who were in the Champagne offensive said no such artillery fire ever had developed previously.

The German fire, too, is terrific. An idea of its intensity may be gained from the fact that on certain British troops German guns threw 1600 shells in one minute and forty-five seconds, resulting in great slaughter.

Often the British assault dies before the German second line, from which machine guns pour out streams of bullets which literally cut the men into fragments. At one time, the Associated Press correspondent stood within 300 yards of the British trenches near Delville wood. Near by the Germans had just buried 1296 British, as lulls in the firing permitted.

Some 500 British prisoners whom the correspondent saw behind the firing line plainly were still dazed from the shock. They were a sorry spectacle, glad they had escaped from "hell," as they termed it.

GERMANS IN GOOD SHAPE.

The correspondent visited the entire front of the present offensive and everywhere found from talks with Germans that they were more determined than ever to stand their ground. The men are in capital shape physically and of easy mind, although they are looking upon death each time. An officer pointed out that nowadays each man is his own leader, as it is often impossible under present battle conditions to transmit commands. While the generals might still plan the actions, the officer said, it was plain that the infantryman, acting on his own initiative in the presence of death, must save the day.

Back of the German lines within artillery range hardly a single house was standing. Embers were still burning in the ruins of two villages as the correspondent passed through. Officers said there were no German troops in such places and that the victims were mostly French civilians. Of these the correspondent saw scores of wounded.

There is no safety anywhere in the zone behind the front. What the artillery does not reach is exposed constantly to the bombs of aviators. While the correspondent was at Bugny eight civilians were killed, Eighteen others were wounded, of whom four died in the German hospital the same day. At Cambrai four persons were killed and two wounded on the same night. A French civilian pointed out that, while the German soldiers have built bomb proofs in which to seek refuge, the civilians have only cellars. He begged that this be brought to the attention of the British military authorities.

Official Statement.

BRITISH GAIN NOTHING IN POZIERES BATTLE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (via London, 5 p.m.)—The battle of Pozieres has died down after a long series of British attacks, which, the War Office says, gained them nothing. The British infantrymen remained in their trenches all day yesterday. A night attack near Ovillers failed.

"There was lively fighting again yesterday southeast of Armentieres and in the Artois," says the official statement today. "In the region of Pozieres the British continued their fruitless attacks until yesterday morning. Throughout the day their infantry did nothing. A nocturnal attack north of Ovillers failed.

"At Moulin-sous-Toutvent, in the Aisne district, artillery fighting was again revived temporarily on both sides, in conjunction with a fruitless French gas attack. East of Rheims strong reconnoitering detachments of the enemy were repulsed."

Sea Fight.

noon, after an intense artillery preparation, we launched an offensive which brought us important gains. North of Maurepas, assisted by the British, we captured one entire line of German trenches on a front of 1500 meters, reaching at certain points the Guillemont-Maurepas road.

"South of Maurepas on a front of two kilometers and to a depth of 300 to 500 meters, our infantry occupied all enemy positions east of the Maurepas-Clery road after a sharp attack which cost the enemy heavily. These two operations, brilliantly and rapidly conducted, resulted in the capture of a considerable number of prisoners, whose numbers are not yet obtainable.

"At the same time south of the Somme our troops attacking with a rush, captured a powerfully-organized system of German trenches on a length of 1200 meters south of Belloy-en-Santerre, capturing sixty prisoners. There was an intermittent cannonade on the remainder of the front."

A GERMAN SUCCESS.

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (via London, 4:55 p.m.) — German troops have won a success in the Carpathian region, according to the War Office announcement today, capturing Starowipozyna Heights, north of Capul.

North of the Dniester in Galicia, says the statement, the Russians only attacked weakly and were repulsed.

The announcement says:

"On the eastern front, from the sea to the region north of the Dniester, there were no incidents of importance. Detachments of the Polish Legion made a short and successful advance in the region of Hulevicha. German detachments broke up Russian advanced posts east of Kiselin and brought back as prisoners an officer and sixty-three men.

"North of the Dniester the Russians, after their sanguinary defeat on August 14, merely delivered local attacks with weak forces without result.

SUBMARINE ISSUE IN THE BUNDESRAT.

PARIS, Aug. 16, 6:16 p.m.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Geneva says:

"Reports received here from Bavaria indicate there has been strong approval of the recent action of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Imperial Bundesrat in approving the Chancellor's action in avoiding a submarine issue with the United States. The meetings of the Foreign Affairs Committee were presided over by Count von Hertling, president of the Bavarian Council, whose official organ, the Dernieres Nouvelles de Munich, says submarine warfare is not justified when it places important political considerations in jeopardy.

"This statement is accepted as signifying that the Bundesrat's Foreign Affairs Committee approved the Chancellor's course as the best means of avoiding difficulties with the United States, and the action of the Bundesrat's committee was a defeat for Admiral Von Tirpitz and his partisans upholding submarine warfare."

GERMAN FOOD FRAUD EXPOSED IN BERLIN.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 16 (via London.)—The new German war usury bureau has justified its existence by revealing surprising details of widely-ramified food frauds, according to reports received here. The frauds are said to involve a half-dozen leaders and 100 accomplices. These men are said to have smuggled hundreds of tons of wheat, rye and barley flour from the province of West Prussia to Berlin, where it was sold at a profit of 300 per cent.

The existence of flour, reports say, was concealed from government stock takers by all manner of artifices and was shipped on night trains as potatoes or machinery. Among the accomplices and ringleaders were several government officials and several station masters who are charged with connivance in the fraud.

FRUSTRATED MOVE IN THE CAUCASUS.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 16 (via London.)—The official statement issued this evening by the War Department reads as follows:

"Western (Russian) front: The situation is unchanged.

"Caucasus front: An offensive by several enemy detachments south of the region of Kalapasvas, in Persia, southwest of Urmi, was frustrated by our troops."

HOPES TO AVOID BRITISH ELECTION.

LONDON, Aug. 16, 8:35 p.m.—Owing to strong opposition in the House of Commons, the government has been obliged to postpone until the autumn season further consideration of the bill in regard to the registration reforms. Winston Spencer Churchill, opposing the measure, said that though he hoped it would not be necessary to hold a general election during the war, circumstances might arise which would force this on the country. In such a case it would be manifestly unfair to exclude soldiers and sailors from voting.

PHILIPPINES POLICY ASSAILED BY HUGHES.

Declares Democratic Party has been Almost Ready to Abandon Obligations in the Islands—Republican Candidate Reiterates Arguments for Protective Tariff and Preparations for Competition After the War.

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 16.—Charles E. Hughes, before an audience in the ice rink here tonight, assailed the Democratic party for its policy toward the Philippines.

"We cannot afford in this country to lose sight of national obligations," Mr. Hughes said. "Our friends on the other side were almost ready to say that we should abandon the Philippines. That was a matter of national honor. We assumed obligations there, which we are bound to discharge.

"It is not so much a matter of self-interest. I do not care so much with respect to the argument of self-interest. But when this nation undertakes before the world a responsibility, it must discharge it.

"And we ought not to consider the suggestion of scuttling out of the Philippines to leave them in the predicament which you know perfectly well without my describing it.

"We need more of a sense of obligation, as individuals. If we have the sense of national honor, a dominant consciousness of national unity, proper upbuilding policy of conserving the opportunities of American enterprises we shall do well, but we need still more. We need through out our administrative departments high standards of public work. We need efficiency in every department of American government."

REFERS TO TARIFF.

Mr. Hughes, speaking of the tariff, referred to a letter, written, he said, by "an eminent Democrat" on July 28 to the President of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, in which it was said that "it ought to be possible to make the question of duties merely a question of progress and development."

"I don't care whether this letter is authentic or not," Mr. Hughes said. "If it is not authentic then the provision of law is little more than a sham. If it is authentic, it does not represent the sentiment of the Democratic party."

The nominee reiterated his arguments for a protective tariff, for commercial preparation for competition with Europe after the war, for "reasonable, adequate preparedness" and repeated his declaration that the Democratic party was opposed to national progress.

"Why, if I were a member of that party—and I speak with all good nature, because we are threshing things out here now—and looked through the platforms of the past, I should feel that I was going through a cemetery richly embellished with monuments."

Mr. Hughes referred to the number of unemployed in 1914, due largely, he said, to the Underwood tariff.

"They knew why they were unemployed," he said. "Every one of them was a tariff expert. There were 300,000 unemployed tariff experts in the city of New York alone." "You can't put American workingmen alongside of workingmen of other countries who work at less wages and expect the American workingmen to survive. You have got to get down to the common basis of competition. It is perfectly idle to suppose you can have the American wage scale and the American standard of goods and let in goods made under a lower standard of living without hurting American enterprises and American workingmen."

AS TO ALASKA.

In reference to Alaska, Mr. Hughes said:

"I would not have much confidence in speaking of a new spirit in American life if I did not believe in the integrity of the business men of America. I believe that we can do things right in this country and develop our resources. You have got an empire in Alaska; I want to see it developed. I want to see it developed right.

"I think the time has come when we have got to be sure of ourselves, sure of our integrity, confident and equal to our emergencies.

"I have had something to do in my life with correcting and preventing abuses in connection with public matters, and I tell you now, my friends, that whether I speak of Alaska or whether I speak of the tariff, no one is going to pull anything out at the public expense if I can prevent it."

NOT AFRAID OF TEST.

"If I am charged with the high office, for which I am candidate," Mr. Hughes said in closing, "to put my principles to the test, I am not afraid of the test. I know what it means, but my friends of Oregon—you who mandamused me and made me become a candidate at the primary against my will—I have left the bench to undertake the active work of this campaign with but one ambition.

"It is not an ambition to hold high office. That has no illusions for me. But I have the ambition to try, so far as within me lies, to have efficient American government worthy of America's best capacity, and America's name honored throughout the world."

Mr. Hughes left late tonight for San Francisco, where he is due to arrive Friday at 12:30 p.m.

Big Deal On.

NEGOTIATING MERGER OF COAST CANNERIES.

Combination of Principal Interests in Industry will be Effected by Creation of Holding Company, Financial Circles Hear—Object will be to End Duplicating of Distributing Plants.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—That negotiations for a merger of the principal cannery interests of the Pacific Coast are under way in San Francisco was learned here today. The firms named in the reported merger are the J. K. Armsby Company, the Alaska Packers' Association, the California Fruit Canners' Association, the Central California Canneries, the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, Ltd., and Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

That such a merger was under consideration was admitted tonight by a prominent business man who was credited in the reports with an active part in the negotiations. He said that he could not discuss the matter beyond stating that the deal had not yet been perfected.

The merger, according to talk in local financial circles, will be effected by the creation of a holding company. Its object, according to the same authority, would be to wipe out the present duplication of distributing plants.

The Armsby Company now distributes the product of the Central Canneries and the Hawaiian Pineapple Company. Both the California Fruit Canners' and the Alaska Packers' Association maintain their own distributing plants, and Balfour, Guthrie & Co. distributes in Europe the products of all the concerns involved.

The officials of the companies said to be involved refused tonight to discuss the reported merger.

Prodigal Expenditure.

MILLION ALLY SHELLS DAILY ALONG SOMME.

HEADQUARTERS OF GERMAN ARMY GROUP ON THE SOMME FRONT, Saturday, Aug. 12 (via Berlin to London, Aug. 16, 6 p.m.)—The expenditure of artillery ammunition by the Entente allies on this front has reached a prodigious volume, often striking the rate of thirty-two shells a second during drum fire. Not infrequently along the entire Somme front nearly 90,000 shells have been dropped in an hour, while a conservative estimate puts the average for the twenty-four hour period at more than 1,000,000 shells.

With this rate of fire the financial cost of the offensive is naturally high. What the approximate losses in human material amount to it is difficult to estimate. That the losses of the British in certain actions have been frightful is affirmed by German officers who, on the other hand, frankly admit that their own losses have been far from light, though all insist that they were not nearly so heavy as the British.

The German expenditure in ammunition has been much lighter than that of the British for the reason that the German artillery concentrates its efforts on special objects, such as trenches, transports and reserve bases, while the British often screen off whole sectors, taking nightly under their fire all the villages and roads behind the German lines within the range of their guns.

GRAND WELCOME FOR MR. HUGHES

State Differences Put Aside for National Issues.

Final Arrangements Made by San Francisco Leaders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 16.—National politics has shoved purely local differences off the boards here as final arrangements are made to give Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican candidate for President, a welcome befitting a great Republican State. Chester Rowell hastened away yesterday morning to carry his plaint direct to the ears of Mr. Hughes before he reaches the State line. W. H. Crocker, national committeeman for California; Francis V. Keesling, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and Marshall Hale, chairman of the Hughes Reception Committee, are fully content to permit the Republican Presidential nominee to receive from Rowell direct the sad, sad story of the way the Republicans of California have insisted on giving to Mr. Hughes a reception befitting the traditions of the Grand Old Party.

WHY ROWELL IS PEEVED.

Rowell is peeved because the name of Hiram Johnson, Progressive, does not appear in the list of members of the San Francisco reception committee. Rowell is not content that his own name is written there, along with twenty other Progressives who have declared that they are for Hughes. He wants to see the Governor's name linked with that of Mr. Hughes in the headlines, for the Governor and not Rowell is a candidate for the Senate.

W. H. Crocker, national committeeman, said this afternoon he is perfectly willing that the case shall be presented by Mr. Rowell. "It would be an insult to the intelligence of our great leader," he observed, "to imagine that he would not be able to take the Rowell complaint for what it is worth. If Mr. Hughes has any suggestions to make concerning an alteration of our plans for his reception we shall accede to them without a murmur. We are not attempting to play any peanut politics; California is too great a State and we have too much at stake in this campaign to permit personalities to intervene."

BOOTH'S ATTITUDE.

A marked contrast to the attitude of Rowell and Johnson is that of Willis H. Booth, the Republican Senatorial candidate. "This is a reception to the Republican national candidate," said Mr. Booth before leaving here for a tour of the coast counties. "I have no desire to inject State politics into a national reception, and with that in view I have carefully avoided permitting my personality to become an issue. I notified the reception committee a week ago that I would prefer my name be not included in the list of vice-presidents for the reception of Mr. Hughes."

Despite the walls of Rowell, there is every indication tonight that the reception to Mr. Hughes will be more largely attended than any other political function in the history of the northern part of the State. Enough applications for reserved seats have been received by the State Central Committee to fill the great auditorium in which the message of the Republican candidate to California will be delivered.

In a list of 700 vice-presidents for the occasion, prepared by the Republican State Central Committee, not one has declined to serve. Displaying a chivalry which is wholly above the conception of Rowell, the names of as many former Progressives as of regular Republicans appear on the reception committee, and these have all been placed there by the sanction of the much-abused Republican State Central Committee. There are just two noticeable omissions, those of the Republican and the Progressive candidates for United States Senator, and these were omitted in the interest of harmony.

ANOTHER PROMOTION FOR GEN. RUZSKY.

PETROGRAD (via London) Aug. 17.—Gen. Nicholas V. Ruzsky has been appointed commander-in-chief of the northern armies of Russia.

Gen. Ruzsky was in command of the Northern Russian army at the outbreak of the war. He was credited with the series of brilliant operations which culminated in the capture of Lemberg and was hailed as the hero of the hour in Russia. Shortly afterwards it was announced that he was in ill-health and in May, 1915, he retired from the army and was succeeded by Gen. Alexiev, the present chief of staff.

In July, 1915, Gen. Ruzsky resumed command of the northern armies, but six months later was relieved from his post by the Emperor. An imperial rescript said that the difficult task of defending Petrograd had seriously injured the general's health. Gen. Ruzsky is 62 years old. He was wounded in the Turkish War of 1877-78 and was quartermaster general during the Russo-Japanese War.

To Prevent Strike.

meeting following their conference with Mr. Wilson.

All day petitions from unorganized railroad workers protesting against a general strike continued to arrive at the White House. The President also received letters and telegrams from many individuals and organizations urging him to do his utmost to prevent a tie-up of the country's railroads.

IN CLOSE TOUCH.

Members of Congress kept in close touch with the situation, although it was understood no determined effort toward Congressional action would be taken unless recommended by the President or unless his efforts to avert a strike should fail.

Brotherhood officials were particularly cautious about committing themselves as to what form of settlement would be agreeable to the general committee. They are anxious that any agreement which may be reached shall result from the unanimous vote of the whole committee and not appear to be forced upon them by the subcommittee.

With a view to giving the entire committee the fullest opportunity to discuss the President's proposal, or any other propositions which might arise, the brotherhood leaders tonight rented a hall for conferences. The first meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock before calling at the White House. Leaders plan to hold another meeting after the conference with the President. General discussion of the situation will be encouraged at all these meetings, it is said, by brotherhood leaders. The problem is too big, they maintain, for the subcommittee to attempt to dictate what should be done by the full committee, and they propose that responsibility for the final decision shall fall on the entire 640 men.

Most of the brotherhood leaders who have conferred with the President, it was declared, will be willing to negotiate all issues to the controversy except the guaranteed eight-hour day. With it assured them beyond doubt, it was said, they would be inclined to accept any fair proposition for settling collateral issues. Even the proposal of pro rata pay for overtime, which would mean an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. to employees working extra hours, was said to appeal to them. On all hands it was reiterated that the original proposal of time and a half for overtime was merely included in the employees' demands for the purpose of enforcing an eight-hour day agreement should one be entered into.

NO SUGGESTION.

W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's brotherhood, who went to New York last night to confer with the general committee, carried no suggestions from the employees' conferees here as to what their attitude should be. His was a mission of explanation and not argument, brotherhood leaders insisted. He discussed the general situation with the men, but made no effort to advise them as to what they should or should not do.

While most of the committee accompanied Mr. Carter in Washington tonight, an advance guard from the southern and southwestern parts of the country, where the eight-hour day is in effect on most of the railroads, preceded him here soon after, receiving their summons from their leaders. A. B. Garretson and W. S. Stone, heads of the conductors' and engineers' brotherhoods, respectively, held a conference with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, during the day. What they discussed was not revealed.

MAKES REPORT ON IRON RANGE STRIKE.

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Aug. 16.—Industrial dissatisfaction, found to have been partially justified, though fanned to its maximum proportions by I.W.W. activity, was responsible for the present miners' strike on the Mesaba Iron Range, according to a report of investigation submitted today to Gov. Burnquist by William F. Houck, State labor commissioner.

The investigators declare that if "the private mine guards had been compelled to remain on the company property we do not believe there would have been any bloodshed on the range."

The report notes charges of bribery and exploitation which, "if substantiated, will demonstrate abuses sufficient to have justified a strike."

The investigation revealed the miners' principal complaints were dissatisfaction with the piece-work system of labor and an alleged lengthening of a nominal eight-hour day by a half-hour or an hour without extra pay.

INSISTS SANTA FE COULD RUN TRAINS.

Between 1500 and 2000 men in the engine and train service of the Santa Fe coast lines, which include the Los Angeles division, will be affected if the threatened country wide railroad strike is declared, according to a statement given out yesterday by A. G. Wells, general manager in charge of the local offices of the Santa Fe.

Mr. Wells is of the opinion that many of the employees in this city, who have been in the service for many years would refuse to participate in a strike because they realize they would lose their opportunities for pensions and also their insurance benefits and seniority rights.

"We have on file a long list of competent men who would be able to fill the places of strikers and the Santa Fe would continue to operate trains in the event of a strike," said Mr. Wells.

ADVISES PRINTERS TO BE MODERATE.

BALTIMORE (Md.) Aug. 17.—H. N. Kellogg of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, in an address to the International Typographical Union this afternoon, said:

"All publishers are disturbed at present by the situation with respect to white paper.

"It is quite unnecessary for me to point out to you that reductions in the size of newspapers mean proportionate reductions in the number of members of your organization employed by newspaper publishers. Under the circumstances, it behooves members of your union to refrain from pressing demands for increase in wages, which will add additional burdens to those which newspaper publishers are now staggering under."

As to the arbitration agreement, Mr. Kellogg said that there were some things in the proposed new contract to go into effect at the expiration of the present agreement which are not entirely satisfactory to members of the publishers' association. Nevertheless the committee has tentatively accepted it. He pointed out that until the union fully and completely accepted arbitration and is willing to have all differences which concern wages, hours, and working conditions settled by that means, there are a considerable number of members of the publishers' association who will not take the contract.

MEXICO TO BUILD MANY RAILWAYS.

THOUSANDS OF LABORERS WILL BE GIVEN EMPLOYMENT.

De Facto Government Going Ahead with Plans, Notwithstanding Chaotic Condition of Finances and Menacing Operations of Revolutionary Bands.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Aug. 9.—Notwithstanding the chaotic condition of the country's finances and the menacing operations of many revolutionary bands, the de facto government is going ahead with its plans for providing employment for thousands of laborers.

According to official announcement of the Department of Communications and Public Works of the Carranza government orders have been placed for materials for the construction of more than 1200 miles of new railway and for the rehabilitation of the National Railways of Mexico, which are now officially known as the Constitutionalist Railways of Mexico. The large steel works at Monterey is turning out steel rails for the proposed lines. Lumber mills in different parts of the country are converting timber into cross-ties and bridge materials.

By co-operating with the State governments of Yucatan, Campeche, Tabasco and Vera Cruz, the de facto government has made arrangements for the immediate resumption of construction work upon the railroad that a syndicate of British capitalists planned to build from the city of Campeche to Santa Lucrecia several years ago. This line will be about 450 miles long. It will connect with the United Railways of Yucatan at Campeche and with the National Tehuantepec Railroad at Santa Lucrecia.

SEVERAL THOUSAND WORKING.

Several thousand men are employed on the construction of an extension of the line of railway that was projected originally to run between the city of Durango and a point on the old Mexican Central near Zacatecas. The building of this road was under way when the revolutionary period began. It is planned by the Carranza government to extend it to Concepcion del Oro, where it will connect with the line that runs to Saltillo. It will be about twenty-five miles long.

An appropriation of $2,000,000 gold has been set aside by the Governor of the State of Jalisco, for which Guadalajara is the capital, for the purpose of constructing as far as possible a line of railway that is to run from Ameca to the undeveloped Pacific port of Chamela, a distance of about 150 miles. This proposed road will connect with a branch of the National Railways of Mexico at Ameca.

Construction is in progress on a new railroad which the de facto government, aided by the State government of Coahuila, is building from Saltillo to Orteaga, a distance of about 100 miles. This line will traverse a rich agricultural district.

TO RESUME BRANCH LINE.

As soon as the necessary construction material can be assembled construction will be resumed on the branch line of the National Railways of Mexico that is to run from Allende to Las Vacas, situated just opposite Del Rio, Tex., a distance of about seventy-five miles. At Las Vacas, connection will be made later with the branch line of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad, which is to be built to Del Rio from San Angelo. The two railroads adopted plans for a joint bridge to be built across the Rio Grande several years ago.

Engineers are in the field locating the route for the long-talked-of railroad that is to run between Tampico and Matamoros, a distance of 215 miles. B. F. Yoakum, head of the Frisco, had this project under consideration at the time the revolutions in Mexico put an end to his plans.

DREXEL CASE IS UP.

Marital Difficulties Again Aired in the London Courts.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The marital difficulties of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, formerly of Philadelphia, were again brought before the courts today. Application was made on behalf of Mrs. Drexel for an injunction to restrain her husband from dealing with his only property in this country, the yacht Sayonara, which is under charter to the government, and from receiving moneys payable under the charter.

It was explained that the plaintiff recently had received judgment from her husband for about £10,000 under the separation agreement and was desirous of preventing Mr. Drexel from disposing of his yacht or receiving money under the charter, pending the appointment of a receiver of proceeds of all his other property outside the jurisdiction of the court.

The court appointed an interim receiver of money under the charter for a fortnight and gave permission to issue a summons returnable in the same period.

Sixty-fourth Congress.

LEADERS BLOCK SENATE BILLS.

Legislative Situation Tied into a Hard Knot.

Session of Congress Likely to be Indefinite.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Republican Senate leaders and Senator Owen, Democrat, tied the legislative situation in the Senate into a hard knot today, threatening the plans of administration leaders to expedite the shipping, workmen's compensation and revenue bills and assure an early adjournment of Congress.

The obstacle interposed was the Owen corrupt practices bill to limit and regulate political campaign contributions. The Democrats did not include the measure in their legislative programme, but Senator Owen wants it passed and the Republican leaders want definite assurances of its postponement until the December session.

NOT TO PRESS VOTE.

When Senator Fletcher sought an agreement on the shipping bill late today Republican leaders demanded in return a promise from the administration forces that the corrupt practices bill would not be pressed to a vote before adjournment. Most of the Democrats were willing to give such a promise, inasmuch as the bill was not in the imperative programme. They found Senator Owen, however, determined to call his bill up some time before adjournment and to demand a vote on it, no matter what the result might be.

Senator Owen's attitude resulted in a declaration by the Republican members that they would not agree on any unanimous consent requests to fix a time for voting on either the shipping or revenue bills. Senator Owen thereupon announced that he also would refuse unanimous consent on requests to fix a time to vote on the other bills as long as opposition to taking up his measure persisted.

That was the tangled situation when the Senate adjourned tonight without a vote on the shipping bill. Some administration leaders thought President Wilson might have to be appealed to if the way were to be cleared for the shipping, revenue and workmen's compensation bills, which would complete the legislative programme. If Senator Owen and Republican leaders remain determined, it was declared Congress may be held in session indefinitely.

The revenue bill was reported from the Finance Committee today, but the present plan is to pass both the shipping and workmen's compensation bills before it is taken up.

DRIED FRUIT MEN SUE RAILROADS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Dried and canned fruit interests made their second move toward securing damages estimated at more than $500,000 from the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads, when Isidor Jacobs, for the California Canneries Company, notified the railroads today that they would be held liable for the extra cost of fruit shipping caused by the embargo recently imposed.

Fruit men made the first move early in the week, when they filed complaints with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

By putting an embargo on eastbound dried and canned fruit over gulf routes with rates of 40 cents per 100 pounds, the railroads have forced shippers to ship by all-rail routes with rates of 62½ cents per 100 pounds. The fruit men claim that, while refusing to accept fruit shipments over the gulf routes, the railroads are accepting other products, and that the discrimination imposes an unjust burden on fruit producers which will amount to more than $500,000.

Orders establishing the reduced rate, which will go into effect October 1, were received from the War Department.

DANES COMPLICATE TREATY NEGOTIATIONS.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 16 (via London, 10:20 p.m.)—The Landething, the upper house of the Danish Parliament, met today as a committee of the whole to consider the treaty providing for the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States and forty-seven of the sixty-one members present placed themselves in favor of the order of the day, stating that the sale cannot be settled before elections for both houses of Parliament have been held.

Five members of the Landething were absent from the meeting.

The situation has been further complicated by a proposal from Premier Zahle that the government resign and help in the formation of a Cabinet representing the various parties. This proposal, if carried out, would avoid the holding of elections as advocated by the Conservatives and the Left. The Premier put forward his proposal at a conference with the presidents of the political parties in the Landething, but it is uncertain if it can be carried out as the Socialists have hitherto declined to be represented in a Cabinet with members of the other party.

No Opposition to Their Transfer to America.

Statement of Policy is Made by Von Jagow.

BERLIN (via Sayville) Aug. 16.—In view of reports that Germany was apprehensive over the proposed sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States, the Foreign Minister, Gottlieb von Jagow, made the statement today that the German government was not opposed to such a transfer.

Dr. Von Jagow's statement was made in response to an inquiry by a representative of the Overseas News Agency regarding reports emanating from a British source that in connection with the proposed transfer apprehension was felt in the United States because "a certain foreign power had adopted an underhanded antagonistic attitude toward the change in ownership of these islands."

Dr. Von Jagow stated, says the news agency announcement, that he only knew of the matter from what he reau in the newspapers, but that one thing was absolutely certain: "Germany is antagonistic," said the Foreign Minister, "to nobody's intention a sto the distribution of sovereign rights in these parts of the world. The German policy was plainly stated by the imperial Chancellor in his speech in the Reichstag on April 4, when he made known to everyone that Germany harbors no plans of aggression or annexation towards Canada, Brazil or any portions of America whatever."

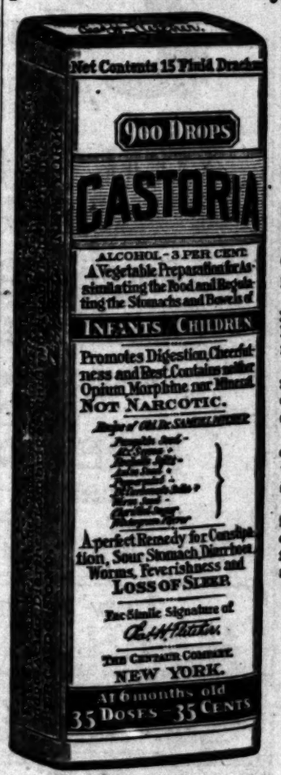
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Carrying the Message to the Nation

BEFORE Columbus discovered America the American Indians signalled their Nations by means of the primitive Smoke and Fire Blanket, effective but limited in scope.

In 1916, the United States Government had a message to give to its people concerning "Safety-first"—the modern paraphrasing of preparedness.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, which had spent more than $100,000,000 in a short space of time for industrial preparedness in equipment and roadbed, was selected by the Government to assist it in the preparation of this mammoth enterprise, furnish a steel train for the purpose, and be the pioneer in the great educational plan.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, whose lines reach cities and towns covering more than seventy-five million people, transported the great train of twelve steel cars, comprising the "Government Safety-First Special", to as many of the cities and towns on its lines as was possible; helping the Government in every way to tell the people what the Government means and what it is doing for them.

The train is now doing missionary work on other lines.

If the Baltimore & Ohio can serve the Government in this important capacity it surely can serve you. Investigate its modern train service for yourself.

MORE LIBERAL PLAN FOR INDIAN LOANS.

KLAMATH FALLS (Or.) Aug. 16. Cato Sells, United States Indian commissioner, here on a visit, announced today that a more liberal loaning system is to be put in operation for the Indians of the Klamath reservation. As there is an abundance of marketable timber on the reservation, each Indian will be allowed to borrow money on his timber for the purpose of purchasing stock and paying for needed improvements.

ALLEGED BIGAMIST FIGHTS EXTRADITION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Jack Lemberg, charged with bigamy alleged to have been committed in Michigan, and arrested in San Diego, is fighting extradition from California to Grand Rapids to stand trial. A hearing was in progress this afternoon in the office of Gov. Johnson. Lemberg's defense is that one of the women was his "common law wife" and, therefore, when he legally married another no bigamy was committed.

Reformer Neylan on Campaign Tour for Governor.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15.—There is an ocular demonstration in Sacramento this week of how much dead wood can be cut out of administration offices and commissions without locking the wheels of the State government. Of the twenty-nine heads of State departments and commissions, twenty-seven are on their semi-annual vacations. The Board of Control is stripped as bare as a peach tree in December, the Highway Commission is represented by one clerk, the Governor's office is in charge of a negro janitor and the little commissions are so nearly nude that they would not dare to appear in public even at a beach resort.

Yet the railroads are all still running, the stores are open, there are no reports of drought or famine, business is not congested and the populace continues to love and to hate, to laugh and to weep with even greater freedom of action than when our paternalistic State administration was running full blast.

FIGURES OF THEORISTS.

If one were to accept the figures of the theorists of the administration, the loss to the State must be something awful. John Francis Neylan has figured out to the satisfaction of the Progressive press that his board is saving the State $1500 every work-day hour of the year. Yet Neylan and his two associates are devoting their entire time to campaigning for Johnson for the Senate. The following reports of their actions were published last Wednesday in the Sacramento Union, one of the strongest Johnson supporters in the State:

"Freeman H. Bloodgood, member of the State Board of Control, left yesterday on his annual vacation. He will spend part of the time campaigning in behalf of Gov. Johnson in the northern part of the State.

"John Francis Neylan, chairman of the State Board of Control, left yesterday afternoon for other parts of the State on a brief business trip.

NEYLAN GETS EXPENSES.

This comprises the three members of the Board of Control, who are supposed to vise all State bills before any are paid. Neylan is drawing expenses for a business trip while speaking every night for Johnson. Bloodgood is doing the same. Herriott has been acting as the personal press agent of Gov. Johnson ever since the first of June. He spent the month of June in the East with the Governor and July and half of August attending the Governor's meetings and writing reports of them for the Progressive press. For this service he draws $5000 a year from the State.

Here are a few others whose absence is noted as a matter of Capitol news, without the least thought that it might have political significance, by the verdant Sacramento Union:

"Clyde L. Seavey, chairman of the State Tax Commission, left yesterday for a tour of the Lake Tahoe region. From there he will go to the Yosemite.

"H. A. French, superintendent of the State motor vehicle department, is in San Francisco visiting the branch office there."

The reporter might have truly added that Mr. French left Sacramento on that visit to the San Francisco branch office, in July, two weeks before the time for registration for the State primaries closed; that he was in charge of one department in the Progressive headquarters there and will be in charge of that department until after the August primaries; that his secretary in San Francisco is the secretary of the State Corporation Department who was relieved of active duties for political service a month ago.

Final registration figures here show what a remarkable change of heart has come over the State employees in relation to their political affiliations in the short period of six months. On January 1 there were 635 State employees in Sacramento registered as Progressive and fifteen as Republican. The Republicans came from the offices of the Secretary of State and the Board of Equalization. On May first there were fifteen Republicans, 643 declined to state and two Progressives. On August 15 there were 660 Republicans and no declined-to-state or Progressives.

Here is the story of a State employee, a girl in one of the Capitol offices:

"Last year I was registered as a Progressive. In January I was advised by the head of my department to register as declined-to-state and I did so. In February I was advised to change my registration to Progressive, to sign a petition for delegate to the national Progressive convention. Then in July I was told to change my registration to Republican so I could vote for Johnson for United States Senator in the Republican primary.

"If I were to have my own choice I would register and vote as a Democrat because my father and his brothers are Democrats. But we have our jobs to look after and the head of the department simply advises us that it would be best for us to register and vote in a certain way and we obey him."

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEE.

This girl won her place in a civil service examination and is supposed to be protected by civil service.

More than 600 of those others who have changed their registrations "on the advice" of department heads are also under civil service. The reason that they permit themselves to be herded like sheep is because three or four examples have been made of those who forgot to heed this "advice." They have been dropped from the service "for retrenchment," just as Assemblyman Frank Rogers was fired from his civil service job on the State water front at San Francisco when he failed to support the Johnsonian policies in the last Legislature.

Revenue.

ARIZONA LOWERS STATE TAX LEVY.

BUT AMOUNT RAISED WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME.

Nearly Two Million Dollars will be Distributed for Expenses. People Pay Almost Three Times as Much as During the Days of the Territory.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 16.—The State tax levy has been fixed at 40 cents on each $100 of property valuation, this to be compared with last year's rate of 54 cents. It should not be hastily assumed that this means economy, for there should be considered a collateral raise of $65,000,000 in the gross valuation of property, giving a net total for this year of $486,406,000, in round figures. This is after adjustment of the assessment of Maricopa county, which had been attacked in the State tax conference. The gross sum expected to be raised by the new levy, representing the cost of Arizona State government for the year, is $1,925,000.

The greatest single cost item is that of schools. The common schools take one-quarter of the whole State levy, this without reference to the fact that every county will make its own school levy of at least twice the school apportionment received from the State, and without reference to the sums expended for high school and industrial training of the youth. But the $500,000 contributed by the State to the common schools, including the purchase of books, is little more than one-half of the total State educational appropriations, which amount to more than 18 cents of the 40 cents gross levy for all purposes.

UNIVERSITY DRAFT.

Counting in interest of prior appropriations funded, the university makes the heavy draft of about $233,000, in this included also maintenance, improvements, repairs, printing, county scholarships and maintenance and equipment of the bureau of mines. In addition, about $35,000 will be expended through the university for plant introduction, dry farms at Prescott, in Northeastern Arizona and in the Sulphur Springs Valley, experimental farm and date palm orchard in the Salt River Valley, surface, underflow and water duty investigations, etc. Again to be added to the university income are appropriations made by the Federal government for agricultural college and farm experimental work. The Normal School at Tempe will take about $100,000 for all charges and that at Flagstaff about $60,000.

The State road tax will secure a fund of $250,000, though this is only a small amount of the sum devoted to road improvement in Arizona. The counties contribute very much more than this and, in addition, have been voting bonds for the building of main line highways.

The State penitentiary at Florence will have an income a bit less than $100,000, the insane asylum, $85,000; the industrial school at Fort Grant, $35,000; the State fair at Phoenix, $23,000, and the Pioneers' Home at Prescott, $14,000, these figures being round ones and including some interest charges.

THE GENERAL FUND.

The State general fund, which has been at very low ebb since Statehood, has been allotted $477,776. Last year the interest payments, according to the Auditor, were $136,000, largely upon unpaid warrants issued on funds that had no money.

These figures possibly will have aditional interest by comparison with the Arizona assessment of ten years ago, in 1906, under Gov. Kibbey's administration. Then the territorial tax levy was 76 cents on the $100, but the assessment, based on 50 per cent. of the value of ordinary realty, was only $62,227,000. The gross tax receipts therefore were $466,702, with the general fund paying cash on demand. The comparison, in justice, should have subtracted the present State school fund, which then was not known, but even then it would appear that government under Statehood is costing Arizona three times as much, or about $1,000,000 a year, more than it did under territorial administration.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK, UGH!

"Dodson's Liver Tone" better than calomel and cannot salivate.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and cannot salivate.

Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

CONGRESSMAN'S AMUSING SLIP-UP

Charge of Playing Politics Fired at Randall.

Haynesson Couple Return to Pasadena Fireside.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 17.—An amusing mistake has been made by Congressman Charles H. Randall in the case of two Pasadena young men who have taken the examinations for entrance into West Point. W. S. Haynes, president of the Pasadena Board of Education, charges that Randall is due to the Congressman's "playing politics and not attending to business."

The multitude of detail connected with Mr. Randall's feat of running for re-election on the Republican, Progressive, Democratic and Prohibition tickets in opposition to a straight Republican is held responsible for the mix-up which has irritated the members of the Board of Education and others.

Several months ago Mr. Grassie wrote to Congressman Randall asking if there was an opportunity for Pasadena High School boy to be appointed to West Point. The Congressman first replied there was no vacancy, but later wrote he had discovered an opening. Then it developed that the vacancy had existed for four years.

TWO SUCCESSFUL.

At the suggestion of Mr. Grassie two Pasadena high school boys took a physical test before army surgeons in Los Angeles, two of the number—Frank Alexander and Willis Halsey—being successful. Shortly after Mr. Grassie had arranged, through the Federal civil service department for the two boys to take mental tests, July 27, at the high school in Pasadena, Congressman Randall notified him that the tests had been postponed until next year.

The civil service board was not informed of a postponement and the examinations were held. Yesterday Mr. Grassie received a message from Congressman suggesting that the boys be prepared for the spring tests, not knowing that the examinations were held at the appointed time and the examination papers are now in Washington.

We have learned that Congressman Randall has been writing to many of his constituents offering to make appointments to West Point. Mr. Grassie said yesterday, however, very strongly that he was not attempting to play politics in the matter."

CAPTAIN HONEYMOON.

During the role of bride rather than that of "sweet girl graduate," Ruth Benson, a high school girl 17 years old, eloped with R. P. Cook, 21 years old. They returned yesterday from a two-weeks' honeymoon spent in camp in the mountains. Leaving the Benson home on the morning of July 27, presumably for a motor-car ride, the young people went to Santa Ana and were married.

Mr. Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Benson of No. 161 North Madison, objected to her marriage on account of her age and desired to have her graduate from high school next spring. The bride and groom are at present at the home of her parents, and soon will establish a home of their own.

ARSON CHARGED.

A charge of arson will be placed against Roy Headrick, 21 years old, who was arrested yesterday on the complaint furnished by a woman who charges him set fire to a small building adjoining the young man's home at No. 174 Worcester avenue. It is said that he has confessed to the charge, but denies that he is implicated in other fires in the neighborhood.

A number of fires have been reported from the same district recently. It is said that friends and relatives will try to save the young man from jail by proving that he is mentally deficient.

CITY BRIEFS.

Word to the persons back of the movement to have the city governed by a city manager in place of the present commission, the suggestion has been made at the City Hall that the number of commissioners be reduced from five to three and that the charge of the opposition to the present form of government is too expensive. The persons responsible for circulating the petitions for city manager have not been made public. Members of the Pasadena Realty Board and their friends will meet yesterday evening to welcome members of the Los Angeles Realty Board and other charities organization, who will come over from Los Angeles, headed by Superintendent W. TIRE AGENT INJURED.

Thrown from Car Speeding at Sixty Miles an Hour—Auto Stage Driver Tells Police About Thrilling Drive in the Mountains.

EL CENTRO, Aug. 16.—E. M. La Duche, agent for a Los Angeles tire company in El Centro, was probably fatally injured tonight when thrown from his racing car, in which he had been speeding at the rate of sixty miles an hour. Mrs. La Duche and a woman companion were slightly hurt.

The racing car turned off the road at the junction of Imperial avenue with the Holton interurban railway, struck the ends of cross ties and jumped nearly fifty feet, landing right side up.

La Duche was thrown on his head and his skull was fractured.

UNDER THE HAMMER.

With a heavy hammer poised above his head, Harry Gaskell, stage driver on the San Diego-El Centro run, last night drove his automobile loaded with passengers down the dangerous Mountain Springs grade.

(This was the story Gaskell told Deputy Sheriff F. C. Kemp, resulting in the arrest of Frank Sansome, an Italian passenger, who is held in the County Jail charged with threatened assault with a deadly weapon.

Gaskell said one of the tires on his car blew out at the top of the grade. He was already somewhat late. He said he stopped the car and prepared to replace the tire when Sansome seized a hammer and ordered the driver to proceed down the grade. At the foot of the grade a passenger took charge of the hammer and of Sansome, who said his home is in Tia Juana.

TIPS EIGHT PERSONS INTO DEEP WASH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Aug. 16.—Eight persons were dumped into the sandy bottom of a wash this morning when, in an endeavor to dodge a skidding truck, George R. Amidon of Perris turned his motor car over a bank at the approach to a bridge on West A street.

With Amidon were his wife and four children, A. J. Johnson of Los Angeles and one other man. Just as the Amidon car was approaching a bridge over a wash near the Monte Vista schoolhouse from the east, a truck from the west, heavily loaded with hay and driven by H. A. Krebiel, which had just crossed the bridge, skidded and in attempting to miss it, Amidon turned his machine over the bank. The car turned over and hurled all the occupants into the wash.

Mr. Johnson received a slight cut cut on the head but all other members of the party escaped unhurt. Mr. Amidon and his companions were on their way to Los Angeles when the accident occurred and had been driving slowly on account of a heavy fog and the resultant wet pavement. Two other cars came to grief on West A street this morning on account of skidding, but no one was injured.

ALLEGED ACID THROWER HELD.

HOLTVILLE, Aug. 16.—Immediately following the hearing of B. C. Lytle, who was bound over to the Superior Court on the charge of twice throwing acid into the face of his employer, Thomas C. Potts, local druggist, Mr. Potts dismissed his personal bodyguard.

Since several weeks before the second acid attack Mr. Potts has been closely guarded by detectives. The druggist declared that he was greatly relieved when the authorities saw fit to hold the prisoner for trial on the charge, and he did not feel that it is necessary to be guarded from further attacks.

PELLAGRA VICTIM FAST RECOVERING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Aug. 16.—Fred K. McCarver, whose phenomenal recovery from the dread and usually fatal disease, pellagra, was related exclusively in The Times, Monday night attended for the first time since his recovery the meeting of the Board of Trustees, of which he was once a member.

Mr. McCarver is now able to walk considerably and is frequently seen on the Ocean Front. His hair, which came out, after he recovered, where he was formerly bald for ten years, is still growing.

Mr. McCarver was accorded a hearty welcome by the Trustees, his former colleagues.

LITTLE LANDS NOW TUJUNGA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TUJUNGA, Aug. 16. — "Little Lands" is no more, so far as the name is concerned. The Postoffice Department has announced that hereafter it is to be known as Tujunga. The change comes as the result of the general dissatisfaction with the former name. The town meeting requesting action, with unusual celerity the department complied.

The new name is in reality the old one, for all this section, including not only the whole of this Monte Vista Valley, but Hansen Heights and the locality since known as Tujunga Terrace, was comprised in the old Spanish grant, Rancho Tujunga, which stretched from near San Fernando across the Big Tujunga River and up to the Rancho Crescenta Canada on the east.

Before this section was made accessible by good roads, the 8000 acres in the rancho were offered for $10,000, with no taker. In fact, hard cash would have bought it for $1 an acre. Now, not a foot is sold for less than $1000 an acre where the town now stands, and in much of the valley surrounding.

MUCH BUILDING AT THE HARBOR

Important Projects Planned and Under Way.

Business Section to Get High-pressure Gas Mains.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 16.—Building operations in the harbor district have become so great that hereafter the office of the Building Inspector will be kept open every day, instead of three days a week as heretofore.

One of the most important projects that will be built here is the new plant for the Regan Forge and Engineering Company, on land leased from the city on Smith's Island. From a small beginning this firm has built up a large export business for oil well machinery and tools.

The dredger Oakland was started today making the fill on the tideland for the new plant. The first unit will be buildings for blacksmith and machine shops. As soon as these are under way a foundry building will be erected. The machine shop will be equipped with heavy machinery, including a twenty-five-ton steam hammer for which twenty-four piles will support the foundation.

BIDS FOR GARAGE.

Bids were opened today for a new garage to be built for L. J. Harris and John A. Phillips, operating under the name of the San Pedro Garage. It will be of brick, 50x150 feet. The firm will continue its present garage on Palos Verdes street and the new building will be erected on Pacific avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets.

Plans have been completed for a new one-story concrete building, 28x80 feet, for the San Pedro Creamery Company. It will cost about $3500. About $2500 worth of new machinery will be installed, including a plant for the manufacture of ice cream on a large scale.

The new $20,000 temple for San Pedro Lodge No. 322, F. & A.M., is rapidly nearing completion and will be opened about November 1. It has two stories and a basement. The first floor will be a store room, with banquet-room in the basement and lodge and clubrooms on the second floor. The stairway will be of marble and the floorings of the lodge and clubrooms of hardwood.

HIGH-PRESSURE GAS.

The Southern Counties Gas Company will start work at once putting in a new four-inch high-pressure gas main on the Harbor boulevard from the west basin to the corner of Fourth and Front streets.

This will give high-pressure gas to the business section as soon as new mains can be laid. High-pressure gas is now served west of Pacific avenue, but east of Pacific many of the mains are so old they will not stand the pressure.

DEAD IN HIS BUNK.

When C. E. Conn, owner of the yacht Comfort, called his Japanese cook, F. Nagase, to get supper last night while cruising near Santa Barbara Island, he found him dead in his bunk. He was 45 years of age and death apparently was caused by heart trouble.

The yacht returned today and the body was taken to the Brayant undertaking parlors and the Coroner and the Japanese Consul notified.

TRIP TO CATALINA.

An Honor to Uruguay.

[New York Times:] Uruguay is a little country, especially as South American countries go, and few people in this part of the world know much about it except that it is somewhere along the upper stretches of a big river, and that its chief products, as the geographies say, are cattle and revolutions. This lack of information, however, probably proves more about our own mental furnishings than it does about the importance and inconsequentiality of Uruguay.

Of all the nations not engaged in a great war and therefore desperately busy, only Uruguay has had and promptly acted on the estimable impulse to send a ship to bring Shackleton's men back from their dreary prison on Elephant Island.

Uruguay's obligation to rescue these freezing and starving sailors and scientists is rather less than more than the one resting on the other larger and richer nonbelligerents, for the increase of whose scientific knowledge as much as that of Great Britain those brave explorers risked their lives.

But it was Uruguay that had the happy thought and is carrying it out at its own expense.

What it Illustrated.

[Indianapolis News:] He was very young to be a teacher of a scientific subject in an Indiana school not far from Muncie, and he was at the age where social activities still are of much importance. One morning, dull of eye and lagging of step, he was discussing a lesson that had been given to his pupils and concluded with, "This illustrates—this illutrates——" Scratching his head did no good whatever in calling to mind what the subject in hand did illustrate, but he continued bravely. "Boys and girls, this illustrates that nobody can dance nearly all night and expect to do good work the next morning."

The Flag of Texas.

[Indianapolis News: Nine feet long and six wide, a richly wrought "lone star" flag from Texas will be hung in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, with the flags of other States to commemorate the fiftieth year since the Civil War. It was made by the Daughters of the Texas Revolution, and bears, embroidered in its center, the names of that State's great heroes, Crockett, Bowie, Travis, Milam and Bonham.

ARREST MEXICANS AT DEAD O' NIGHT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Aug. 16.—Constable Slanker arrested two Mexicans near Walnut at 2 o'clock on Wednesday morning on the charge of robbing the Walnut store of $200 worth of merchandise on Monday night. On Tuesday Constable Slanker, assisted by Deputy Christian Doutt, located two gunny sacks of cigarettes and tobacco, which had been stolen from the store, in a ravine a quarter of a mile east of the Walnut station.

A man was stationed to watch the cache all day Tuesday, and at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening Slanker and Doutt relieved. They continued the policy of watchful waiting until 1:20 o'clock on Wednesday morning, when two Mexicans came and tried to take the tobacco away. The preliminary hearing of the two men will be held before Judge E. Barnes on Thursday.

AUTO BANDITS ROB ANOTHER CAR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 16.—Automobile bandits robbed a machine in broad daylight yesterday and made a safe get-away.

Harry Amos, a traveling salesman, left his machine, containing a large suit case, at the curb, and stepped into one of his customer's stores. The two robbers in a stripped roadster pulled alongside and one of them grabbed the suit case. They fled at top speed. An alarm was sounded and they were pursued for many miles, but eluded the officers near the Foothill boulevard.

Today Deputy Sheriffs Modie and Cooper are working on a new clew to the identity of the robbers and expect to make arrests.

COMPLETE SPUR TRACK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, Aug. 16.—The spur track connecting the junction of the Colton-San Bernardino line of the Pacific Electric with the Riverside-San Bernardino line at Ninth and I streets has been completed. The company, which has had considerable difficulty in transferring passengers when the storm waters of past years have washed out the bridges over Lytle Creek, will now be better equipped to handle the Riverside-San Bernardino service as the bridge of the local line at La Cadena has always been the last to go out during the floods.

NEGRO'S BODY FOUND.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, Aug. 16.—Mystery surrounds the discovery this morning of the body of an unknown negro on the Santa Fe tracks a mile west of Arcadia. The man had evidently been killed sometime during the night by a train, as he was terribly bruised and cut. The engine crew of train No. 42, eastbound local, report seeing the body, and Marshal Bush of Arcadia had the remains brought to the Renaker undertaking parlors in this city to await inquest. The man was evidently about 50 years old. He was dressed in an old blue suit, but had no identifying papers upon him. A watch was stopped at 10:22 o'clock.

YUCAIPA APPLE SHOW FEATURES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

YUCAIPA, Aug. 16.—The directors of the Yucaipa apple show met this morning and decided to place Charles H. Stone of Redlands, in charge of the decorative features of the big Southern California apple show, October 12, 13 and 14. Mr. Stone is well known because of his work with the San Bernardino orange show, having won first place for feature display for Redlands several times.

The directors of the show also found that it would be necessary to have two big tents for the show this year instead of one. One of the tents will be given over to the display of apples and the other to the industrial display that is to be made.

Committees to have charge of the work will be selected soon. The apple association of the valley is having plans drawn for a packing-house and this will be built soon.

Signal Hill Association Buys Muslin for Covering.

Republican Administration to Bring Prosperity.

Long Beach Police Capture an Automobile Thief.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Aug. 16.—When the Signal Hill Cucumber Association today asked bids on 20,000 yards of muslin and 300 cucumber crates they divulged plans for the creation of the largest agricultural district in the country growing crops under cloth.

Signal Hill furnished more cucumbers last year than any other section of the country with the exception of the Imperial Valley, and during the coming winter the growers here expect to exceed the famous valley's record. Growers, elated at last year's returns, will put seventy more acres under muslin for the raising of the vegetable.

The south slope of the hill will be almost completely covered with muslin. Last year's output was 220 cars. This year it is expected that 500 carloads of cucumbers will be sent east and west. Growers expect to let the contract for the crates to local builders. Last year an eastern concern built the crates.

FORECASTS PROSPERITY.

If a Republican administration takes hold of national affairs next March the greatest wave of prosperity the West has ever experienced will be felt here, according to J. A. Edson, president of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, who is stopping at Hotel Virginia.

Big business development in the Middle West already is being felt here, Mr. Edson says, and shortly after a favorable change in November the Pacific Coast will share the immense business increase sensed in the East. The railroad official is in a position to know the business pulse of the country west of Chicago and is confident that the present improvement felt here will continue.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Long Beach police think they have captured one of the most dangerous automobile thieves landed in this part of the country in some time. They say that Leonard Graham, aged 19 years, has confessed to the theft of an auto from Mrs. Estelle Darling, mother of the Ford agent here.

Detectives Winters and Denny, who apprehended Graham, found in the youth's pockets a complete set of dies for changing numbers on engines, it is stated. Graham was found after the machine he is alleged to have taken was located in a barn at No. 631 East Sixteenth street, Los Angeles. He had a large revolver in his pocket when arrested, the officers say.

SUNSET LIMITED ESCAPES WRECK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BEAUMONT, Aug. 16.—The Sunset Limited, one of the Southern Pacific's fast overland trains, narrowly escaped what might have been a serious wreck a few miles west of Indio Sunday night.

The train, west-bound and due in Los Angeles at 9:45 p.m., was traveling at top speed when the engineer saw an engine rapidly approaching on the same track. He applied the emergency brakes and signalled desperately to the crew of the oncoming locomotive. When both engines had been stopped their pilots were only a few yards apart.

It developed that the east-bound engine was a "helper," returning to Indio after assisting a freight train up the heavy grade to Beaumont. Its engineer had expected to reach Indio before the Limited departed. The engineer of the Limited backed his train to the station and permitted the interloper to run on a siding.

Had the two engines met on one of the curves between Indio and the summit of the pass the resulting mix-up would undoubtedly have been attended with heavy loss of life. None of the passengers were informed of their close call.

BEES SWARM IN RAILROADER'S AUTO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 16.—When E. C. Myers, department manager of the Southern Electric Company, went to get his car this noon to go home to luncheon, he found that a swarm of bees had mistaken it for a hive and settled there.

Myers remained downtown for luncheon on the advice of his wife, whom he telephoned. It is thought the bees slipped out of a farmer's wagon. For half an hour the air was black with them until they settled in the car, which was lined up with a long row of other machines at Third and E streets in the business section.

Strange Battle Cries.

[Answers:] The practice peculiar to war time of forming words from initial letters of sentences, has one great disadvantage. It is almost always possible to make up from the letters in question another phrase having an altogether different meaning.

Thus the new German battle cry, "Hidekk!" is made up of the first letters in the phrase, "Hauptsache ist das England kelle kriegt," which, freely translated, means, "The main thing is that England shall get a good hiding." But Tommy has evolved a new reading, as follows: "Huns, if defeated, ejaculate 'Kamerad, Kamerad!'"

This is on a par with the battle cry invented by the Austrians for her war of 1866, and which consisted of a word made from the five vowels, A, E, I, O, U, and pronounced like "Yeow."

The cry is made up from the initial letters of the sentence "Austria est imperare orbi universo," a free rendering of which is, "Austria's empire is over all universal." Unfortunately, however, the war resulted disastrously for Austria. Whereupon her enemies promulgated an entirely new meaning: "Austria's empire is ousted utterly."

Living High in New York.

[Boson Transcript:] The tallest apartment house, soon to be built in Fifty-ninth street, will have twenty-one floors, thirty less than the Woolworth Building. Failing of height-restriction ordinances, this probably will not be the finality in lofty dwellings. If man can do business daily on a fifty-first floor, surely he can live that high.

Riverside.

RIVERSIDE TAXPAYERS HEAR BOND DISCUSSION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 16.—Taxpayers from all sections of the county quizzed the members of the Highway Commission yesterday on the failure to provide for the construction of the proposed road leading through Temescal Canyon from Corona to Elsinore.

W. B. Clancy and S. C. Evans, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the commission, defended the commission's expenditures, explained how the $1,125,000 bond issue had been used and why concrete, rather than macadam or other material, had been employed in the building of certain roads.

Expected opposition to proposals to have further road work done, either in the Corona section or in the Coachella Valley, failed to materialize. In fact, representatives from both these sections of the county declared they wanted to see both the Corona-Elsinore and the Coachella roads provided for out of taxes.

The Corona road is estimated to cost between $150,000 and $160,000. To start the work this year will require an appropriation of $40,000, while the Coachella Valley road will need $20,000. Added to this is the cost of repairing flood damage amounting to approximately $42,000.

The complaint that the change made in many cases from macadam to concrete, costing nearly $180,000 more than if built according to the original plans, was answered by the commissioners, who justified the change on the ground of the possibility of the State's taking over all concrete roads ultimately and maintaining them.

The Supervisors adjourned without any action on the budget.

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist: disolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

URIC ACID!

Ever since the discovery of Scheele in 1775 that uric acid was found within the body—most eminent physicians agree that rheumatism is caused by it; also many distressing symptoms, as headache, pain in back, stomach distress, swollen feet and ankles, gout, etc.

It was Dr. Pierce of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who discovered a new agent—called "Anuric," a harmless remedy that if taken before meals will carry off the uric acid from the system and in this way the pains and aches, the creaky joints and all the distressing symptoms of rheumatism and other maladies disappear. You can easily prove this yourself, by obtaining "Anuric" at almost any drug store, or send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial package. Try it and be convinced that "Anuric" is many times more active than lithia and eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

A SOUVENIRED PRISONER.

Speedily Divested of Cap, Badges, Buttons and Pants Supporters.

[Boston Transcript:] You may already be aware that Brig-Gen. Quelchose was home last week on sick leave, recuperating from the effects of shock—which was not of the shell variety. You may also know that during the same week a certain battalion of a famous county regiment said vile things if you breathed the word "souvenir" within its hearing. But how this battalion came to be the cause of the unfortunate effect produced on the poor old general you do not know. Let me tell you.

In a front line trench for the first time, the men of the Sixteenth Battalion were expecting great things to happen. Incidentally, they felt they had almost a grievance, inasmuch as none of them had so far been blown up. Suddenly a voice from "over the top" floated down to the sentry on on guard: "Kamarad, kapout! Kamarad, pardon!" The sentry dropped his rifle in surprise.

"It's a German come to give himself up," said the corporal of the guard excitedly.

The sentry climbed onto the firing step and looked over the parapet of the trench.

"I can see 'im! I see 'im—all mixed up wif the barbed wire. Will I shoot 'im?"

"No, you bloodthirsty little wretch. Let him alone and he'll come home. Speak gently to him."

"Come on, you blighter!" said the sentry.

In a few minutes the German crawled out of the mist into the trench. He was a big fellow, who flopped on his knees as he begged for mercy. Tired of German militarism, he had crawled to our lines under cover of the evening fog. The little sentry danced around him making a feint of prodding him with a glistening bayonet.

"You 'Un," he said. "You naughty 'Un. For two pins I'd na pooh' you!"

"Knock off," commanded the corporal.

Aroused by the slight bustle, some more soldiers came to view the capture. One of them grabbed the prisoner's round forage cap. "Souvenir," he explained with all the eagerness of a new arrival in France.

In a flash the collecting mania spread, and the prisoner was quickly relieved of badges, buttons and belt. A late arrival contemplated acquiring the buttons off his shirt, even.

Then the corporal of the guard reported to his C. O. the capture of prisoner, German, one.

In turn the brigadier-general was notified, and that officer, in the hope of obtaining some useful information, instructed that the prisoner was to be brought to him at once.

Through the long communication trenches, therefore, the miserable prisoner, hands deep in his pockets—for thus only was he able to keep up his now buttonless trousers—was marched to brigade headquarters, where, at the sight of the disheveled slouching object before him, the general opened wide his mouth in astonishment. So did the two titled ladies—in charge of a neighboring Red Cross hospital—who had at the moment called in on a visit to the general.

The interpreter present had commenced to ask Fritz the usual questions, but the general, incensed at the prisoner's slovenly bearing, broke in with a stern order to the man to take his hands from his pockets and stand to attention.

The prisoner understood. He cast wild, despairing glances all around him, clicked his heels together, and stood erect, while the lower half of his uniform slid to the ground in festoons round his ankles.

MISSIONARIES IN CONVENTION.

Unique Gathering is Held at Arizona Camp Ground.

Season of Prosperity Now Enjoyed at Prescott.

Gen. Crook's Military Road to be Reconstructed.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—A religious convention unique within the United States is the Southwestern Bible and Missionary Conference, now gathered in its annual meeting place, a permanent camp ground at the foot of Mount Eldon, a few miles east of Flagstaff. The gathering mainly comprises missionaries to the southwestern Indian tribes, and the keynote at all the meetings is the conversion of the red man to Christianity. A large number of the attendants spend much time in the study of methods for teaching the Bible, as translated into the Navajo and Hopi tongues. Bible study classes also have been provided especially for the Indian Christians who are attending.

The conference began August 10, and will continue till the 20th. Meeting with it is the Northern Arizona Sunday-school Institute. The synod of Arizona will convene at the camp August 21.

NORMAL SCHOOL.

The summer session of the Northern Arizona Normal School has just ended. In attendance were 224 students, compared with 263 students enrolled during the past regular term of the school.

Storms along the Grand Canyon have done much damage to the trails. Bright Angel trail, below Indian Gardens, was almost washed away at the Devil's Corkscrew, while Hermit trail had to be closed. Repairs on both are being pushed.

At Winslow yesterday Albert Gladney, in an Overland racer, won the principal automobile event, a fifty-mile contest, driven in two heats.

SEASON OF PROSPERITY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—An unusual season of prosperity is being enjoyed by Prescott this summer, her population increased by at least 1000 visitors and new residents. Much of the betterment is due to activity in the mines and a part to a large influx of visitors from Southern Arizona.

NEW DIRECT ROAD.

At a cost of $70,000 a direct road is to be constructed between Prescott and Jerome. This is expected to become a part of the main automobile thoroughfare between Prescott and Northwestern Arizona. A notable reconstruction also is contemplated, that of the old military road between Camp Verde and Camp Apache, a trail constructed by Gen. Crook about 1871, for use in the subjugation of the Apaches.

TWO BODIES FOUND.

Near Holbrook discovery has been made of the decomposing bodies of two sheep herders, Cipriano Marquez and Adolfo Nuanes, employees of Frank Goddard, killed together in their tent by a stroke of lightning. Near the Bodie camp, A Berretti, a prospector, was knocked unconscious by a lightning bolt that killed his two burros. A similar experience was that of A. Bozarth; he and his horse were knocked down by lightning. The unconscious man fell beneath his horse, a position from which he was rescued by the timely arrival of a miner. In the Grand Canyon section an almost identical experience was known by a son of W. W. Bass. Cattle have been killed in pastures as well as upon the open range, and hundreds of trees have been stripped by lightning in the forest west of Prescott.

OLD MINER DIES.

Harrison Yarnell, one of the oldest miners of Northern Arizona, discoverer of the famous Yarnell gold mine, near Stanton, died Friday of heart disease at the Pioneers' Home. He was a Texan by birth, 63 years old.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—A 2-year-old Mexican child, Illos Vidales, is dead in Globe of infantile paralysis, the only case of the disease known in this locality this year. Sickness was of only five days. The house of the child's parents and its inmates have been quarantined and there is no fear of spread of the disease. The only other similar case known to the State Health Department was several weeks ago near Bisbee. Health Officer Looney of the State Board of Health states his belief that no apprehension of danger need be felt of a spread of the disorder in Arizona and he sees no reason for maintaining any close watch on the border. Arrangements have been made for a report to him of all travelers from infected localities.

FOR NEW SEWER SYSTEM.

The City Engineer has submitted an estimate of $240,000 as the minimum sum needed for installation of an adequate sewer system in Globe. At present most of the sewage finds its way into the open channel of Pinal Creek, which drains the entire length of the city. The City Council first proposes to determine the extent of the possible water supply, which is to be secured in the Pinal Mountains and brought down by a gravity system.

Fines aggregating $1500 have been collected from a dozen Miami poolroom keepers, who have pleaded guilty to charges of maintaining gambling games on their premises.

Joe V. Prochaska, for years postmaster of Miami and one of its most substantial business men, has announced his intention of entering the race for election as Secretary of State.

CYCLONE AT YUMA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—A veritable cyclone passed through the north end of the Yuma Valley Friday, doing much damage to houses and crops. The wind, locally described as a "dust devil," whirled in from the desert, uprooting trees, demolishing fences and buildings and even injuring cattle that were caught within its vortex. The residence of Ed Beebe, near the Colorado, was crushed in and almost carried away and his barn was entirely lost. Mr. Beebe and his wife were in the house at the time and escaped with their lives as by a miracle.

OUTNUMBERED BY WOMEN.

They have Taken the Places of Men Who have Gone to the Front.

[North German Gazette:] As a result of the men having been called to the colors the number of women employed in government bureaus and offices in Germany has gradually increased until now the female employees are in a decided majority. The rate of increase in the employment of women in office work during 1915 is shown by the figures for the number of employees hired during each three-month period. Of these new employees the women formed 40 per cent. in the first quarter of the year, 43 in the second, 48 in the third and 52 in the last.

Another feature brought out by the report of the State Insurance Fund is the rapid increase in the number of young persons taking office jobs. While in the first few months following the outbreak of the war the number of new employees under 18 years old was smaller than that of those over 18, a sharp change in the average age of the applicants was noted in December, 1914, and the data for 1915 shows that the number of employees under 18 hired during that year was 134,461, against 83,813 who had passed that age.

HOW TO HANDLE INFANT PARALYSIS.

KEEP PATIENTS ON STOMACH, SUGGESTED AS REMEDY.

President of Los Angeles Osteopathic College Declares if Proper Care is Taken but Few Children will be Permanently Affected. Body Itself Able to Kill Germs.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2.—Dr. Henry W. Forbes, president of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons of Los Angeles, in discussing infantile paralysis before the osteopathic convention in Kansas City, said that if patients are kept on the belly and not handled, few would be permanently crippled and that no other precaution is as valuable in preventing the disease as that of making children sleep with the back up.

In discussing the matter, the doctor further said: "It is unfortunate that baby paralysis is usually a painless disease. Pain, while universally resented by mankind, is a beneficent and God-sent symptom." It calls attention to local injuries and compels rest in certain positions which are essential to repair and healing. The part of the spinal marrow which is injured in infantile paralysis is not sensitive to pain, and as a consequence, the wound made by the germ is frequently greatly increased by unwise handling of the patient. If the child would scream with pain when it is picked up, or when it is placed in any position other than with its back up, there would be but few cases permanently paralyzed. If the mother and the nurse could look into the spinal marrow and see clearly, the red, swollen, angry wounds and could realize fully that the injured tissue is so friable that the least pull on it will tear it apart, the child would be so handled that further damage than that caused by the germ would be avoided.

"If the child's tissues were transparent so that those who care for the case could watch the flow of blood to and away from the injured spinal marrow, they would observe that the return flow to the heart is rapid and free when the child is turned on its belly and that the inflow is correspondingly increased. The reason is plain. When the child's back is up, the blood in the spinal marrow is higher than the heart and tends to fall back to the heart by gravity. The pressure in the arteries is high enough to lift the blood up to the cord, but the pressure in the veins is low and when the child is placed on the back, the blood stagnates in the veins and the circulation is slow and sluggish. If this circulation could be directly observed, no child with this dread disease would be permitted to remain longer than a few minutes on its back and many would thereby escape being crippled for life.

"If infants and young children were not permitted to stay for long periods on their backs, fewer cases of this disease would occur. Until we learn more about the life history of the germ which causes this disease and are able to prevent its introduction into the body, as we do with yellow fever, the only hope for prevention lies in building up the resistance of the spinal marrow so that when the germ arrives it will be killed by the body cells instead of killing them. Normal circulation of blood is an important factor in maintaining the efficiency of the body cells to murder germs, hence the importance of keeping the child who has been exposed to the disease in a position which favors the circulation to the part which must fight the invaders.

"When the disease exists, it is too late to think of prevention, but the importance of position is even greater. The germs must be killed and the wound they have made must be healed. We have no specific antitoxin or other substance which will kill these germs, so we must depend on the body to produce its own anti-toxin. Even though we could inject something which would at once kill these germs, the wound they have made must be healed. The patient should be placed on a fat pillow with his back up. His arms and legs should be permitted to hang slightly downward and should be wrapped in cotton wool to protect them from temperature changes. The face can be turned slightly to one side for greater comfort. When for any reason, it is necessary to move the child, the pillow should be lifted and great care should be exercised to avoid any bending movement of the spine, lest by stretching or bending the spinal marrow the damage may be increased. Gentle pressure made on the muscles of the back will empty the veins and send the blood on to the heart. When this pressure is removed, the veins will fill from the blood in the spinal canal and lessen the congestion of the injured marrow. If skillfully done, this treatment will improve greatly the spinal circulation.

"In one week to ten days the child's body will kill the germs. At the end of the second week, healing is well started, and it is safe to handle the child more freely; but care should be exercised to avoid any wide-ranged bending movement of its back under the sixth week."

Customs Inspector Stops Brother of the King When He Tries to Go Ashore and Uses His Fists When Monarch's Relative Objected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Prince Mahidol Songkla, brother of the King of Siam, who arrived here today from the Far East, was mistaken for a Japanese at Honolulu and roughly handled, he said, by a United States customs officer. Minister Karavongse of Siam, who came here from Washington to meet the Prince, declared he would take the matter up through the State Department.

"But don't be disturbed," the Prince said when the Minister expressed his indignation. "We will not declare war over this. It was a mistake, and I hope my assailant will not lose his position. I was rescued by my fellow-passengers."

The Prince said that he went ashore at Honolulu from the steamer Tenyo Maru and was stopped by a customs inspector, who said that Japanese were not allowed ashore until their papers had been examined.

"He refused to listen to my explanation of who I was, turned a deaf ear to my declaration that I had papers to establish my identity, and suddenly attacked me with his fists, of which he made good use. I was wedged in between two women and could not defend myself for fear of hurting them."

The machine was going slowly when suddenly the front wheels twisted and the automobile turned over. All four persons were pinned down. Mrs. Mercereau's skull was punctured by an iron piece of the machine.

E. Zieflin of Chula Vista took the injured woman to San Juan Capistrano. Later she died on the way to Santa Ana.

For All Pain

"The efficiency of any drug" says Dr. C. F. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all diseases is pain, and this is what the patient most often applies to us for, i. e. something to relieve his pain. If we can arrest this promptly the patient is most liable to trust in us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is antikamnia tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have put them to the test on many occasions, and have never been disappointed. I found them especially valuable for headaches of malarial origin, where quinine was being taken. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Antikamnia tablets are also excellent for the headaches from improper digestion; also for headaches of a neuralgic origin, and especially for women subject to pains at certain times. Two anti-kamnia tablets give prompt relief, and in a short time the patient is able to go about as usual." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headaches, neuralgia and all pain.

IRRIGATION IN PERU.

The Incas' Agricultural System was a Perfect Social Organization.

Writing in the National Geographic Magazine, O. F. Cook, botanist of the National Geographic Society-Yale University expedition to Peru in 1915, pays high tribute to the wonderful civilization of the Incas, whose amazing irrigation projects and "staircase" farms on the mountain slopes enabled them to develop such food plants as the potato.

In substantiation of his claim that the Inca agricultural system was not only the most complete form of social organization of which we have any record, but that it also gave the most adequate adjustment of the human relations that lead to continual conflict and confusion in other forms of society, Mr. Cook quotes the following from the will of the Spanish conqueror Marcio Serra, who died in Cuzco, Peru, in 1589:

"The Incas governed in such a way that in all the land neither a thief nor a vicious man, nor a bad, dishonest woman was known. The men all had honest and profitable employment. The woods and mines and all kinds of property were so divided that each man knew what belonged to him, and there were no lawsuits. The Incas were feared, obeyed, and respected by their subjects, as a race very capable of governing; but we took away their land, and placed it under the crown of Spain, and made them subjects.

"We have destroyed this people by our bad examples. Crimes were once so little known among them that an Indian with 100,000 pieces of gold and silver in his house, left it open, only placing a little stick across the door as the sign that the master was out, and nobody went in. But when they saw that we placed locks and keys on our doors, they understood that it was from fear of thieves, and when they saw that we had thieves among us they despised us."

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 16.—Frank Higgins, South Pasadena's speed policeman, has been officially appointed Chief of the local police force, Higgins has been acting marshal ever since the resignation several months ago of Marshal Johnson, the incumbent for twelve years. As an economical move the City Council has tried for the past few months the experiment of having the Police Chief act also as motorcycle officer instead of spending money for an additional man. This scheme has worked so well that Higgins is to be kept permanently at his double job.

BANKER CLAIMS THE DEAD MAN.

Exposition Park Mystery is Solved in St. Louis.

Tailor Mark and Remarkable Letter Only Clews.

Self-slain Youth Settled in Advance for Cremation.

An inquiry, started yesterday by a manager and officials of a local crematory company, into the hitherto practically unnoticed suicide of "John Kent" in Exposition Park the last, last night developed startling facts, the principal one being the identification of the dead man as William H. Olschausen of St. Louis. The identification was made by Ernst P. Olschausen, banker of that city, and came as the result of information furnished him by The Times regarding marks found on a pair of trousers worn by the dead man just before his death.

The remarkable investigation, carried out ten days after the tragedy, was the result of a peculiar letter, written to C. C. Reynolds, manager of the Los Angeles Cremation Association. This letter, written by "John Kent," was accompanied by a cashier's check for $130, the letter requested that the writer's body be cremated and the money left given to charity.

When "John Kent's" effects, a suit case containing a quantity of clothing was inspected by the Coroner, marks of import was discovered. A second investigation yesterday disclosed a tailor's tag on the belt seam of one pair of trousers. This tag bore the firm name of Hayward & Bergsman of St. Louis, while on the line reserved for the owner's name was the hardly discernible letters "O——en."

With these small clews to work on, the investigation was transferred by wire to St. Louis, with the result that Ernst Olschausen last night declared he felt certain the suicide was his brother. He said his brother had always had his clothes made at that tailoring firm, and had been to Los Angeles several months ago. However, he could give no reason for the tragedy.

STORY OF TRAGEDY.

TO ASK REORGANIZATION OF ENGINEER'S OFFICE.

A PROPOSAL to make a survey of the City Engineer's department with a view to its reorganization is contained in the report on the recent hearing of charges of graft and mismanagement in connection with street work inspection which is expected to be ready for presentation by the Public Works Committee to the City Council today.

Chairman Topham of the committee said yesterday there is not enough evidence to show there had been graft of late but there was sufficient to prove that the system of inspection had been lax. A new system has been put into effect of changing inspectors quite frequently so they can not get friendly with contractors. The inspectors also have been put on the monthly pay roll instead of on a per diem basis.

"We will likely recommend," added Councilman Topham, "that in view of the criticism of the Engineer's Department, and in line with the Mayor's message, some competent municipal engineer be asked to make a survey of the department with a view to improving it and seeing what can be done to better the conditions there. This plan has the co-operation of City Engineer Hamlin who is anxious it should be done."

Councilman Topham said the investigation had uncovered irregularities which happened four or five years ago. They had found that in one instance a man was on the pay roll of one of the paving companies and that inspectors were in the habit of borrowing money from contractors. No names would be mentioned in the report, he said, but half a dozen inspectors had been dropped.

Councilman Topham stated that the report will recommend that inspection work be placed directly under the Board of Public Works as such a change would be for the benefit of the city at large.

STATE WILL PAY.

Two Los Angeles Naval Militia Members who Failed to get on Board Battleship Oregon in Time will be Returned Home Without Cost.

When the battleship Oregon sailed from Seattle with divisions of the Pacific Coast Naval Militia aboard for a practice cruise, H. D. Stephens and E. L. Wilson, members of the Los Angeles division, on shore leave, were left behind.

Though disappointed, the sailors will not be out of pocket for their failure to report for duty before the ship sailed. The State of California will pay for their transportation home. The naval authorities at Seattle were advised yesterday from Sacramento by the Adjutant-General's office to this effect.

Close.

MATTER OF INCHES.

Opposition to Bunker Hill Improvement is Three-tenths of a Foot Stronger than Advocates and Council Seeks Legal Guidance.

Three-tenths of a foot stand against a much-needed improvement on Third street, and the City Council is contemplating ordering the improvement done and thus putting its own foot on that three-tenths of a foot.

It is proposed to pave Third street between Grand avenue and Bunker Hill avenue, but a majority protest has been filed. This protest carries three-tenths of a foot more than the frontage in favor of the work.

Can the work be done in the face of that majority protest? was the question before the City Council yesterday.

"It should be done," said President Betkouski. "All those streets on the hill are being paved, one after the other, and this is one of the connecting links."

It was decided to ask the City Attorney to make a report on the subject, and action was deferred until August 23.

SOCIETY MAN SENT TO JAIL.

Ten Days Straight is Given to F. L. Moon.

May Mow Lawn as Helper of ex-Family Servant.

F. L. Moon, 26 years old, debonair society leader of Coronado, and a brother of Mrs. Claus Spreckels, was given a straight sentence of ten days in the Santa Ana jail yesterday for speeding on Irvine boulevard between Santa Ana and San Juan Capistrano. Sentence was imposed by Justice J. B. Cox of Santa Ana.

Despite the efforts of prominent attorneys of San Diego and Los Angeles to obtain the young man's release, Mr. Moon was taken yesterday morning to the Santa Ana jail, where he served the first day of his sentence.

Mr. Moon was arrested by motorcycle policeman Roy Ballard of Santa Ana on a charge of operating an automobile at sixty miles an hour. In court Mr. Moon pleaded guilty to the charge and sentence was imposed immediately by the justice.

The young man was not represented in court by counsel and in a statement to the court he said he was in a hurry to get to his home at Coronado on the day of his arrest because his wife and their baby were ill.

At the jail last night Mr. Moon appeared to be cheerful and expressed the belief he would be released this morning as a result of proceedings to be brought in Superior Judge C. B. West's court at Santa Ana. He said his attorneys expect to secure his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

MAY MOW LAWN.

If he has to stay in jail for ten days, however, Mr. Moon said he will request Theodore Lacy, Jr., the jailer, to allow him to work on the lawns under Albert Lenk, one of the jail attaches, who has charge of the prisoners. Lenk was formerly employed as a gardener by the Spreckels family.

Several fines were imposed on other men arraigned before Justice Cox. Moon said it was his belief that he would be given a fine instead of a jail sentence when he decided to plead guilty.

"Ten days in jail," said Justice Cox, after Mr. Moon admitted he was violating the speed laws at the time of his arrest. "I'll stop this speeding and reckless driving in Orange county if I have to send them all to jail."

Mr. Moon, who appeared greatly surprised by the sentence, asked the court if he could be released pending an appeal of the case.

"You can appeal the case, but you are going to jail now," said Justice Cox.

Yesterday afternoon Attorneys Earl Rogers of this city and A. Shreve of San Diego and R. Y. Williams interceded with Justice Cox, but without result.

NEW TRIAL DENIED.

A motion for a new trial made by one of the attorneys was denied by the justice, who insisted that Mr. Moon stay in jail for ten days.

According to one of the rules of the Santa Ana jail prisoners who work in the various gangs on the city streets wear brown and blue overalls. Officials of the jail would not say last night whether Mr. Moon would have to wear this regulation uniform if he remains in jail.

At noon yesterday the young society man refused to eat the food served at the jail and last night he sent to a restaurant for his dinner.

Mr. Moon is married and he has been prominent in society circles in San Francisco, Coronado and this city for several years.

SCANT SYMPATHY FROM SPRECKELS FAMILY.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 16. — Leslie Moon, wealthy young Coronadan, who was sentenced to ten days in jail by a Santa Ana justice today, received scant sympathy from his family and friends here tonight. John D. Spreckels is tonight entertaining the members of his family and a few friends in the music-room of his palatial home at Coronado in honor of the anniversary of his birthday, but young Mr. Moon cannot be present. He had to appear in Santa Ana today and laughingly told his friends of it before he left here, but he did not expect a jail sentence, however.

Tonight Mrs. Claus Spreckels, his sister, who just returned with her husband from the north, where they attended the Bohemian jinks, said: "My brother received scant sympathy from his family as we feel something should be done to stop his speeding. I just talked with him on the telephone from Santa Ana and he said he was not occupying the kind of suite that he would have ordered."

The Sentencer and the Sentenced.

F. L. Moon (right) and Justice J. B. Cox,

of Santa Ana, who yesterday sentenced the brother of Mrs. Claus Spreckels to ten days straight in jail on a charge of speeding sixty miles an hour.

AGENTS FOR SMUGGLERS?

Two are Held as Alleged Illicit Drug Dealers.

Two of the trio of alleged opium smugglers, Mrs. Concha Fernandez and Lorenzo Vasalo, were held to the Federal grand jury on bail of $500 each by United States Commissioner Hammack. The third, Antonio G. Ceriejo, was released on the grounds of insufficient evidence to show his direct connection with the finding of the drug at No. 655 Banning street, when that place was raided a week ago.

The eighteen additional cans of opium found in a hollow window casing on the following day were admitted yesterday as evidence. It is believed that the man and woman who are held have been acting as agents for a ring of Mexican smugglers. The grand jury will act on the case in September.

GOES TO SAN QUENTIN.

S. M. Gastelum, recently convicted of burglarizing the store of Max Rosenbaum in Whittier, on April 19, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Craig to two and a half years in San Quentin. Gastelum was taken into custody with David Lerma two days after the crime. Both men had some of the articles stolen from the store in their possession. Lerma is still to be sentenced.

ATTRACTS MANY TITLES AND AT LAST WEDS ONE.

AN INTERNATIONAL romance, with a charming Los Angeles girl as one of the principals and an English earl as the other, and which began several months ago while she ministered as a Red Cross nurse to the needs of wounded English soldiers housed in a palatial London mansion, resulted yesterday in the marriage of Miss Hazel Patricia Burke of this city, to Kenelm Charles Edward Pepys, Fourth Earl of Cottenham.

The news of the wedding in St. George's Church, London, came as a surprise to the bride's father, John H. Burke of No. 1671 Orange street, employed in the City Tax Collector's office, and her many friends who had received no word from her for several months. The fact that she married an English peer, however, occasioned little comment, as, during the past four years she had been thrice reported engaged to other men of title.

The career of the beautiful California girl abroad began about five years ago when she gave up her work here as a journalist and decided to make her home in Paris. Within a few months it was reported she was engaged to Prince Ferdinand de Bourbon, who later attempted suicide after stating that he had been jilted.

Two years later it was reported that Miss Burke would marry Juan de Ropes de Ayala, Marquis de Fuensanta, a Spanish Grandee and close personal friend of King Alfonso. Plans for the wedding were completed when one of the intimate friends of the prospective groom was killed in a duel, necessitating a postponement of the ceremony.

During the period of postponement Miss Burke is said to have experienced a change of heart and to have broken the engagement. A few months later, during the early part of last year, she return to Los Angeles and passed several months with her father. At that time she stated she was fancy free.

The call of the fashionable life abroad proved too strong, however, and she returned to Paris, served for a time as a nurse in France, and later went back to London. Her father heard from her frequently during the first few months, and learned of an attachment between his daughter and an English baronet, fighting with the British troops in France. This officer was later killed and in the few letters he received after the event Mr. Burke says his daughter revealed a terrible heartache.

She met the man who is now her husband while serving in the temporary hospital into which he had turned his residence. The Earl, who is 42 years of age, is one of the large land holders of England. His estate includes about 6000 acres at Elevendon Priory, Goring, Oxford, and his lineage is said to be among the most distinguished in the British Isles. He was first married in 1899 to Lady Rose Nevill, daughter of the First Marquess of Abergavenny. She died in the latter part of 1913, leaving him three sons.

She was formerly the statuesque Hazel Patricia Burke of this city, whose rumored engagement to Prince Ferdinand de Bourbon set tongues wagging some years ago. He is a wealthy English noble.

Stolen Dynamite Reopens Old Hollywood Warfare.

Stone Company Heads Ask for an Investigation.

While Angry Citizens Make Emphatic Protest.

The theft of a quantity of dynamite and caps from the storehouse of the Los Angeles Stone Company, in Brush Canyon, yesterday, developed the present strife between Hollywood residents in the vicinity of the quarry and the company from a wordy combat into armed camps, each waiting a move from the other side. One side fears it is about to be blown up. The other side declares it has already been blown up, down, sideways and otherwise.

For the past several months the citizens living near the quarry have been vociferously condemning the Los Angeles Stone Company and its quarry, situated but 200 yards outside the city limits of Los Angeles. They declared that from fifty to 100 blasts were set off every day, so that they could hardly walk down the street without being compelled to dodge the smaller stones and chips that were hurled upon them by the blasting. In addition, they said, the dust and dirt were "terrible," while the concussions made them reinforce their windows so that they would remain intact.

FIND ONLY SYMPATHY.

After banding together in a sort of protective league, the citizens first journeyed to the City Council. Here they found plenty of sympathy, but that 200 yards prohibited any action by the Los Angeles fathers. However, President Betkouski instructed the City Attorney to appear before the Board of Supervisors representing the beleaguered band of rock-bombarded citizenry.

A few more days elapsed and the case was called before the Supervisors. Much argument was heard from both sides, with the composite result that the Board of Supervisors appointed two of their number to form a committee of investigation.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Then came the disappearance of the dynamite and caps from the company's storehouse. Not the slightest clew was left. A finger print was found in one part of the storehouse, but after all the vagaries of the Bertillon system had been developed it was found the print was that of an employee of the company,

JOHN, CALL UP YOUR FIANCEE.

Left Waiting at Altar, Woman Phones Hospital to See if He is There.

John Wilkey, your bride-to-be wants you on the phone! Or, rather she did shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when she excitedly called the Receiving Hospital and stated that Mr. Wilkey had failed to meet her at the altar, according to prearranged schedule, and she was "just sure he is sick or hurt some place."

Upon being assured that John had not been booked there, the palpitating bride-to-be seemed partially relieved. She did not leave her name, though she did volunteer the information that Mr. Wilkey is a railroad man.

Up to a late hour yesterday no one of the name of John Wilkey had applied at the County Clerk's office for a marriage license, nor had a license been issued to any one of that name during the past week. There is no one of the name in the city directory.

Man Who Gave First Wife's Engagement Token to Second Mate is Held on Charge of Failure to Provide for His Original Mate.

Leroy D. Votaw was held for trial yesterday by Judge Craig on a charge of failing to provide for his wife, Irene Freeman Votaw, who, in the preliminary examination, testified that her husband had deserted her in Los Angeles after sending her here from Fort Worth.

The defendant admits that he married Miss Estrella White a short time ago and traveled with her from Texas to Los Angeles.

Attorney Richardson yesterday endeavored to convince the court that Votaw had believed himself divorced from his first wife, owing to the fact that she had returned to him her diamond engagement ring and other trinkets.

On the witness stand Mrs. Votaw No. 1 admitted that she had sent the ring to him, but she also stated that she had never suggested in any way that she had obtained a separation. The ring is the same one given by Votaw to his second wife.

NEVER DREAMED HE WAS THIEF.

So Says Morgan's Sweetheart in Plea for Him.

Asks that Mann Act Charges be not Brought.

Woman is now on Way to Her Home in Denver.

Pansy Reishill, sweetheart of John E. Morgan, the "skylight burglar," interceded in his behalf with Chief Snively yesterday in a letter she wrote from Ogden, Utah. She pleaded that Morgan be not prosecuted for violation of the Mann Act, regarding her coming with him to Los Angeles from Denver. She is now on her way to her home in Denver.

Her letter read: "I am writing to ask you to please not bring Mann Act charges against Jack. I am old enough to have a little sense myself, and I wanted to go to Los Angeles. Of course, I thought we would get married. Now I am glad we didn't.

"You see I am partly to blame, for he never forced me to do anything. But he was awfully good to me.

"We had a little spat in the morning and I was homesick and tired of living the way we were, so I just decided to go before he came home and coaxed me to stay. I always was afraid to live as we were, and I just couldn't stand it any longer. Besides, I wanted to see my darling baby so bad.

"If Jack had murdered some one it wouldn't have surprised me so much as to hear that he was a thief. He certainly fooled me, for I swear that I never dreamed such a thing until the detectives came into my room. This has been an awful lesson to me and my heart is simply broken.

"Will you please send me my trunk? I think it is at the Rollins apartments. I also have a dress and a new hat in the rooms at the Alexandria. I need clothes badly and will pay all the expenses on the trunk. I thought Jack would send my things to me when I wired for them. He must have been in jail then, for I received no answer.

"Will you please write me a long letter and tell me all about this awful affair.

"All I know is what I read in one paper. I can hardly believe Jack is a thief."

No new developments in the prosecution of Morgan occurred yesterday.

ADVANCE PAYMENT.

Former Head of Trading Company, Arrested, Denies False Pretenses in Collecting for Freight on Cement Shipment for Peru.

The arrest yesterday of William Taylor, former president of the Latin American Trading Company, by Constable C. J. Bright, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, created some gossip in the Latin American colony. The complaining witness is Robert L. Vance, sales manager of the California Portland Cement Company, who alleges that Mr. Taylor obtained from him a check for $4000, as payment of freight on cement going to Peru.

Mr. Vance alleges that it was represented to him that the trading company had the steamer Santa Barbara under charter, when the steamer was lying at Redondo Beach, tied up by the strike. She would get away as soon as some of the men were paid. It is further alleged that the steamer was not under charter at that time and was not going to Peru.

Mr. Taylor, who was president of the trading company at the time, states that he deposited the check to the account of the trading company in the Bank of Italy, and that it was withdrawn by another officer of the company. He denied he obtained the check under false pretenses. At his arraignment before Justice Hanby yesterday he was released on $1000 bail and the preliminary examination set for tomorrow.

Forty from Brent Furniture Company Spend Week-end at Crags.

Delightful hospitality was enjoyed last Saturday and Sunday by forty employees of the Brent Furniture Company, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brent at their country home, "Mountain Crags," in the Santa Monica Mountains.

Many diversions were indulged in by the happy company, such as horseback riding, swimming, fishing, target practice, tennis, croquet and other forms of recreation.

An eight-course dinner, prepared by Mr. Brent's private chefs and assistants, were spread under the great sycamore trees. Whole pigs and mountain kids were roasted in the mammoth concrete ovens which Mr. Brent recently erected. It was a tired and grateful throng that climbed into their machines at sundown Sunday and returned to the city.

OPEN NEW OFFICES.

Railroad and Steamship Company Occupy Same Quarters.

J. W. Phalon, general agent of the Great Northern Railway Company, and G. N. Koeppel, general agent of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company, have opened up an office at No. 607 South Spring street, in the Hayward Hotel Building.

For ten years the Great Northern freight and passenger office had been located at No. 606 South Spring street, and the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company occupied offices at No. 440 Merchants' National Bank Building.

Mr. Phalon states that the Great Northern Railway is doing a very fine business in Southern California this season, while Mr. Koeppel advises that the steamships Great Northern and Northern Pacific, sailing tri-weekly from San Francisco to Astoria and Portland, are being extensively patronized. Mr. Koeppel has just received announcement of the midwinter Los Angeles to Honolulu service, beginning with sailings from the Los Angeles Harbor on November 8, with sailings every twenty days throughout the winter.

BUSINESS BODY URGES AERO PREPAREDNESS.

RESOLUTIONS indorsing the proposed issue of $15,000,000 in State Highway bonds and urging the establishment of a large, permanent aeronautical base at North Island, near San Diego, were adopted yesterday by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

The board also approved a resolution of the Ventura Chamber of Commerce calling upon the Forestry Bureau to construct a road, twenty-eight miles long, in the Santa Barbara National Forest, through the Ojai and Cuyama Valleys. The survey for this road has already been made by the State.

Among other things, the board made preliminary plans to entertain 150 northern delegates to the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' Convention at San Diego, the 21st to 25th insts., and approved the sending of telegrams to Isadore Dockweiler in Washington, urging him to use whatver influence he has to prevent the passage of the proposed wine tax bill now before the House of Representatives.

That the performance of the aeronautical division of the United States Army, when called into active service on the Mexican border, indicated inadequate preparation is asserted by the chamber's directors in their resolutions. It is also pointed out that eminent aero engineers have stated that the North Island site presents an ideal location for a great aircraft base and training school. The chamber urges both the establishment of a permanent base there and appropriations which will assure the training of a sufficient body of aviators to assure aero-preparedness at all times.

SAYS HE ALSO WAS BUNCO MEN'S VICTIM.

IDENTIFIES ITALIANS HELD AS SWINDLERS.

Local Retired Business Man Declares They Got Eleven Hundred Dollars from Him Last July Through Same Trick with Which They are now Charged.

Joe Rossi and Placeto Arutti, the two Italians arrested on suspicion of having attempted to bunco Rudolph Korsian out of $300 Tuesday, were identified by Louis Sevoy, No. 322 West Forty-eighth street, yesterday, as the men he alleges took $1100 from him in a swindle. The alleged bunco occurred in July, but Mr. Sevoy says he felt so ashamed of having been duped by the pair he preferred to suffer the loss rather than expose his experience to the police.

Mr. Sevoy, who is a retired business man, 50 years old, says he was in San Francisco, and was spending his time looking at a war picture on display in a window, when Arutti approached him. They discussed the war with mutual views, and became well acquainted. At that time, Sevoy informed Arutti he had retired from business with a competence.

Two days after Mr. Sevoy returned to his home, Arutti called, with the explanation he wished to buy a restaurant and solicited Mr. Sevoy's aid in making the selection. Mr. Sevoy gladly offered his services.

While they were walking along Pico street, Mr. Rossi appeared with the introduction he had made a fortune in Texas, and was seeking some responsible countrymen to distribute $10,000 among debtors of his deceased father. Arutti and Sevoy agreed to perform the commission. Rossi wished some assurance of their stability. The next day the three met, and Sevoy and Arutti each displayed $1100 as proof of their reliability.

Mr. Rossi is alleged to have put the money in a box, together with his alleged $10,000, and to have delivered the box to Sevoy. When Mr. Sevoy opened the box, it contained a few papers, and some pebbles.

The closing exercises of the Los Angeles High School's summer session will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the school auditorium. Though there are no graduates from the school, over twenty of the students have earned credits which will enable them to enter either the State Normal School or a university. The enrollment for this term was 900.

The programme for the exercises follows: "Swing Song" and "Fall on Me Like Silent Dew," Girls' Glee Club; piano solo, Joseph Fogel; reading, Leiah Tyler; vocal solo, Mary Ostrander; whistling solo, Margaret McKee. There will also be an address by Assistant Superintendent Bettinger, who is in charge of the summer school work. MURDER TRIAL.

Boy is Before Court on Charge of Shooting Woman.

Hilarin Herrera, the 18-year-old boy charged with the murder of Mrs. Soledad Juarez, on June 10, was placed on trial yesterday before Judge Nicol.

In outlining the probable defense, the attorney for Herrera yesterday intimated to the jury that an endeavor will be made to prove that the shooting was accidental and might have been done by the husband of the woman.

He declares that Juan Juarez had secured the pistol belonging to the defendant and that in the struggle which ensued, while Herrera was trying to regain its possession, the gun was discharged with fatal results to the woman. Deputy District Attorney Hogan will endeavor to prove that Herrera was outside the door of the Juarez house, and not anywhere near Juarez, when he fired the shot.

Council Vote Expresses Appreciation of Unselfish Attitude of Large Property Owner Toward Public Improvement at the Harbor.

An uncommon distinction was accorded Mrs. Rudicinda Dodson of San Pedro by the City Council yesterday when she was given a special vote of thanks for withdrawing her protest against the paving of Gaffey street. The improvement is to be done principally for the benefit of the High School at the harbor. Mrs. Dodson is the largest property holder and her protest could have killed the project. Her assessment will amount to several thousand dollars.

The City Engineer was instructed to prepare an ordinance for a change in specifications for the paving of Twelfth street, San Pedro, from Palos Verdes street to Gaffey street. This work, together with the paving of Gaffey street, will give access to the High School.

CONVICTED OF BURGLARY.

Prince Bohman, alias George Hawthorne, was convicted by a jury in Judge Nicol's court yesterday, despite the strong alibi introduced to show his innocence of burglarising the garage of L. Coldwater, at No. 1139 South Lake street, on May 2. The fact that Bohman was wearing the watch of William Dersch, an employee of the garage, who had a room in the place which had been looted, was, according to Deputy District Attorney Hogan, the best evidence to show that the defendant had committed the alleged crime. He will be sentenced today.

OUTLAW AGAIN MAKES ESCAPE.

Raphael Lopez Dodges Federal Officers Here.

Price on His Head for Death of Six Men.

Apparently scenting danger from officers who had learned of his presence in Southern California, Raphael Lopez, Mexican bandit, who is alleged to have killed six men, and who escaped from the shaft of a mine filled with poisonous gas at Bingham, Utah, where he had taken refuge, has again eluded pursuit, and probably is laughing at the futile efforts to capture him made in the last two years.

The price placed on Lopez is one of the largest rewards ever offered for the capture of a fugitive, there being more than $1000 promised for his capture, dead or alive. After reports had been received from all parts of the country on the whereabouts of the Mexican, after his startling escape, the search for him apparently subsided.

REPORTED BY MEXICAN.

Through a Mexican in one of the labor camps near Los Angeles, Deputy United States Marshal Bassett received information of the coming of Lopez and of his sojourn here. In some mysterious manner, possibly by the intuition that helped him to get away from almost unbelievable odds in Utah, the "Wolf," as Lopez is known among his own people, secured an inkling of the fact that captors were near. When the officers arrived, Lopez had gone. It is supposed he again managed to cross the Mexican border, where he is safe from capture.

The deeds of Lopez furnished a nation-wide sensation late in the year of 1913. On November 21, he became involved in a quarrel with a countryman, and shot and killed the man. Three deputy sheriffs went after Lopez and when they attempted to arrest him he turned on them and shot all three. Two were instantly killed and the third lived only a short time.

SENSATIONAL ESCAPE.

A great posse of citizens and officers of Bingham was formed and Lopez was driven into a mine. When the posse endeavored to haul him out, he shot and killed two more officers, bringing his total score of lives up to six. Strange methods were then adopted to put an end to the slayer. Poison gases were forced into the mine shafts and all known outlets carefully guarded for more than a week.

When the barricades, which kept the gas in the mine, had been removed, a searching party expected to find Lopez's body. Instead they discovered a shaft little used, which led far from the main workings of the mine to an out-of-the-way canyon through which the man had escaped. Subsequently, all efforts to locate him have failed.

At one time the Northwest Mounted Police of British Columbia arrested and held a Mexican on the suspicion that he was the much-wanted Lopez. It turned out that the wrong man had been taken into custody. From descriptions given to the local Federal authorities, there is no question but Lopez was actually near Los Angeles. They fear, however, that, having once been warned, he has escaped.

Man Convicted of Illicit Liquor Sales will Appeal and Has His Freedom on a Cash Bond—Attorney's Peculiar Tactics in the Case.

Luigi de Giorgis, convicted "blind pigger," who for months has evaded through numerous legal technicalities the ultimate ends of justice, is again free on bail of $500, pending an appeal from the sentence to 180 days of service in the County Jail or payment of $300 as an alternative.

The writ of habeas corpus to secure his release on the ground that sentence had not been technically correct was denied yesterday by Judge Nicol, sitting on Judge Craig's court. His attorney announced that he intended to appeal to higher courts and the defendant was allowed his freedom on the cash bond fixed by the court.

De Giorgis was arrested during the latter part of last year on the charge of operating a blind pig near Hawthorne. When taken before Justice Hart in January he was found guilty and the sentence was delayed for five days on the request of the attorney in the case. The defendant disappeared when the sentence was announced and was rearrested last week on a bench warrant issued by Judge Craig.

The attorney for the defense tried to show that a delay of no more than two days is allowed at any time in the sentencing of a prisoner by a justice court. Deputy District Attorney Selph proved that the extension of time had been secured by this same attorney, and on this ground largely the writ was denied.

Claims Dead Man.

Two days later C. C. Reynolds, manager of the Los Angeles Crematory Association, on Gower street, received a peculiar visit from a youth who later proved to be the same strange young man of the Superior Hotel. He asked for information regarding terms for cremation and if it were possible for one to pay in advance of death for this service for one's self.

"The question was a bit unusual," Mr. Reynolds said yesterday, "so I asked him why he wanted to know. He spoke of premonitions of death and also remarked that sometimes a person liked to pay when they had the money. I told him it might be done. At the time he did not appear at all despondent."

HIS LETTER.

The young man left soon after. The next day, the 5th inst., Mr. Reynolds received the following letter, accompanied by a cashier's check for $130 drawn on the Heilman Night and Day Bank:

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Aug. 4, 1916.
Los Angeles Crematory Association.

Gentlemen, herewith hand you cashier's check for $130, indorsed payable to you. Kindly see that my body is cremated. Should there be any money left, after cremation and the undertaker paid, deliver to the city for hospital or charity fund.

Respectfully,

JOHN KENT?
?U.S.A.

The letter puzzled Mr. Reynolds. As yet the reason for the question marks after the name and before the U.S.A. is unsolved. The letter was received in the morning and in the afternoon Mr. Reynolds read in a newspaper that a John Kent had been found at Exposition Park dying from a self-inflicted bullet wound in his head. He died at the Receiving Hospital while the surgeons were trying to save his life by a major operation.

Anxious to carry out the wishes of the dead man, Mr. Reynolds took personal charge of the body, which had been removed to Bresee Bros. mortuary. It was cremated as per orders.

The bank has no information regarding the case as the check was bought outright there.

TO SAVE ACCIDENTS.

New Safety Zones and Hundreds of Signs to Direct Traffic are Intended to Make Streets Safer for Motorists and Pedestrians.

Three new safety zones and several hundred "Keep to the Right" signs have been installed by Lieut. John L. Butler of the traffic bureau of the police department, in an effort to diminish the number of traffic accidents. The signs are constructed of cast iron, twelve inches in diameter and three and a half inches thick, and are painted white, with an arrow in red pointing to the right.

The signs are placed in the center of street intersections, and motorists who fail to observe the warning to keep to the right of these signs will be severely prosecuted. Many conflicts have occurred over traffic accidents because the motorist to blame alleged he had kept to the right of the center of the street, and before the police could investigate, the machine tracks had been eliminated by other traffic.

The safety zones as a protection to pedestrians boarding street cars have been installed at Twelfth and Main street and two at the Temple Block. Drivers are warned not to cross or drive into the safety zones.

Ventura Retired Rancher's Property Goes to Widow and His Three Children; Petition is Filed for Letters of Administration.

Zachariah Graham, a retired Ventura rancher, who has been residing in this city, left an estate valued at $250,000, according to a petition for letters of administration filed in the Probate Court yesterday. Apparently he executed no will.

Mr. Graham met his death while driving a team of horses on his ranch. They took fright and ran away.

He left cash in bank, stocks and other securities, a walnut ranch near Sawtelle and downtown business property. The heirs are the widow, Mrs. Mabel A. Graham, and three children, Ruth, Helen and Thomas Z. Graham, of No. 1411 South Mallard avenue.

OLD-FASHIONED REMEDIES.

Necessities of War Have Caused Several Rediscoveries.

[New York Commercial:] Physicians have been jumping from one drug or chemical to another ever since Lister found a way to check or prevent the infection of wounds. Doctors have tried friar's balsam, carbolic acid, iodoform and dozens of other antiseptics, some of them very costly, and now seem to have gone back to old-fashioned household dressings of past years, even past centuries.

On the battlefields of Europe sugar, salt, tincture of iodine and common garlic have superseded drugs and chemicals with high-sounding names. Sugar is used as a dressing for wounds already infected. The British government has found that wounded men on ships whose injuries have been washed with common sea water make better recoveries than those treated in field hospitals, the conclusion being that the waters of the ocean are an ideal antiseptic. Tincture of iodine, a preparation as old as the hills, is the favorite protection against lockjaw; and so it goes.

Of all these reversions to grandmother's specifics, however, the discovery that garlic is almost a cure-all is the most striking. Doctors who prescribe and use only the most costly and new-fangled preparations imported from Germany will have to give respectful attention to garlic, for its efficacy is vouched for by the London Lancet on the testimony of two eminent London surgeons. Garlic applied to a wound stops the infection and heals quickly, whereas modern antiseptics used in fashionable practice injure the tissues. Garlic has been tested thoroughly at the Paddington infirmary in London, Eng., as well as in field hospitals in France.

The story of the rediscovery of garlic possesses human interest. An old French peasant woman was found to have dressed the sores and wounds of soldiers in the war zone with remarkable results. An army surgeon investigated and garlic is now sold by the ton, where it was formerly sold by the ounce, in English chemists' shops. Garlic juice diluted with three or four parts of distilled water seems to be the standard dressing.

Garlic is also found to be effective in preventing tuberculosis and in curing it in its early stages. The common onion, cousin of clove of garlic, is good for colds. Hindus have used plasters of garlic for ages. Just when speculators have cornered the drug and chemical market army doctors find substitutes in things that are cheap and plentiful.

SOCIETY.

Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt is motoring with a party of the younger set to Montecito and Santa Barbara for the week-end, honoring the guests, Miss Myra Morgan of Washington, D. C., and Irene Wood of Boston, who are guests for the summer of Miss Hoyt and sister, Blossom. Two charming eastern girls attending Bishop Ferry, as did the Misses Hoyt, and are being made the motif of many interesting society events. Mrs. White gave a stunning dinner for the visitors last evening at his home in Orange Grove avenue. Pasadena, with dancing later, and last Sunday a dozen or so motored to Redondo for the dance and to get glimpses of the exposition.

Riverside.

Fred Shoup took a party of guests to Riverside on Sunday. They enjoyed dinner in the Mission Inn Spanish court, motoring back in the moonlight. The personnel included Miss Lucretia del Valle, former Senator and Mrs. Del Valle, Allen Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Lummis, Anthony Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Del Mar Reynolds and the Misses Del Valle, by the way, is to be honored by a reception which the Sons of America will give in her honor the evening of the 25th inst. It will be the "official" debut of the adopted daughter, who was presented with the honor on Candle Light day recently held at San Fernando Mission—the only woman ever receiving the honor in America—for the service she has rendered in restoring the old missions of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McDonald are giving a dinner to their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Braden of Philadelphia, this evening at their home, No. 11 Berkeley Square. The Kyles have just come home from the north, where Dr. Kyles with other easterners and Californians enjoyed the Bohemian outing on the Russian River.

Personal.

Mrs. Oss M. LeRoy of No. 714 West Kingsley drive entertained last evening with a hosiery shower in honor of Miss Annette Stose, fiancee of Mr. Martin N. Nelson, whose wedding will take place some time in October. The house was decorated in white and pink roses, the motif in entirety being carried out in white and pink. Hearts was the game played for diversion. The dining table was unique, with a large Kewpie doll dressed in pink and holding a shower of attractive hearts, suspended from the chandelier. The place cards were small baskets in the shape of tulips, the handle having tied to it with pink tulle a heart with the name printed. In the center of the table was an immense silver candelabra with pink-shaded tapers, and the lunch, all bridey-wrapped in pink, were beneath an upturned basket of Bohemian glass.

Those invited were Mrs. Willis C. Kyle, Mrs. J. B. Dudley, Mrs. E. Bruce, Mrs. J. G. Layne, Mrs. C. Van Breton, Mrs. F. E. Moore, Mrs. J. Attig, Mrs. W. H. Dr. and Mrs. Krebs had a cottage at Balboa for the season, where their attractive children, Miss Beth, Kellogg and Dick, entertained house parties of young folk for every week-end—canoeing, swimming and outdoor life offering ample diversion. Since Mrs. Krebs's illness, they have given up the house and have returned to the pretty Krebs home in the foothills of the Sierra Madre ridge.

Artist Visiting Here.

Miss Calthea Vivian, a well-known artist of the north, is a treasured guest of her sister, Mrs. Gavin Witherspoon of No. 7071 Hawthorne avenue, Hollywood. Miss Vivian has been sketching in San Diego the past week, being entertained meanwhile by Mrs. McClelland of the exposition city.

LOWER RATES ON UTILITIES.

Chamber of Commerce Asks Council for Reductions for Industries of City.

Urging that steps be taken without delay to bring about material reductions in the rates charged for public utilities used for industrial purposes, meaning rates for water, electric power and natural and artificial gas, the Chamber of Commerce yesterday filed with the City Council a resolution on the subject.

The resolution calls attention to the necessity for industrial preparedness, and asks for co-operation between the civic authorities and industrial bodies in enhancing the prospects for the creation of industrial enterprises in Los Angeles.

It particularly urges that rates for all public utilities used for industrial purposes be graded so they will in no case be higher in Los Angeles than those now enjoyed in towns and cities adjacent. The people and the press are asked to stand firmly against restricted regulations which would hamper industries.

Breeze.

WHIRLWIND BLOWS THEM HAPPINESS.

RUSHES CHICAGO GIRL INTO SAN FRANCISCAN'S ARMS.

Unconventional Meeting on Exposition Grounds Leads to Acquaintance, Correspondence and Wedding in this City Last Night. She Becomes a Californian.

A miniature hurricane which swirled Miss Nelle M. Collins of Chicago around the corner of the Palace of Jewels and into the outstretched arms of Charles M. Fanning of San Francisco, one windy day at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, several months ago, is said to be responsible for their marriage last night at the Alexandria.

According to friends, Mr. Fanning, who is assistant to the City Engineer of San Francisco, was showing a party of friends through the exposition grounds when he met his bride-to-be. At the time the wind introduced them so unceremoniously Miss Collins was carrying several packages. Among them was a box of lunch.

The lunch box caught Mr. Fanning under the chin, crumpled up and deposited its contents on his shirt-front. Mutual apologies and introductions were made while they helped each other remove traces of the collision. When Miss Collins went back to Chicago they continued their acquaintance by correspondence. Mails proved too slow, so finally he suggested, since they have so much to say to each other, that she come out and look California over, with a view to matrimony.

She arrived yesterday and the prospects proved so attractive that after only a slight delay, while Mr. Fanning secured a license and a minister, she became a Californian. They will pass their honeymoon touring Southern California and then return to San Francisco to live, about September 15.

MEN WHO WELCOME WAR.

It Affords a Release from Conditions that Have Become Intolerable.

[Answers:] Soldiers sometimes welcome war as a means of release from a life which remorse, despair or some other feeling has made intolerable to them.

A remarkable instance was that of a young officer. Some time before the present war broke out he was one day explaining the mechanism of a loaded gun to his sister. In doing so he accidentally exploded the charge, by which the poor girl was mortally wounded.

Henceforth his sole ambition was to die, and when war broke out he joyfully responded to the call to arms. Before he had long been at the front his wish was gratified.

Then there was the cause of the son of a country solicitor. While employed in his father's office he absconded with a large sum of money. The disgrace preyed so much upon his father's mind that he fell ill and died.

When the prodigal returned—as prodigals invariably do—he found the home sold up, and his mother and sisters dependent on charity.

For the first time he realized the enormity of his wrongdoing, and joined the army, with the determination to take the first possible chance of service in the field. He went with his regiment to France, and there distinguished himself by a number of daring exploits before he was himself killed.

A singular story is told of a certain brave officer, who died fighting like a lion in the ill-starred Dardanelles campaign.

Married only a couple of years, his wife developed skepticism as to his valor, which was peculiarly mortifying to him.

Telling her that she would some day have reason to be sorry for it, he went out to Gallipoli, resolved to undertake any task that presented the maximum of danger. If his widow still entertains any doubts as to his gallantry, it certainly is not shared by the deceased officer's comrades-in-arms.

Through unrequited love, a lionhearted Scotsman gave up his life in Flanders. Of good parentage and considerable means, he was at first regarded by the damsel as an ideal suitor.

When, however, he lost most of his fortune, she demanded to be released from her engagement. This caused him to give up all hope, and when he crossed over to the seat of war he had made up his mind never to come back.

FACTS AND FOLLIES OF FOOT LIGHT AND FILM WORLD.

By Grace Kingsley.

Percy Bronson, star of "Broadway Jones," at the Burbank this week, is a very busy man while not occupied in selling chewing gum in the famous Cohan play. Mr. Bronson's wife, Winnie Baldwin, it seems, invented an illuminated clock to be used on a darkened stage to denote a lapse of time, doing away with the tiresome device of lowering the curtain for the purpose. Just as Bronson and Baldwin were figuring on buying a couple of new motor cars with the revenue derived from the sale of the illuminated clock, word came to them that identically the same clock was being used in the production of "Cheating Cheaters" back East. And just when Bronson was getting out an injunction to prevent the use of the clock, he read that three other persons are claiming the contrivance as their own brain child. So now it appears to be a four-cornered fight to see who lit on the lightened-clock idea first.

Mamma Will be Shocked.

Maude Fealy, the new leading woman at the Morosco, will make her debut in the tremendously interesting leading feminine role of "The Song of Songs," which will be seen for the first time in Los Angeles next Sunday afternoon at the Morosco.

The play is a very sensational one. "I haven't dared yet to tell my mother I'm playing a role like that," said Miss Fealy, the other day. "Nevertheless, I realize it means a big chance for me, and I'm enthusiastic over it."

You'll be Whistling It.

A bewitching waltz, "Idiolo," heard in Los Angeles for the first time, with the presentation of "The Daughter of the Don," at the Majestic, is already being whistled everywhere. The composition is a Mexican air, and has a delightful swing to it.

Big Boy Now.

The youngest son of James Corrigan, was put into his first long trousers the other day.

The youngster drew himself up proudly and asked eagerly:

"And now can I call pa Jim?"

Rolin to Shift Quarters.

The Rolin Film Company will move from its present Hollywood home to the new studio on Bunker Hill avenue, in Los Angeles, the latter part of next week.

Joe's Strenuous Life.

Joe Roberts, in addition to hypnotizing Pantages audiences with his magic banjo, is an automobile fiend. He has made every jump from Tacoma south in his machine. When he left Oakland early Sunday morning he carried Al Golem, Tom Brown and Tom Driswell as passengers. Golem and Brown, after choosing the coast route, failed to survive the rough road, and took the train from San Luis Obispo. Roberts and Driscoll arrived in the middle of rehearsal covered with dust, but hale and hearty.

Can Make Films, Too.

Manager Dwight Whiting of the Rolin studio is something of an artist himself, for while Director Roach was on the way to New York, Whiting wiped the book-keeping ink from his fingers and went out on the stage and directed Lonesome Luke and Bebe Daniels in what promises to be one of the best comedies the company has ever produced.

Prepares to be Funny.

Margaret Nichols, formerly with the Balboa Company, has joined the Rolin Company, and will play leads in some comedy features which that organization will film.

Fox Star Leaves.

LIGHT AND BRIGHT PLAYS AND ACTS IN LEAD.

"Broadway Jones," at the Burbank, with Percy Bronson in the leading role, is one of the biggest laugh successes the popular Main-street house has ever known, and the clever company, under the direction of Fred Butler, are proving proving themselves very clever funmakers. The piece could probably run indefinitely, but owing to the fact that Mr. Bronson must leave soon to join the New York production of "So Long, Letty," it is to be replaced next week.

"The Blue Mouse," one of Clyde Fitch's most brilliant comedies, will go on at the Burbank next Monday night, with Edith Lyle, the popular leading woman, in the name part. Warner Baxter, Frank Darien, Dora Howe, John Burton and others will support her.

Orpheum.

This will be the last week of Nan Halperin and Kosloff dancers at the Orpheum. Anna Wheaton and Harry Carroll will be the headliners on the bill opening Monday afternoon. Miss Wheaton is a well-known musical comedy star and Harry Carroll is a noted writer of songs and a pianist of much ability.

Others on the bill will be Mrs. Ralph Herz in a dramatic oddity styled, "I Wish I Knew," wherein she sings, acts and dances; May Melville, best remembered as the pudgy half of the late team of Melville and Higgins, but now appearing as a "single," and singing some new songs which promise to be as good as the old; Lou Holtz, billed as "father's joy boy," and the holdovers, Alexander Car and company in "An April Shower," G. Aldo Randegger, pianist, in a new repertoire; Jim and Betty Morgan in songs and pianologue, and Martinetti and Sylvester, acrobats.

Morosco.

So great has been the success of the farce, "A pair of Sixes," at the Morosco, that the piece is announced for a second week. Mary Servoss is the Queen of Hearts in the play, and this is probably the only instance in which a lone queen ever beat a pair of sixes. Douglas MacLean, Rodney Hildebrand, Wyndham Standing, Lola May, Howard Scott, Mary Baker and the others are getting a laugh a minute with their clever work.

Maude Fealy, the well-known New York actress, leading woman with William Gillette when she was but 15 years old, is to make her debut at the Morosco in "The Song of Songs," following "A Pair of Sixes." Miss Servoss will leave for New York, where she is to appear in "Upstairs and Down."

Hippodrome.

Herr Jansen, said to be America's greatest transformation artist, will be the headliner on the Hippodrome bill opening Monday. He will be assisted by a company of illusionists.

Others will be Rose Llewellyn, the southern song bird; the four Valdaries—three pretty girls and a clever man—in a cycling act; Eastman and Moore in a musical romance, "His Gypsy Sweetheart;" the Jim Black duo, the male member of which team is legless; Ray L. Royce, comedienne and impersonator of character types, and Willard Hutchinson and Dorothea Saddler in "The Man from the Hatshop."

Pantages.

With Rita Gould, the beautiful star of last season's Winter Garden production, "Maid in America," and Leila Shaw, both on the bill, and supported by an aggregation of acts which will measure up fully to the class shown by the headliners, the offering at Pantages commencing Monday is expected to be decidedly interesting.

Lipinski's Dogs, Rio and Norman, Gardner and Revere, Lily and Boggs, and Danny Simmons have been selected to fill the remainder of the bill that could be almost termed "all-star."

Republic.

"The Passing of the Barbary Coast" is to be the headliner at the Republic next week. The last night of San Francisco's famous tenderloin is said to be well-pictured in this one-act drama.

On this week's bill Georgia Howard delights with her dancing and violin numbers; Cunning and company mystify with cabinet illusions; Waneba and company of Oriental dancers have a girl act extraordinary, and the photodrama, "Broken Fetters," starring Violet Mersereau, is an unusual and highly sensational screen attraction. Next week the photoplay "Shoes," with Mary MacLaren in the leading role, will be presented in addition to the vaudeville bill.

Tally's Broadway.

Lina Cavalieri, in "The Shadow of Her Past," is drawing well at Tally's Broadway this week, the music, composed largely of grand opera numbers, being an added attraction of high quality.

Ethel Clayton in "A Woman's Way," will be the offering, commencing Monday.

Superba.

Myrtle Gonzales, the charming Universal favorite, will appear at the Superba next week, in "The Secret of the Swamp," a photoplay said to be a very clever and human combination of drama and comedy.

Henry Walthall in "The Sting of Victory," is making a big success this week.

Majestic.

"The Daughter of the Don," showing at the Majestic, is making a big success. It tells the wonderful story of the taking of California from Mexico by the Americans in 1846, and is not only historically interesting, but contains delightful romance.

Los Angeles, as it looked in 1846, has been faithfully brought to life in this photodrama, together with many famous characters of the day.

Clune's Auditorium.

Authentic motion pictures taken at the scenes of the titanic European struggle, are promised at Clune's Auditorium, beginning Monday. Capt. F. E. Kleinschmidt, who secured the pictures during two years of constant personal peril, was the official cinematographer of the Royal Army Museum in Vienna. He has come direct from Austria to California, and will lecture on his film.

The views are said to have been procured in the very front of the battle lines, and to show the flight of airships the discharge of thousand-pound shells, furious charges of cavalry, cities aflame, soldiers fighting in the trenches, and other scenes of sensational and realistic interest.

Symphony.

Clifford Bruce, the noted actor, and beautiful Dorothy Green, in "The Devil at His Elbow," are appearing this week at the Symphony. The gripping photodrama is proving a strong attraction.

Next week, commencing Sunday, the offering will be Mabel Taliaferro, one of the most popular of the Metro stars, in "God's Half Acre."

Garrick.

Even capacity attendance every day and night this week at the Garrick, where Charlie Chaplin's latest comedy, "1 A.M.," is showing, fails to change the management's new plan of showing each Chaplin for two weeks only, and "1 A.M." will close at 1 a.m. Sunday morning.

The dramatic attraction this week, Frank Mills in "The House of Mirrors," is also proving very popular. Next week Ella Hall will be seen in "Little Eva Edgarton," supported by Herbert Rawlinson. The picture was directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

Palace.

"Diana, the Huntress," an artistic, spectacular reproduction of the famous mythical story of the goddess of chastity and her two lovers, Acteon and Endymion, presented for the first time in motion pictures, will be the headliner at the Palace next week. In a series of exquisite scenes is told the story of Acteon's being turned into a stag, and Diana's subsequent love for Endymion. The picture ends with showing famous conceptions of the goddess Diana as painted by the old masters.

Miller's.

"Sporting Blood," now showing at Miller's Theater, is proving a favorite. It is not only a human story that grips and holds one's interest all the time, but it is full of the color, excitement and glamor of those closely associated with the sport of racing.

Starting next Sunday Virginia Pearson is to appear in the stirring drama, "Daredevil Kate." Miss Pearson's role is said to be unique in literature and the motion pictures.

Clune's Broadway.

At Clune's Broadway this week young Willie Collier, Jr., 14-year-old son of the famous Broadway funmaker, is proving his own value as a star. Crowded houses in "The Bugle Call" attest the youthful luminary's popularity. In addition to this feature the programme includes a Mack Sennett comedy, "Ambrose's Cup of Woe," in which little Josy Jacobs, the tiny child actor, corners the greater honors.

Woodley.

Marguerite Clark, dainty and magnetic, is appearing at the Woodley this week in a bewitching characterization, "Little Lady Eileen," and is more charming than ever. The story is a fairy tale that will entertain old and young alike. It provides Miss Clark with splendid opportunity for the display of her many winsome qualities.

Alhambra.

William Farnum in Mabelle Heikes Justice's drama of the far north, "The End of the Trail," is the attraction at the Alhambra this week. This picture is one that is sure to appeal to both men and women, for there is a strong story of a real man's love for a woman, and Mr. Farnum plays a heroic role with such intensity of purpose as to make a lasting impression. The picture was staged in the Yosemite country and is beautiful from a scenic standpoint.

Had Agreed on the Sum.

[New York Herald:] Several years ago three pompous negroes entered the national headquarters of the Democratic party and asked for the manager.

"We jes' came in," said the spokesman of the trio, "to talk things over with you and see if we can help you out down in our section."

"Why, sir, we didn't come in here to ask for money; no, sir, indeed we didn't. We want'er—"

Life of a Big Gun.

[Indianapolis News:] There is a 15-centimeter gun still in service on the Champagne front which has been in action ever since the opening of the war. It is believed this gun is about the "sole survivor" of the early days of the struggle and that its record of 18,830 shots fired is far and away ahead of any other gun.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Stocks continued to move upward in Wall Street. Trading in volume was the largest of any session thus far this month and price accretions of the early week were added to, variably, but for the most part substantially. Heavy dealings in Anglo-French and French securities feature the bond market.

Formal announcement was made by J. P. Morgan & Company, as syndicate managers, that the new loan to Great Britain, aggregating $250,000,000, will run two years at 5 per cent. Associated with Morgan and company are several of the leading banks, trust companies and banking houses of New York, Boston, Pittsburgh and Chicago. The British government reserves the right to redeem the entire issue in whole or in part on thirty days notice at any time up to August 31, 1917, at 101 and accrued interest. The banking syndicate will underwrite the notes at 98.

(Abroad:) In London, American securities were quiet and the general tone steady. Canadian Pacific shares, however, were rather easy.

The loan to be issued in the United States for Great Britain is regarded in London banking circles as a preliminary move to protect exchange, which recently has been showing signs of drooping.

ESCAPED THIAD.

Johnson is urging the election of his own "tried" members of the Legislature, but there are no eligible candidates—none whatever. All of the members of the plunderbund have managed by hook and by crook—principally by hook—to avoid trial, or even indictment.

MORE LIKELY.

The London Telegraph asserts that the recent advance in the price of wheat in Chicago was caused by a conspiracy of German Americans to increase the cost of bread in order to harass British consumers. Maybe so, but it is more likely that it was the result of a wheat corner.

PEACE AT ANY PRICE.

Democratic orators in the East are making their campaign upon what they call "the one tremendous and unquestionable and unassailable fact, that the United States and Mexico are at peace and not at war." Like the gentleman who was kicked downstairs by a ruffian, they say "better a contused fundament than a brawl."

WHY SAM OPPOSES HUGHES.

Sam Gompers is out for Wilson. He opposes Hughes because, according to his allegation, he "indorses the abuse of the writ of injunction against which wage earners have vigorously protested, and which they have tried to correct by remedial legislation in order that they might enjoy the rights and opportunities due them." The "rights" aforesaid include a right to picket and boycott and if necessary dynamite the places of business of employers and the "opportunities" are opportunities to beat and maim becoming workmen who take the places of strikers. The writ of injunction discourages strikes and the discouragement of strikes lessens the graft of Sam on the wages of union labor.

Rinse those tears.

PINCHOT AGAINS LANE.

Secretary Franklin K. Lane will be esteemed by California Republicans as well as Democrats because of his having incurred the hostility of Gifford Pinchot, who has been exceedingly anxious to prevent the development of any more oil lands the product of which would compete with Standard Oil. Pinchot gives as a reason for conserving oil lands that the oil will be needed fifty or one hundred years hence for the use of the navy. It will be remembered that Pinchot opposed the development of coal lands in Alaska, assigning as a reason that the coal would be needed by the great-grandchildren of the present generation, and he did not silence his yawp to that effect until it was shown that Alaska coal would come in competition with coal mined by the Pocahontas Coal Company, of which Pinchot was the agent.

A MERCY ON TROUSERS.

We all remember the story about the gentleman who nailed his trousers to the parlor wall as an indication of who ruled in that house. But trousers are fast becoming effeminate. In Prussia the women railway guards and conductors have been ordered to wear trousers, the ordinary service uniform of dark gray, but the trousers rather wide. Female attire must be strictly relegated to off-duty hours. On the Berlin elevated railway the women have worn knickerbockers for some time, but they, too, have now been ordered to wear long trousers, these being more feminine.

There is small comfort in the fact that knickerbockers are still reserved for masculinity. One knows very well that these trousers will become shorter and shorter as fashion decrees. When this sort of thing emanates from Germany, the Fatherland, the stronghold of masculinity, the country of countries in which femininity was still properly associated with cookbooks, babies, and respected subjection, what hope for us is there in the United States, with President-apparent Hughes indorsing the Susan B. Anthony amendment?

FORETOLD BY "THE TIMES."

With a $20,000,000 crop depending on water from the Colorado River delivered through the canals of their recently acquired irrigation system, the people of Imperial Valley are forced to rely on a governing board split in two by political bickering and dissension, and against four members of which recall petitions are being circulated.

It is really to be regretted that the wonderfully rich southern county in the year of her greatest agricultural triumph, when the promise of wealth to be taken from the soil looms bigger and brighter than was presented to the vision of any community on earth, should be obliged to face as nasty a political quarrel as this one threatens to be. The situation, however, should not be a surprise to the people of the valley. They had full and fair warning two years ago or more when the purchase of the system with its involved affairs and liabilities and then in the hands of a receiver was proposed.

Level headed residents of the valley refused to be swept away by the movement and advised further and more careful consideration. The Times believed the purchase at that time, and under the circumstances that existed, was hasty, ill considered and ill advised and said so. The Times, mindful of the best interests of the valley and with the utmost friendliness, warned the people of the valley on several occasions and clearly pointed out the dangers. It specifically foretold the exact conditions that now unfortunately exist, believing that a slower and more careful procedure would ultimately deliver the system into the hands of the people under conditions which they could better meet and would give them an opportunity to avoid some of the pitfalls into which they have fallen.

Politics entered into the administration of the affairs of the district soon after it was taken over from the receiver and settlement made with the Southern Pacific and other creditors. A recall against President Walter O. Hamilton was defeated last fall, but the election failed to clarify the situation. Many of the mutual water companies are at loggerheads with the irrigation district board. The Banking Association passed resolutions asking all five directors to resign, although the attitude of two of the members was not criticised.

Now recall petitions are out against President Hamilton, C. W. Brockman and John D. Bennett, all of whom recently issued a statement refusing to resign. As a counter move, friends of the so-called "solid three" are seeking to recall J. Arthur McBride, one of the members approved by the Bankers' Association and some of the mutual water companies. M. W. Conkling, attorney for the district, is also under fire and in some quarters criticisms are being directed against the chief engineer and manager, C. R. Rockwood.

Whether any or all of the recall petitions succeed or fail the ranchers fear the situation will still be disturbed by politics and further bickering. Problems which should have been studied, mastered and prepared for in advance must now be confronted amidst political chaos. That men of unquestioned ability and integrity and with an adequate sense of responsibility to the people and their interests can be found and elected promptly seems to be a forlorn hope, but one to which the ranchers must stick and a result for which they must earnestly strive.

Fortunately, an exceptionally high run of water, with the aid of the belated check in the Colorado just below the intake, appears to have averted all danger of a shortage this year. The main canal is carrying more than 5000 second feet of water and the only difficulty is in the sufficiently rapid delivery of water to ranches through silted canals in some localities. Imperial Valley's crop is the biggest, best and most valuable ever raised there. Next year's crop will be even bigger. Water is the vital element, and the problem of its delivery should be attacked promptly, carefully and effectively, so a recurrence of the recent conditions will be impossible, and the Imperial Valley rancher can devote his time and attention exclusively to producing more per acre than the less favored farmers of other regions can possibly hope to do.

Imperial Valley's production this year is enormous. The cotton crop is valued at $7,000,000 and the yield per acre the greatest ever attained in the United States. Hogs and alfalfa are bringing good prices. The grain crop brought good returns. Cantaloupes brought close to $4,000,000. Shipments of early vegetables in carload lots far exceeded those of any previous year and the money returns were big. More intensive farming and improved methods have richly rewarded the ranchers. Truly, such a tremendous crop is too valuable to play with or to be handicapped by silly politics.

THE PUBLIC THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST.

There are three parties to the present railroad controversy: the corporations, which are entitled to reasonable profits; the engineers, conductors and firemen, who are entitled to just compensation, and the public, which is entitled to have the carrying business of the country—which business is vital to its safety and comfort—conducted without interruption.

The corporations threaten a lockout rather than submit to the demands of their employees for increased pay. The employees threaten a strike and a tie-up unless their demands for increased pay are granted. But the third party in interest—the industrial, commercial and consuming public—which is the most interested and most important of the three, never indulges in a strike or a tie-up, or threatens any proceeding that may affect the comfort or prosperity of the other two. The Boston Monitor says editorially: "The public is the one partner in the firm that manifests the virtue of long suffering. It puts up with inconvenience and imposition, patiently and habitually, rather than that the other two should suffer the consequences of their own shortcomings and offenses. This, doubtless, accounts for the fact that but little attention is paid to it when the other two have a score to settle between themselves, and at the expense of their usually silent partner. When corporations and employees in immediate control of the carrying business of the nation, or of one of its important communities, disagree as to wages or hours of labor, or with regard to any other point upon which a strike or a lockout may hinge, they give thought to the public's concern in the controversy not at the beginning, as they should, but at the end."

It is in the power of the railroad employees to paralyze the industries of the nation, and they and their employers, in trying to effect a compromise, seem to proceed upon the theory that the questions arising between them have concern only for themselves, even when final disagreement on those questions may have consequences of the most serious import to the entire nation.

Congress attempted by the passage of the Newlands act to safeguard the interests of both capital and labor by promoting arbitration and conciliation. But the act fails of effectiveness because it does not go far enough. It does not touch the root of the matter. It does not make strikes and lockouts in public service corporations as intolerable as would be mutiny in the army or navy, or rebellion among the people whenever a wrong is to righted.

One of these days the American people will drop minor issues and give their attention to electing Congressmen who will neither grovel at the feet of Gompers nor take orders from Wall Street speculators—God send the day!

OUTLAWING A NATION.

Elihu Root in a letter to Dr. Drago, the eminent Argentine international jurist, says that the only way to prevent the continual recurrence of war, with all its evils, is to insist upon the observance of the rules of conduct called international law, and to impose as a penalty for the violation of them the general condemnation of mankind with such consequences as naturally follow that condemnation.

Mr. Root does not indicate what those consequences should be, but it will suggest itself to many that the most effective punishment of a nation would be to outlaw it, to send no diplomatic representatives to it, receive none from it, deny access of its ships to all ports, to hold no commercial intercourse with it, neither buy of it nor sell to it.

How'd You Like to Be the Mayor?

INCONSISTENT MR. WILSON.

Temperamentally, Mr. Wilson is an opportunist and cares little for consistency so long as his latest position on a question promises advantage or victory. He shifts so frequently and so violently that he evidently believes his kaleidoscopic changes will not long be remembered either in this country or abroad. He has been an opponent of all preparedness one year and a few months later an advocate of the greatest navy in the world for the United States. With the campaign approaching, Mr. Wilson, having in mind the possible advantage it might be to him to have a hand in the settlement of the great European war, proclaimed himself in his speech to the League to Enforce Peace an advocate of a policy whereby a universal association of nations is to be created and of such an association he said: "I am sure that I speak the mind and the wish of the people of America when I say that the United States is willing to become a partner in any feasible association of nations, designed to maintain universal peace." He indicated willingness to play a leading role in the formation of such a partnership of nations and in the guidance of its affairs.

Before he realized the political capital to be made out of leadership in a great peace movement Mr. Wilson had delivered ten days earlier a speech to the National Press Club in which he said the European nations are all "mad" and that they cannot be held to "ordinary standards of responsibility," hardly a diplomatic remark for a man aspiring to take the leading role in a partnership of nations.

In his message to Congress, December, 1914, Mr. Wilson declared the European struggle was "a war with which we had nothing to do and whose causes cannot affect us." He repeated this idea in his speech to the press club when he again said that "Americans have nothing to do with the recent quarrel." Before he regarded leadership in a great peace partnership as a political asset, Mr. Wilson took pains to incur the contempt and dislike of the warring nations, calling them "mad" and "irresponsible" nations, and now he would lead them to peace. Such diplomacy ("save the mark") is entirely characteristic of the Wilson administration. It has neither convictions nor fixed ideals. On every important policy its leader has shifted like the winds of the desert. Political expediency has been its only goal and inconsistency its sole unfailing attribute. Mr. Wilson should take home the injunction, "the great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is in extending our commercial relations to have with them as little political connection as possible." These words of George Washington may not be new, but they are at least preferable to the persistent shiftiness and inconsistency of Woodrow Wilson.

WHAT IS A REASONABLE DOUBT?

The Massachusetts Bar Association recently held a meeting at Barnstable, the birthplace of Lemuel Shaw—who from 1830 to 1860 was Chief Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court—to celebrate the birthday of that distinguished jurist who was "a potent factor in settling the currents of legal thought and judicial decision throughout the Union." The personal appearance of Chief Justice Shaw was not prepossessing. So much so that at a lawyers' banquet Rufus Choate said of him: "We regard him as the East Indian does his idol. He knows that he is ugly, but he feels that he is great." Chief Justice Rugg said of him: "He administered justice according to law. His character was pure and strong. His conduct commanded the confidence of the people of the commonwealth. His interpretation of the law satisfied his contemporaries. The soundness of the reasoning upon which his decisions were founded has in general convinced two generations of American courts and lawyers. Shaw has done for the common law of the country what Marshall has done for constitutional law."

To this day Judge Shaw's definition of a "reasonable doubt" has never been bettered and is given daily by courts in criminal cases as an instruction to juries. He said: "It is not mere possible doubt; because everything relating to human affairs, and depending on moral evidence is open to some possible or imaginary doubt. It is that state of the case which, after the entire comparison and consideration of all the evidence, leaves the minds of jurors in that condition that they cannot say they feel an abiding conviction, to a moral certainty, of the truth of the charge."

Wife Hard to Suit.

[Kansas City Star:] The Neodasha Sun found this story in an Oregon paper. A man went into a business house and stated that his wife had made up her mind to go back to western Kansas. "Back there," he explained, "she used to sit around and sigh for a tubful of good, soft rainwater in which to wash the clothes, and it became so tiresome I moved to Oregon. We have been here two months and now she has all the rainwater she can use and wants to move back to Kansas to get the clothes dried."

STREAKS OF WIT.

Victim of Uncertainties.

[Judge:] Gertrude: I don't see how you can give your consent to marry Horace, my dear, when you are not sure you love him.

Mildred: Oh, you don't understand. You see, Gertie, I'm giving Horace the benefit of the doubt. I'm not sure I don't love him.

Easily Solved.

[Chicago Journal:] "Professor, I have made some money and I want to do something for my old college. I don't remember what studies I excelled in, if any."

"Um. Well, I'll endow a dormitory."

A Vociferous One.

"True, but it has its limitations. They haven't invented one yet that will take a hurdle or a water jump."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

FAT AND LEAN.

In August heat is at its worst; the sun roasts on, with zeal accurst; all brown and wilted is the grass, the sky looks like a sheet of brass. Oh, August always hits me hard, for I am well equipped with lard; I scored 200 in the shade, when last I had my person weighed. And as I sizzle in the warmth, I wish I had a slender formth. My neighbor, Wilkins, has no fat; he's lean and limber as a cat, and in the burning August days, serene and cool he goes his ways; no wilted collar on his neck, he likes to see the heat on deck. He doesn't have to mop a brow that drizzles sweat, as I do now. I envy him his lanky shape, but from my fat there's no escape. And, as I envy, comes a thought with hope and consolation fraught. Full soon the wintry winds will blow; there'll be all kinds of ice and snow, and then, while freezing Wilkins shakes, the fat man who in August bakes, will calmly view the bitter storm, by his own store of grease keep warm. Thus things are balanced on this earth, and, reconciled to ample girth, I tell the sun to go ahead, and paint the solar system red.

WALT MASON.

Why Worry?

[Roy K. Moulton in Topeka State Journal:] Leave it to the bewhiskered old boys of science, they of the square spectacles and ear muffs, and this world will be pulled through its rather precarious existence. Some time ago somebody who needed the money wrote an alarmist article for a magazine, stating that in a very short time, in fact, within eight or nine million years, the earth's food supply would be entirely exhausted.

That set all the scientists going like gyroscopes, and in the dizzy whirl of investigation some very interesting things came to light. It was up to the scientists to find something for the people to eat eight or nine million years hence. It was not wholly a new problem. Scientists long ago evolved the scheme of sawing up timber into breakfast food and said that a man could go forth with a bucksaw and get enough sawdust out of a fence rail to keep himself and his family supplied for some time.

One learned scientist thinks that he has solved the problem for all time. He says that the nut trees could, in a pinch, supply food for the entire world.

This knotty question has become a nutty question, and one which he has apparently solved. Those who are on earth now should be of good cheer; they will not have to starve eight million years hence.

[Facts and Fancies:] He: How did you come out financially with your entertainment for the Old Ladies' Home? She: The old ladies owe us $50.

[Detroit Free Press:] "He said if he could put anything in my way he'd gladly do it." "You bet he will; he's the champion obstructionist of the age."

HUGHES ON WOMEN.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

This thing that President-apparent Hughes has done in indorsing nation-wide suffrage for women is about the pluckiest and most significant stand that a candidate for the chief executive position of a great power could have taken. The Kaiser himself, secure in his job, would scarcely have dared make so amazing a declaration. King George would have shuddered at the idea; Premier Asquith would certainly have regarded it as his death knell, and even the autocratic Czar of all the Russias would have considered he was making himself ridiculous by even considering such a proposition.

When the conventions were being held and the women were reported as forlorn marchers in the Chicago rain, facetious editorials appeared in many of the big European newspapers, particularly the English ones, couched in evident amusement, in which it was declared that really, you know, the women could scarcely expect any political party to commit suicide by indorsing such a sweeping and controversial amendment to the Constitution.

Yet Mr. Hughes, with or without the hearty indorsement of his party, lost no time in making the straightforward announcement in which he proved that he not only respected women, but, amazing thing, he believed in them and trusted them as well. That, in face of the recent verdict of New York State, was carrying respect to the ultimate limits.

President Wilson said he believed in woman's suffrage, but he wasn't prepared to do anything. Yet he, who is so proud of his virtuous administration, so sure of his unqualified right to re-election, did not feel that he was quite strong enough to act on his opinions. That required something altogether too decisive. But Candidate Hughes, with the evidence of New York State still violently fresh in memory, obviously felt that a strong, logical, reasonable opinion was worth public backing. At the risk of alienating the pro-Adamite anti-vote which respects women so much that it does not feel them competent to record a sensible opinion at the polls, he had the temerity to address the women as fellow citizens, and declare that the nation needed the co-operation of their intelligence and capacity.

British editorials are reluctantly admitting that, since women have proved so amazingly capable in the war, it is conceivable that in some distant future, at least some of them might be enfranchised. European women are having to prove their eligibility by suffering and incredible endurance, even as the knights of old submitted themselves to tortures to prove their worthiness of their lady's love.

But we women of America are called upon to offer no such painful evidence of our capacity. Mr. Hughes has not declared that we must wait until some great national crisis gives us an opportunity to show our metal; that, while he is quite sure many of us are nice, intelligent little things and he is quite prepared to record his single vote in our favor, he feels that it is up to us to win justice piecemeal, State by State, with continuous and wasteful agitation through the remote years to come—no! He prefers to take it for granted that we are first-class, capable, loyal Americans who stand ready to do anything that is demanded of us, and therefore entitled to participate in the selection of the administration which will be responsible for our test of endurance when it comes.

Considering what a tremendous stand he has taken, in the face of prejudice and tradition, it is curious that women generally have accepted the splendid indorsement with so little surprise. Somehow, women seemed to take it for granted that Hughes would be a man strong in his convictions and that justice should come through his hands seemed too natural for amazement. This is an interesting sign of the times, for amazement has been reserved for President Wilson's quibbling on the subject. Even the most ardent of Democratic women feel that Wilson has committed political suicide by his vacillation. It would seem that in spite of all the evidence they confidently expected their idol to see the light before it was too late. They coveted that glory for him, the glory of being the first executive of a great power to concede an obvious right to the nation's "better half."

It is amusing to hear the lonely antis now declaring that they will have to vote for Wilson in November. Small comfort will it bring the President to know that at least the women-haters were true to him. "A VOTE FOR WILSON IS A VOTE AGAINST WOMEN" does not sound exactly gallant and it is a political cry that few men would care to run under.

The trouble with Wilson on this women's question is that he has been that most irksome and unsatisfying of creatures, a lukewarm friend. Polite but indifferent. A straightforward, frankly hostile enemy is greatly preferred—you know where you stand with him. Wilson has carried neutrality a bit too far. It was all very well in his conduct towards the warring nations, but it lacks glamor when applied to a burning internal question dear to the heart of half of the population. Crumbs of comfort are maddening, they merely prolong the agony of starvation.

"A VOTE FOR HUGHES MEANS A VOTE FOR WOMEN."

May Receive a Note.

[Baltimore American:] The captain of the British cruiser which made an impolitic visit into American waters no doubt took his cue from the fact that his government seems able to ignore American rights with impunity.

Wilson Wears High Arches.

[St. Louis Globe Democrat:] Flatfootedness in the army is not wanted, but a little more flatfootedness at Washington in regard to Mexico would possibly be appreciated in some quarters.

AMERICANS, SWEDES TIE.

STOCKHOLM (via London) Aug. 16.—The first game of football played here today by the American soccer team against all-Stockholm resulted in a draw. Each team scored a goal. King Gustaf V was a member of the large, enthusiastic crowd that saw the contest.

There was no scoring in the first half. In the second half the Americans, after twenty-five minutes' play, made their goal on a pass from Swords, inside right, to Heminsley, center forward. The Swedish team scored a goal ten minutes later. The Americans throughout the game displayed superior aggressiveness.

Before the game started King Gustaf made a speech to the Americans and expressed the hope that they would enjoy their visit.

die, hit one back at Sotheron so fast that it almost tore the latter's hand loose from his wrist. Ward snatched the ball up, but not in time to nail Murphy, or make a play on Boles at second.

Polly McLarry was told not to try and knock the cover clear off the ball. If he knocked only half the cover off it would fill the bill and tie the score.

JUST THE MOTIONS.

Polly cut loose with a three-base foul just outside first. Boles and Murphy tore across the plate, and McLarry around to third, all of them looking as innocent as could be. Their astonishment was something terrible to look at when they were told to go back and try it over again. The ball had landed about six inches foul, and all that the athletes got out of it was going through the motions of winning the game.

After everybody had readjusted themselves, McLarry banged one over second. Capt. Bill Rodgers made a stop worthy of his noble calling, and threw to Ward to force Murphy, doing so a trifle late, it seemed. There seemed to be quite a difference of opinion regarding the decision.

This was most marked between Brashear, who called the runner safe, and McCredie, who arose from the bench on a point of order and galloped out into the thick of the activity. After talking back and forth for some little time it became clear that neither could convince the other of the error of his way, and Brashear finally adjourned McCredie to the clubhouse. With the principal speaker gone the meeting broke up, the Portland delegates returning to their well-known stations.

ONE WHALE OF A WEEK IN SPORTS IS COMING ALONG.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

ON THE calendar this isn't much of a week—just a mild, insipid week in August, neither cold nor hot with foggy mornings.

But in sports it is the banner week of the summer, the biggest and the best since away back in—since the—since, well as far back as one can remember. All the big athletic events seem to have been bundled together. Here they are:

Tonight—Herbert Vollmer and Ted Cann, the famous New York swimmers, will give an exhibition 300-yard swim at the L.A.A.C. Admission free.

Tomorrow night—Danny O'Brien, the Portland boxing wonder, makes his debut at Venice, while the amateur boxing championships open at the exposition in San Diego.

Saturday afternoon—Simpson Sinsabaugh and Winnie Mace play the final match for the Southern California tennis championship at Long Beach. The Far Western track and field championships and the finals in the boxing championships will be held at San Diego.

Sunday at high noon—Ludy Langer, Herbert Vollmer, Ted Cann, Norman Ross, Elliott Burns and Jerry Witt—the greatest long distance swimmers in America—will swim in the national mile championship at Ocean Park.

Who said this was a dead summer athletically?

SWIMMING.

Herbert Vollmer and Ted Cann of New York arrived in this city yesterday to compete against Champion Ludy Langer in the mile swim at Ocean Park, Sunday. They immediately were taken to the L.A.A.C. by Les Henry.

Being obliging chaps they consented to swim an exhibition 300 yards at the club meet tomorrow night. Herbert Vollmer has been called the greatest talk swimmeh in the world. He beat the great Duke at 100 and 220 yards. Ludy Langer won from him in the 440 at New York. That race was not held in a tank. Anybody interesting in swimming would do well to drop up to the club and see this long and lanky marvel in action against chunky Ted Cann.

In addition to this feature race there will be races between the club swimmers. Aileen Allen, the woman champion, and her mermaids will dive, while Billy Williams, the national man's champion, will compete against such divers as Billy Gilbert, Clyde Swendson and Gene Fields.

Vollmer and Cann took a few turns in the club tank yesterday. They have not the grace and ease of Ludy Langer in the water, but they have powerful strokes and grit. This morning they will take their first swim in the Pacific and try out the course at Ocean Park. Vance Veith will introduce them to the surf.

BOXING.

The amateur boxing bouts begin tomorrow night at the exposition. Practically every good boxer on the Coast is entered. Charley Barker, the local 133-pound champion, is one of the very few who will not compete. He sprained his back. But all the Olympic, Multnomah, Seattle boxers will be present.

Tomorrow night at the Venice auditorium, Danny O'Brien will make his first appearance as a boxer in the south. He is matched against Louis Reese, the trial horse. O'Brien comes with a reputation as a slugger and boxer and a list of knockouts a mile long.

Bud Anderson is the biggest feather in his cap. Before Anderson came to this city the first time, he fought O'Brien. At the end of the third round he went down and did not get up. Another victim of O'Brien's is Ralph Gruman. At present Gruman is cutting a wide swath in the East. So it looks like O'Brien is there. Dick Donald, who is promoting the match, has a programme of special interest.

TENNIS.

The final tennis match on the Hotel Virginia courts Saturday between Simpson Sinsabaugh and Winnie Mace ought to be a brilliant one. It is for the Southern California championship. Mace will make the trophy his for keeps if he wins. He already has two legs on it.

This match was started two weeks ago and halted because of darkness. At the time each had won a set and the score was four-all in the third. The whole match will be played over.

Simpson Sinsabaugh was the surprise of the tournament. His comeback was extremely sensational. Everybody thought that he had reached the mixed doubles age. But at the Hotel Virginia he was irresistible. He drove and placed and smashed his way to the finals. Youngster after youngster he beat, eliminating many who really thought that the cup belonged to them.

Another match has been arranged to go with this. The winners of the senior doubles and the winners of the junior doubles will meet in an exhibition. The seniors are Nat Browne and Jack Duncan; the juniors, Frank Winnie and Harvey Snodgrass of Manual Arts.

TRACK AND FIELD.

On the same afternoon the Far Western track and field meet will take place in San Diego. All of the famous Pacific Coast runners from the Canadian to the Mexican bor-

Chicago Men Throw a Scare into the East.

LAKE FOREST (Ill.) Aug. 16.—Maurice E. McLoughlin and Ward Dawson, Los Angeles, Pacific Coast champions, will meet the eastern title holders, George M. Church of Tenafly, N. J., and Willis E. Davis of San Francisco, here tomorrow in the final match of the national lawn tennis championship preliminaries for the right to play William Johnston and Clarence Griffin of California, August 28, for the national doubles title in New York.

McLoughlin and Dawson won a rather listless match from the southern champions, Lew Hardy and Nat Emerson of Memphis, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

The first set was lifeless and full of errors, mainly by the westerners, who drove thirty-four points out and into the net.

In the second set McLoughlin and Dawson continued their faulty play, but the southerners were worse and the Pacific Coast players did not need to extend themselves. Dawson had several double faults which he made on driving placements.

In the third set McLoughlin and Dawson took three games in a row, dropped a couple on McLoughlin's outs, then see-sawed until it was 4-all. Both started playing tennis then and the southerners had no more chances.

McLoughlin-Dawson	5	0	5	4	4	7	1	1	4	5	8	1	6	4	4	—43—6
Hardy-Emerson	3	4	0	1	2	0	4	4	2	7	4	2	0	2	—40—4

McLoughlin-Dawson	5	0	4	4	4	1	1	4	8	1	6	4	4	2	0	2—49—6
Hardy-Emerson	3	4	0	1	2	4	4	2	7	4	2	0	2	4	1	0—38—1

Third set:

McLoughlin-Dawson	4	4	4	1	2	5	4	1	2	5	4	4	1	2	5	4—52—6
Hardy-Emerson	2	1	1	4	4	7	1	4	4	7	1	1	4	4	7	1—57—4

The big feature match, however, was that between the East and the West, the latter represented by Walter T. Hayes and Ralph Burdick of Chicago, the easterners winning, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

It appeared to be a walkaway for the Chicago men in the first two sets, but starting the third, Davis put his bullet-like service to work and used the same terrific drive in returns. It was all East after that, for despite their careful playing, Hayes and Burdick could not get started.

Davis won the fourth set when he started for the first time in a bullet service and to place correctly his drives, the match being evened up when the easterners won 6-3. Davis had five aces to his credit. The Chicagoans were wild on their returns of the Davis-Church smashes.

Pop Geers Drives Napoleon Direct Under Two Minutes for Mile—Peter Stevens also Makes Good Time—Miss Harris M. Fails to Lower Time.

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 16.—Free-for-all pacing of the Columbus Grand Circuit meeting this afternoon produced the fastest racing time of the year. In the first heat Napoleon Direct won in 1:59¾, with Peter Stevens, the second horse, doing his mile in 2 minutes flat. It was the first time in a driving career of forty-five years that Edward Geers ever drove a mile in better than two minutes. In the next heat the pace was slower through the first half, and Napoleon Direct was four lengths back at the far turn. He closed with a wonderful rush and finished a head in front of Single G. Separate timing caught Napoleon Direct the last half in 56½ seconds.

In a time trial Directum I became the world's champion pacer for 1 1-6 miles. The old record was 2:14¾, made in 1904 by Ceery Lass. Off to a slow start, Directum I did the distance in 2:09¾. The mile was paced in 2:00¼.

Miss Harris M., the champion 4-year-old pacing mare, failed in an effort to lower her mark of 2:01¼. She was tired when the final quarter was commenced and finished the mile in 2:02.

Napoleon Direct was one of three winning favorites. In the 2:09 pace, second choice, Beth Clark, won the first two heats. Thereafter, Baby Bertha, highest in public favor, was in command and took the next three heats. The Eno, as expected, won the 2:11 trot in straight heats. In the first one he was but a head in front of McCloskey and cut his record to 2:06¾ in keeping clear of the field in the second mile. Early Don, Valentine's first winner of the meeting, captured all three heats of the Devereaux stake, for which Brisac of the Murphy stable was favored. Early Don equaled his record, 2:06¼, in the first heat, and was not so hard-pressed in either of the next two.

Aug. 16.—Breaking the course record of the Blue Mound Country Club with a score of sixty-seven strokes, five under par, James Barnes of Philadelphia today led a large field with a total of 137 in a special 36-hole match preliminary to the western open golf championship, which will begin tomorrow.

Ninety-eight golfers, including a few amateurs, will start tomorrow in the 72-hole contest for the western open hole title now held by Tom McNamara of New York City, who will not defend his laurels.

ROBERTS IS A SENSATION.

COMES NEAR BEATING GREAT NORRIS WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 16.—It was Roland Roberts, the stripling from the shores of the Pacific, who provided the thrills today in the annual Casino invitation tennis tournament, when pitted against R. Norris Williams II. Playing with splendid speed of stroke and a fleetness of foot that enabled him to cover every portion of his court, Roberts fought the former national champion to a standstill, only to lose in the end by a score of 3-6, 6-1, 7-5, 4-6, 7-5.

The California youth's service proved a powerful weapon of offense and half a dozen times at least he sent the ball catapulting into Williams's court with such tremendous speed that the Philadelphian only fanned thin air as he swung his racquet at the streak of white.

Roberts also uncovered a remarkably swift forehand drive, a stroke that he takes almost shoulder-high and then puts the full weight of his body into. Only the drive of Champion Johnston carries more speed and sting, and Williams, after testing it several times, was careful to play to the dashing Californian's back-hand. Anything to escape the terrific driving power of Roberts's right-hand ground strokes seemed to be the former champion's motto.

For a time in the fifth set it looked as though it might be anybody's match. Roberts had covered the court so tirelessly in going after Williams's well-placed shots that he was beginning to slow up noticeably in his footing, although his strokes lacked little of their former strength.

Williams, too, gave evidence of the severe pace maintained from beginning to end, and in the ninth game of the final set, in going after one of his opponent's drives down the sidelines, tripped and fell heavily to the ground. The fall shook him up considerably and he dropped the game to the Californian after the points had gone to deuce three times.

Those watching the struggle thought then that Williams was doomed to defeat, but the champion of 1914 came back with a rush and took the next three games for the set and match. He had escaped defeat by a narrow margin.

William M. Johnston, national champion, who is the logical man to fight it out with Williams in the final round, had no trouble in taking the measure of Richard Harte of Harvard at 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. The little Californian was at no time extended, hammering his points out in decisive manner whenever he determined to finish the rallies. Most of his play was in back court, from which position he sent his great forehand drives deep into the opposite court. It was only when he batted out Harte's defense and sent the latter back toward the base line that the champion would make his bid for the net position, to win the points on splendidly-played volleying shots across the court.

Maurice McLoughlin, "Comet" of the Coast, failed to show up, being busy in the elimination doubles in Chicago, and was defaulted. Carey Morgan gaining the bracket, and he, in turn, defaulted to Douglass Watters of New Orleans, who has so far played only one match.

Clarence J. Griffin, one of the two Californians remaining in the tourney, vanquished the tall G. Colket Caner of Harvard by the score of 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, and tomorrow will once more try the issue with Williams.

Third round: W. M. Johnston (San Francisco) defeated Richard Harte (Harvard,) 6-4, 6-3, 6-3; D. S. Watters (New Orleans) defeated Carey Morgan (New York) by de-

YALE ELEVEN INVITED HERE.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW HAVEN, April 16.—The Yale football eleven was invited today to play a post-season against the University of Washington at Pasadena, Cal., on December 29. The invitation has the strong support of the Yale Alumni Association of Southern California.

The matter will not be decided before September 6, when Tad Jones and Capt. Black will start the fall practice. The game is planned to be a feature of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses and would require the Yale team to keep in training for about a month after the Yale-Harvard game.

World's Championship Pennant on Exhibition.

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The Red Sox increased their lead in the pennant race today by winning two hard-fought battles with Chicago. The first went sixteen innings, 5 to 4. The second game was called after five and a half innings on account of darkness, with the score 2 to 1.

Every able member of the Red Sox team, with the exception of Carrigan and Gregg, was pressed into service for the first game, either as pinch hitters, runners or fielders. It was a gruelling contest throughout and was marked by numerous sensational plays. In this game Chicago obtained sixteen hits off three Boston pitchers against eleven for the Red Sox off an equal number of Chicago slabmen. In the sixteenth inning Hooper was passed after two men were down. He stole second and scored when McMullen made a bad throw to first on Barry's grounder.

Boston scored its two runs in the fourth inning of the second game on singles by Hooper, Lewis and Gardner. Chicago scored its run in the sixth on two singles and Jackson's double. With two out and men on third and second, Foster was taken from the box and Leonard substituted. Von Kolnitz was sent to bat for Fournier and struck out.

The attendance was over 25,000, the largest of the season. Between the games the world's championship pennant was raised with ceremonies. The scores:

INDIANS TROUNCED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—New York won an easy victory from Cleveland in the first game of a series here today, 5 to 3. The Yankees scored five runs in the first inning, profiting largely by Gould's wildness. The young pitcher walked the first three men up, after which Pipp and Baumann made singles. Klepfer then relieved Gould and Miller singled, sending in two more runs. Russel was wild, but pitched a strong game for New York, allowing only four hits. The score:

CUBS WIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16. — Cincinnati played a ragged game today and Chicago won, 5 to 0. While there were six hits made off Hendrix, he never allowed more than one in an inning. Chicago's first two runs were the result of an error in the seventh. Nine men went to bat, three scoring, and three were left on bases in that inning. Zimmerman tried to steal home in the second inning. He was called out by Umpire Harrison, made a vigorous complaint and was finally put out of the game. The score:

HI JASPER IS AGAIN ANGEL.

JUMPER TURNED BACK BY THE CARDINALS.

Eccentric Player is a Remarkable Pitcher Who Seems Unbeatable in Minor League Company. His Odd Game and Disappearance of Last Season Famous.

The Los Angeles pitching staff is to be strengthened by the addition of Hi Jasper, fresh from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Manager Chance and Secretary Weber received a wire yesterday that Jasper had been turned over to the Angels as part of the deal by which Horstman goes to the Cards next season.

Jasper always has shown himself to be a great minor league pitcher, but never seemed to be entirely successful in the majors. He first attracted local attention when he was brought to the Coast by the White Sox three years ago. On that excursion he made both the Los Angeles and Vernon clubs look sick.

About this time last season the White Sox sold him to the Angels. He pitched one game for the club in San Francisco that was a classic and then disappeared between two days. The next heard from him he was back at his home in St. Louis. Jasper had been told that the White Sox would be compelled to pay his salary whether he played ball or not, and accepting this advice, he decided not to play ball.

Frank Dillon remarked at the time that Jasper, had he remained in the Coast League, would have finished with a pitching percentage of .750. It is believed that Powers will pick up another player or two while in the East.

PROSPECTS GOOD.

According to M. D. Sedam, who is staying at Andrews camp in the high Sierras, the fishing is excellent and prospects for deer hunting are good. The trout there are large and all varieties are being caught.

Weird Ending.

nessed here for a quarter of a dollar with ladies looking on free. Instead of trying to knock the spots out of Sothoron, Chance decided on a campaign of passivity. That is, he instructed the Angels to remain passive while Sothoron provided the passes. Those who are familiar with politics knew that the hour had struck for a pinch hitter. A lot of people yelled for Chance to go in and clean the bases.

The P. L. had his own ideas about the matter. In place of himself he picked Joe Jackson, Jr. Joe isn't a regular devil with the bat. Rather, he was picked because of his stature. At the plate Jackson looms up about like a duck pin at the far end of the alley and is hard to pitch to. This fact preyed on Sothoron's mind and the more he thought about it the harder it looked to him to keep from forcing in the tieing run.

"DON'T SWING."

Jackson had orders not to swing at the ball, but just stick around and let Sothoron do the work. He remembered his teachings. Finally the count stood two and two. Then the Portland pitcher served up two which broke wide. Boles trotted home. By this time the ball felt like a pie pumpkin in the hands of the visiting pitcher and he seemed utterly unable to control it. He served three straight balls to Maggert. He found the groove and the next two were strikes, although one of them did appear to be about six inches shy of the plate.

With everything depending on the next pitch, and Sothoron's tongue hanging out, he sent up one which was a ball and received recognition as such. Red Held waved Mag to first with an official wave of the hand, Murphy trotted home, and Sothoron, to cover his embarrassment, spit out a large wad of gum into the palm of his hand and then threw the wad high in the air. Plainly he was tired of throwing at the plate.

EXCITED GUY.

At the conclusion of the game a guy with his hat off, his hair sticking straight up, his eyes rolling around like a couple of pin wheels, and his jaws snapping, jumped down out of the bleachers and delivered a stump speech in the presence of Mr. Brashear. Whether he was protesting the late decision or simply was a Bull Moose orator boosting Hire'm for the United States Senate could not be ascertained. He probably was the latter, as there was no head nor tail to his remarks, which is the present condition of the Bull Moose.

In the third Portland was turned back runless after getting men on second and third. Oscar was forced to pitch himself out of a base-full proposition with nobody down in the seventh, and he did so, thanks to some able assistance from Galloway.

EXPIRING.

Koerner doubled in the second and reached third with one out, only to expire there. Boles had the same experience when he doubled in the fourth, Roche picking two foul balls off the netting.

Chance resorted to two pinch hitters in the seventh, which shows how eager he was to win. Galloway beat out a drive to Guisto and Boles sacrificed. Murphy whiffed. Ryan, batting for Butler, was purposely passed. Scoggy went in to run for Johnny, but was not required to extend himself. Bassler, substituting for Oscar, went out on a nifty assist by Ward. OLD OTTO HESS IS EFFECTIVE.

BUMBLE BEES EAT OUT OF HIS WRINKLED HAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) Aug. 16.—Old man Otto Hess did not need a great deal of assistance in trimming the Bees this afternoon. His pitching and his hitting alone were enough to turn the trick. It didn't make any difference whether Otto heaved them underhanded, sidearm or overhanded, Salt Lake clouters all looked alike to the veteran southpaw. Bunny Brief managed to hook one and souze it out of the park for his twenty-second homer of the season and Johnny Kane scored the other run on a scratch double and a Grigg's hit. The final count for Otto was 5 to 2.

Opposed to Otto was Bert Hall of jerk-ball fame. Bert looked like a million dollars for five innings, but from there on in he was out of luck. The Hampats leaned on him especially hard in the sixth and ninth.

The Tigers accepted one in the first frame as a gift. Bill Orr kicked Daley's grounder and Risberg hit him in with a stingy double on which Orr, Ryan and Quinlan did the Alphonse-Gaston act.

Everything went along swimmingly and the contest bore all the earmarks of a real ball game until the Bengal outfield went crazy in the sixth. Old Otto started the doings with a single and Daley walked. Otto took a long lead off, forgot himself and began to view the mountain scenery while Hanna heaved him out. Daley promptly stole second, however, while Hall was sound asleep and fondling the ball. Gleichmann flew out to left, but Risberg whanged one for a single, scoring Daley. Bates hit one into the air which dropped safely while Brief, Rath and Shinn looked on, and then Griggs sent a screeching double to right, scoring what was left on the sacks.

Bunny Brief got his daily homer in the sixth and gave the Bees their first marker. Johnny Kane opened the seventh with a double, moved to third when Griggs dropped Hannah's fly, and scored on Hall's out at first.

Salt Lake fans began to believe that there might be a chance to catch that two-run lead, but the Tigers added insult to injury in their half of the ninth. McGaffigan singled. Whaling beat out a similar swat to third and Otto registered McGaffigan with his third hit of the day. Daley flew out to Brief. Gleichmann hit to Brief, who nailed Whaling at the plate. Risberg walked and all scored on Bates's single to left. The score:

Surplus Critical Railway Situation and Pessimism Over Crop Outlook Wall Street Trading Yesterday was the Largest on Upswing of Any Session Thus Far this Month—Heavy Dealings in French Securities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Disregarding the deadlock in the railway labor controversy and the inimical opinions reported from the old northwestern agricultural districts, today's market added but few to the most part substantial price accretions of the week. Trading was the largest of any session thus far this month, and comprehended a greater number of issues. There were instances of short covering, but then a moderate inquiry from investment sources. United States Mercantile Marine, common and preferred, Reading, and the coppers, motors and equipments constituted the most active group, on an overturn of 1,000 shares, rose 2¼ to 91¼, their quotation since 1909, when the record price of 94¾. Mexican Petroleum established a new record of 1¼ to 84¾, with new issues for the old and new bonds, the latter shipping issue, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, established a movement at 48¾. Incidentally United States Steel preferred made a new high of the year at a fine distinction, mounting 1¼ on the declaration of the regular quarterly dividends, the other steel and iron shares, the motors, United States Industrial Alcohol and Mexicans. Gross changes in these various issues, however, extended to large part at fractions, ranged from 2 to 4 points, and only amounted to $35,600 shares. Heavy dealings in Anglo-French 5s, as well as the new French 5s, as to position, featured the steady bond market. Total sales, par value, were $4,060,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

QUOTATIONS IN NEW YORK.

Business Page: Citrus Fruits, Butter and Eggs—Current Trade—Local Produce Market.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The first break in the potato market came yesterday when northern sorts were reduced 10 cents a hundred. This is considered the beginning of a gradual decline which will eventually bring about a normal price list. Local spuds are so few that they are no longer worth quoting, and consequently have been dropped from the quotations. Increased receipts and a lessening of the demand from outside States are the reasons given for the lower tuber market.

Grapes are flooding the city, and yesterday jobbers experienced some difficulty in handling the large amounts that began to arrive in Los Angeles early in the morning. Malaga and Muscats were the most numerous, and in order to move them quickly dealers again cut the day's prices. The present quotation for Muscats and Malagas is 90 cents to $1.00 a lug, and black grapes are bringing the lower figures of 60 to 80 cents per lug. Peaches are very firm, especially the clingstone varieties. For the best grade of shipping prices. For wholesalers Wednesday were asking all the way from $1.00 to $1.25 a lug. Bartlett pears are also higher, and for really good stock the buyer has to pay 4 cents a pound. Quinces are rather a drug on the market, and the housewife is overlooking a chance in not picking up the fruit at present prices, especially as the price of sugar has dropped 65 cents a hundred since the first of the month.

Berry prices were given another boost yesterday. Strawberries are now selling for 6 to 9 cents a basket, and blackberries for 4 to 5 cents. There is very little shipping of berries going on now as supplies are too short. It is expected that values will advance much higher for some time to come, and as a matter of fact present prices are prohibitive except for the highest class of hotel trade.

Eggs, butter and cheese were all active on the Produce Exchange yesterday morning. An advance of 1 cent a dozen was registered in the price of case count eggs, and creamery butter was also up a cent a pound. Receipts were fairly comprehensive, and comprised 368 cases of eggs, 86,700 pounds of butter, 1800 pounds of cheese, 4075 sacks of potatoes, 1 sack of beans, 75 sacks of sweet potatoes, 2048 boxes of apples, 1099 boxes of pears, 645 boxes of plums, 139 crates of grapes, and 125 boxes of nectarines.

The Primary Muddle.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] "The Real Issue" is the title of an article constantly appearing in two of the daily papers, that gives to the voters the wrong idea of the question of the direct primary. Among other things it says, "The enemies of government by the people are openly boasting that if they are successful in electing their candidates to the State Legislature they will tear down the political achievements of the past six years. This means the destruction of the direct primary and the return of the political bosses to power, and all the evils of the old convention system."

Who are the "enemies of government by the people?" What are the "political achievements of the past six years" that are in such dire peril?

The direct primary as it now is, is not a direct primary at all, but a mixed-up, most indirect way of electing candidates to office. The original direct primary law was much better, in that voters knew for whom they were voting. Now all sorts of candidates of every complexion are huddled together on the one ballot for the very purpose of destroying "government by the people."

The direct primary originally was intended to allow all voters of each party the opportunity of selecting their party candidates, instead of leaving it to the will of a few self-appointed leaders or bosses of the various parties. Parties are necessary in these United States, and the direct primary in its intent was a good law, allowing as it did an expression of choice by all voters of a party as to who should be candidates in the regular ticket of each respective party. The intention was not to destroy parties or party lines, but to keep them intact. It certainly was a great improvement over the old party primary and party convention. But under the manipulation of the direct primary law which is one of the "achievements of the past six years," the intent and purpose of the real primary law have been changed to suit the aspirations of the political bosses of California—those who have been in power and have ruined to a degree the fair and direct workings of the primary law.

What we want, those of us who believe in parties, is a return to the real direct primary. We want to know whether we are voting for a Republican or a Democrat or some other when we select our candidates for office. We do not wish, most of us, to return to the ancient primary, held often in saloons, nor to the old party conventions, which were too easily manipulated by a few. What we want is the real direct primary, when the candidates for office for each party are kept distinct and by themselves, whether on one big sheet or on each individual party ballot.

This insures to every voter the right to help nominate candidates for office out of his own party. The destruction or partial destruction of parties in California has brought about a state of affairs politically quite as bad as any we ever had under the old primary law.

Let us have the real, honest, direct primary law, and do away with the present muddle.

It has been suggested that as many "intelligent voters are ignorant" about the primary law, because of calling the elections "primary elections," the name for such elections be changed to something which indicates clearly their purpose. Why not call the election "primary election for nominations for general election," or something of that sort, which shows that the primary is solely a nominating election?

FAIR PLAY.

The Georges.

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I heartily concur in all that has been said by German writers on the bestiality and viciousness, and ill-breeding, and ignorance and immorality of those King Georges of England, who not only were a disgrace to England, but a disgrace to manhood. You did right in giving expression to German views in your editorial, "A Teutonic View of Britishers;" but, Mr. Editor, the Georges for which the Huns express so fierce a loathing, and they are quite right in doing so, happen not to have been Englishmen, but Germans, pure and simple, and two of them could not speak the English language. They were all what the Germans say, and no one but a German could describe these German Georges—I, II, IV—so truly and so well, for possibly they are German characteristics.

George III was a lunatic and also vicious, and Americans know something about him.

However, these German Kings of England had sense to realize that their bestiality was offensive to Englishmen, for they all hid away huge sums of money, expecting any day to be kicked out of England, which should have been done.

JOHN HAMILTON.

Neylan, the Humbug.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the Tribune of the 12th inst. appeared an article by John Francis Neylan, chairman of the State Board of Control, in which he extolls the many virtues of Hiram Johnson, and recites a long list of achievements of Hiram as Governor of California. At the head of this list, he says:

"Since Gov. Johnson took office in 1911 the entire burden of maintaining the State government has fallen upon the corporations of California. The individual taxpayer has paid no State taxes—he has paid only city, county and other local taxes. The corporations have been justly taxed."

Constitutional Amendment No. 1, so called, by which the tax system of California was changed from a general ad valorem levy to a percentage of gross revenue of certain public utilities and other forms of taxation for other corporations was adopted by popular vote on November 4, 1910, at the same general election at which Hiram Johnson was first elected Governor of California, and he as candidate at that time, or as Governor since, had nothing to do whatsoever with the origin or passage of the measure. Mr. Neylan did not have quite enough nerve to openly claim the glory of transferring the cost of running the State from the people to the corporations except inferentially, but he utters a bold fallacy when he says that "the individual has paid no State taxes," "only city, county and other local taxes."

Mr. Neylan underestimates the intelligence of the citizens of California if he thinks he can by such silly sophistry convince the people that the corporations, which, as he says, pay the expenses of running the State, are anything more than a tax-collecting agency for Hiram Johnson and his gang. True, the corporations pay the money into the State treasury, but they must first collect it from the people, and every time an individual pays street car or railway fare, an electric light or gas bill, he is contributing .0525 per cent. to the gang that controls State politics. In turn, the corporations pass the amount of taxes paid along to their customers, the people, in the shape of rates sufficiently high to cover the amount.

In an address delivered before a meeting of assessors of incomes, at Madison, Wis., February 10, 1916, Mr. Thomas E. Lyons of the Wisconsin Tax Commission said:

"In every State the entire cost of government, State, county and municipal ultimately falls upon the taxpayers, and they are concerned with the amount of the total burden, not in how it is distributed."

So, if Mr. Neylan in his attempted defense for the 100 per cent. increase in cost of running the State government since we had Hiram Johnson wished on us, thinks he can fool all of the people all of the time he has another guess coming. What we would like to have Mr. Neylan give us is a comparative statement showing the cost per annum of the various State departments, beginning with 1910 to and including 1915, then we could make up our minds as to whether we had or had not paid too dearly for our whistle.

O. B. GILBERT.

Hughes as a Son.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is a resident of Los Angeles who remembers proudly being a member of the Bible class which the good old Baptist minister, who was the father of Charles E. Hughes, conducted at his church back in New York State. The pastor one morning was emphasizing to the class the blessing of sonship, and, quite carried out of himself, spoke of his own son. "He has been a very good son," the elder Hughes said, "and from his boyhood up has never caused me any anxiety." High praise, indeed, but well deserved, as those who knew Charles E. Hughes can testify. Most Presidents of the United States have started in by being particularly good sons; and not the least qualification for that high place of the Republican candidate is the possession of a virtue which is going to endear him to a great many people who believe that the honoring of parents is not likely to be overdone at this stage of American progress.

REPUBLICANS BEAT 'EM ALL.

Arizona People Coming to Hear Standard-bearer.

Big Meeting Planned for the Little Theater Tonight.

The Republican registration in Los Angeles city and county totals 146,634, or more than the combined totals of the Democrats, Progressives and "not-stateds." The official count of the electors who are eligible to vote at the coming primary election was completed yesterday. The count for the several parties follows:

Democrats, 11,940.
Progressives, 46,369.
"Not-stated," 82,659.

That Gov. Johnson and his henchmen were only able to change approximately 11,000 registrations is considered significant. The Progressive candidate for the United States Senate spent about two weeks in the county pleading with the men and women who were registered under the "not-stated" column to re-register and make sure "you are Republicans for this election." There were 94,000 of the "not-stated" class, about 10 per cent. of them obeying the Governor's wishes.

ANXIOUS TO SEE HUGHES.

The coming visit of Charles Evans Hughes to Los Angeles is attracting widespread attention. In addition to every city and hamlet in Southern California it was learned yesterday that many cities outside of the State will be represented at the great mass meeting. Chairman Maddox of the Arizona State Republican Committee sent a telegram to W. W. Mines, vice-chairman of the California State Executive Committee, asking that 100 seats be reserved for the Arizona delegation.

Mr. Mines announced that the list of vice-presidents who will have the honor of sitting on the stage at Shrine Auditorium has not been completed. It will include more than 500 representative men and women, all of whom will be supplied with badges.

Whether the standard bearer will attend church here next Sunday morning has not been definitely decided. He is a member of the Baptist church and has been invited to attend the morning service at both Temple Baptist and the First Baptist churches. Mr. Hughes has not yet indicated which one of the churches he will attend and it is possible that he will go to neither.

Preparations are being made in San Diego to tender Mr. Hughes a monster reception. The exposition grounds will be open to everybody, no charge to be made for admission. The candidate will speak at the organ at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. A luncheon will be given in his honor at the Cristobal at 12 o'clock. The luncheon will be public. Those in charge of the arrangements are John Akerman, W. L. Ward, Judge W. A. Sloane, George W. Marston, E. P. Sample.

ARGUE CASE TODAY.

Attorney Frank P. Doherty will appear with Former Judge Walter Bordwell before the Supreme Court in San Francisco today, when the argument will be made for the purpose of securing a decision that will compel the County Clerk of Orange county to remove the name of Mr. Bordwell from the primary ballot. The consensus of legal opinion throughout the State is that Judge Bordwell alone has the right to determine whether his name goes on the ballot as an opponent of Willis H. Booth, the regular Republican candidate for United States Senator. Judge Bordwell has withdrawn and is actively supporting Mr. Booth and in addition to this, has requested every county clerk in the State to leave his name off the ballot.

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a political meeting in Long Beach is expected at the big mass meeting planned for tonight in honor of Willis H. Booth, the regular Republican candidate for United States Senator. The meeting will be held in the Auditorium and will be called at 8 o'clock.

MEETING FOR BOOTH.

A number of important mass meetings in the interest of Willis H. Booth, the regular Republican candidate for United States Senator, have been planned for tonight.

They are as follows:

Residence of Mrs. J. E. Wilson, Huntington Park, No. 218 East Clarendon street; speaker, Attorney Frank Belcher, 8 o'clock.

Big Crowd is Expected.

Those in charge of the mass meeting to be held tonight at the Little Theater, South Figueroa street, near Pico street, in the interest of the candidacies of Mr. Booth, George W. Prince, candidate for Congress in the Tenth District and Charles Kerr, candidate for the Assembly in the Seventy-fifth District, predict that the pretty playhouse will be crowded to overflowing. Hon. Frank Domingues will speak for Mr. Booth while Mr. Prince will present his own argument. An innovation will be a programme to be given by dramatic artists of Frank Egan's school and singing by performers at Fred Harlow's and the New Turner Hall Cafe. There will be no charge for admission. Among those who have received special invitations are former Illinois residents, friends of Mr. Prince, who came here from that State after serving eighteen years in Congress.

Boyle Heights Meeting.

A large crowd of women attended a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Sacks, No. 2730 Brooklyn avenue, when Mrs. R. W. Richardson, president of the Women's Republican Club; Attorney Belcher and Dudley W. Robinson candidate for State Senator in the Thirty-fifth District, spoke. Mr. Robinson will visit the Cudahy packing-houses this morning.

Brady is Indorsed.

At a meeting held last night in the Rose Hill schoolhouse, the friends and neighbors of E. L. Brady, Republican candidate for member of the Assembly, in the Sixty-ninth District, unanimously indorsed the candidacy of Mr. Brady; and organization plans were perfected to advance his interests during the campaign.

Mr. Brady is standing where he has always stood, squarely upon the Republican platform, alone.

Will Cut Salaries.

John T. Wilson, who is candidate for Supervisor of the Fifth District, in an address delivered at Owensmouth last night decried the placing in public service of unnecessary employees and stated that he will lop high salaried office heads who draw a large amount monthly, but who give no returns to the people.

Osborne at Sawtelle.

Capt. H. Z. Osborne, candidate for Congress in the Tenth District, yesterday spoke to the old soldiers at Sawtelle. He was escorted to the Soldiers' Home Hospital before the meeting and was later taken to the Assembly Hall by Maj. Morris. Today, Capt. Osborne is to be a guest by invitation at Huntington Beach, where an encampment of veterans and the various patriotic organizations affiliated with the G.A.R. is being held. As Past Commander of Stanton Post, No. 55, G.A.R., Capt. Osborne is being given enthusiastic support by its members.

Principals in action involving charges of confidence misapplied, in which mother and two daughters are pitted against one man. They are, top to bottom: Mrs. Ruth Cronk Leighton, Miss Virginia Cronk, in whose name the suit is brought, and Mrs. Elisabeth V. Cronk, the mother.

Lostutter is Confident.

L. L. Lostutter, candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, was in the city yesterday. He said he has been cordially received throughout the district and is confident of nomination. His friends declare he is the right man for the honor inasmuch as Pasadena and vicinity have contributed the Congressman for the past fourteen years.

Political Brevities.

The regular weekly luncheon given by the Women's Republican League at the Broadway Department Store grill will be attended today by a large number of women. Several candidates will address the ladies.

Peter C. Phillips, the only candidate for the Assembly in the Sixty-fifth District, is working as hard as if he had a dozen opponents. He said yesterday he is sending his card to every house in the district. His purpose is to get out a large vote for the Republican ticket.

W. H. O'Connel, candidate for the Assembly in the Seventy-third District, is continuing his vigorous campaign. He was defeated two years ago by a very narrow margin and his friends declare he will have little trouble in landing the position this time.

The Colored Workingman's Social Club, No. 1520½ East Ninth street, has indorsed George W. Prince, candidate for Congress in the Tenth District, and has planned a big meeting for him next Tuesday evening. Members of the Arrangements Committee are B. Norman, chairman; W. H. Penson, vice-president; N. B. Murray, secretary, and George Brown.

CASH SETTLEMENT.

In Answer to Wife's Cross-complaint in Divorce Action William D. Howarth Alleges Payment and Agreement to Separation Terms.

In an answer filed yesterday to the cross-complaint of his wife, Mrs. Frances M. Howarth, to his divorce suit, William D. Howarth sets up that Mrs. Howarth entered into an agreement May 3, 1913, under which she received $2250 cash settlement from him not long before their separation. Each party agreed not to hold the other responsible for debts in the future.

Attorney C. H. Tribit, Jr., who represents Mr. Howarth, will also file shortly an answer to the $75,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Mrs. Howarth against her father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Howarth, wealthy residents of Harvard boulevard. Mrs. Howarth says she was forced to leave home and alleges her husband deserted her. He denies these allegations.

Slender, attractive Miss Virginia Cronk of Ocean Park, private secretary to Hulett C. Merritt, Pasadena capitalist, matched wits with the Swaffield brothers, attorneys for A. M. Goodhue, banker, lumberman and clubman, in Justice Summerfield's court in his preliminary examination yesterday afternoon. It was a trying ordeal for an unsophisticated girl, who was chief prosecuting witness in the case against Mr. Goodhue for obtaining money under false pretenses. But she won the admiration of the spectators and the Swaffield brothers themselves for her poise and the readiness of her replies to the searching questions they asked her.

Miss Cronk is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth V. Cronk, former wife of the late George P. Cronk, wealthy coal merchant of Clarion county, Pennsylvania. On the death of Mr. Cronk, Miss Cronk, her sister, Mrs. Ruth Cronk Leighton, and her 10-year-old brother, George P. Cronk, Jr., received in equal shares a $9000 policy of insurance which was their inheritance. Mrs. Cronk was appointed guardian of her minor son. Their chief concern was to invest the money in order to bring in a good income.

SENT INHERITANCE.

The testimony in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday was that Mr. Goodhue, who had known the family since they came to Long Beach, ten years ago, went on Mrs. Cronk's guardian bond. Subsequently he called on mother and daughters and induced them by certain representations, it is alleged, to lend him their inheritance.

In exchange for practically $7000, it is claimed, they received promissory notes and stock in the Ornamental Enamel Company. Miss Cronk stated that, having confidence in Mr. Goodhue, by whom she had formerly been employed, she was induced to give him her check for $2400 on his representation that he was the head of the Ornamental Enamel Company, with assets of $24,000, of which he himself had invested $20,000, and that he was rated in Dun's and Bradstreet's at approximately $200,000, but was worth a great deal more.

He advised her, she stated, not to place her money in a bank, for he would give her 7 per cent. interest on his promissory note. He showed her, she claimed, sample leather made by the corporation and suggested that she take an interest in the concern, agreeing to repay her the money if she did not exercise the option.

"He told me," she said, "that no doubt within six months the concern would pay me a large investment and I could then drive my own car. He asked me if I did not think my car would look swell in leather, a sample of which he took from his pocket."

But Miss Cronk, thinking it over, believed she ought to have some security for her money, so she called on Mr. Goodhue and suggested it.

"My," he said, "I did not think you were a business girl when you were in my office. But that's right. I am glad to see you take a business interest."

NO INTEREST.

He gave her a certificate for twenty-five shares of stock of the Ornamental Enamel Company. Mr. Goodhue, she testified, paid her interest on the note for one month. Since then she has received no interest, and she alleges the representations he made about the company and his financial standing were not true.

Mrs. Cronk and Mrs. Leighton corroborated Miss Cronk as to the conversations with Mr. Goodhue with regard to the money he obtained.

Atty. Roland Swaffield, on cross-examination, sought to elicit the fact that Miss Cronk was familiar with the Ornamental Enamel Company and knew it was only in the experimental stage.

"I don't remember much about it," she testified, "but I remember seeing leather Mr. Goodhue had in his office. I remember it because it smelled like bananas."

Mr. Goodhue, by the trend of the cross-examination, will attempt to show that mother and daughters went into the investment with their eyes open, that no false representations were made, and that the transaction was a loan. The prosecution was represented from the District Attorney's office by Deputies Guernsey and Powell. Several attorneys were in court watching the case in the interest of possible civil suits by Mrs. Cronk and Mrs. Leighton. The case will be resumed today.

W. D. Harper, recently arrested in Los Angeles for alleged violation of the Federal liquor laws in Texas, created much excitement on the night of his arrival at the old adobe Federal jail in El Paso. Deputy United States Marshal J. W. Bell, who took the man into custody and accompanied him to Texas, is authority for the statement that Harper endeavored to lead a jail break immediately after his incarceration.

With R. R. Green, an alleged opium smuggler, Harper had undergone the usual search and identification measurements and been placed in a cell. Deputy Marshal Bell had left the place, but was called back, and after transacting his business, had dropped in to have a look at Harper.

Much to his surprise, as well as that of the jail guard, the man had disappeared. Hurried inspection of the cell developed that he had tunneled through the soft adobe walls into the prison yard. Search of the yard disclosed his presence among several other prisoners in an outdoor ward, where, the officers found, he was making plans for a wholesale jail delivery.

He was placed in stronger quarters, and is being held in solitary confinement until the time of his trial.

Fatherless Japanese Girl to Become Heiress of Prosperous Merchant.

Kiujiro Ozaki, a Japanese merchant at No. 404 East First street, petitioned the courts through Attorneys E. J. Fleming and B. F. Woodward yesterday to adopt Masae Ishi, 7 months old. The infant has lost her father and her mother has three other children to care for.

According to the custom, Masae was given both English and Japanese names, the former for school purposes. She will be called May at school and Hai at home.

Kiujiro Ozaki estimates his wealth at $20,000, and as he has no children of his own, he proposes to give Masae a good English education and rear her as his heiress. Judge Dehy conducted the adoption proceedings.

NATIONAL MILITARY SERVICE.

(To cast negative vote write the word "not" in blank space. This will negative the entire ballot.)

I am ——— an advocate of national legislation which will place the military policy of the country on the basis of a true democracy as provided in the Constitution of the United States.

I believe this can be brought about only by making all young men who are physically and mentally fit liable for military training before reaching the age of 21.

I believe that such a policy would not only produce the force of trained citizen-soldiers necessary to the preservation of the nation, but would conserve the human resources of the nation so as to reduce the criminal rate, produce a higher type of manhood and destroy all traces of class distinction by training and educating the poor and rich alike in the higher duties of citizenship under the same ennobling and invigorating system.

I believe that the Chamberlain Swiss System Bill (S. 1695,) or legislation along these lines, worked out with the advice of the General Staff of the Army, will solve the problem.

CONTRACT IS LET TO CLEAN STREETS.

EXPECT TO SAVE GOOD-SIZED SUM BY VACUUM WORK.

Ten and a Half Cents per Thousand Square Yards, About Two-thirds of Present Cost Under Flushing System—Two Other Important Jobs are Awarded.

W. W. Baxter was yesterday awarded by the Board of Public Works the contract to clean the paved streets of the city with vacuum sweepers for three years at a cost of 10½ cents per 1000 square yards. Under the present system of flushing the cost is from 13.26 cents to 19 cents and a saving of $30,000 a year is expected.

The Board of Public Works also awarded the contract for paving the remaining portion of the Harbor boulevard through the cut at San Pedro to the Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilton Company.

The Pacific Fire Extinguisher Company was the lowest bider, at $14,000, for the installation of an automatic sprinkling system in the seven-story warehouse at Municipal Dock No. 1, Los Angeles Harbor, and the Harbor Commissioners, who opened the six bids yesterday, are expected to award the contract to the company today.

There are Incumbrances.

When the arrangement between the City Council and the Board of Education with regard to the purchase of the Parental School prppperty was reached one of the terms was that the board should deed the property to the city clear of all incumbrances. City Attorney Stephens reported to the Council yesterday that the Title Insurance and Trust Company had examined the title and found it was subject to taxes and three easements, and therefore was unable to give a guarantee in the terms expected by the city. The City Attorney also stated that the description of the property was somewhat different from that included in the contract. He therefore deemed it wise to get further instructions. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

To Supreme Court.

Citizens interested in the borough movement have followed the advice of City Attorney Stephens and taken the matter to the State Supreme Court. Members of the City Council were yesterday served with writs of mandate to appear before the Supreme Court September 11 to show cause why they should not proceed to call and fix a date for an election for the establishment of the borough system of government at Wilmington. Carter and Torchia represent the Wilmington people who are acting in the matter.

City Hall Notes.

Owing to lack of funds the City Council yesterday turned down a request from the Board of Public Works for $3237 for lot cleaning and instructions were issued to the City Engineer that no more lots be cleaned by the city until further advised by the Council.

The Council has requested the Board of Works to issue the necessary instructions for the closing of certain streets during the Santa Monica road races as requested by the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce.

The initiative petition for an ordinance permitting regulated dancing in hotels and cafes will be certified to the City Council this morning by City Clerk Wilde as containing sufficient names. The Council will have ten days in which to decide whether to pass the ordinance or to sumbit it to the vote of the people at a special election.

MUST FIGHT FOR SAWTELLE'S LIFE.

DISINCORPORATORS WIN ONE POINT IN ACTION.

Court Overrules Demurrer to Complaint of Those Seeking Writ of Mandate to Compel Trustees to Call Election on Question of Abandoning City Charter.

The preliminary battle for disincorporation of the city of Sawtelle was fought out before Judge Gregory, sitting in extra sessions, yesterday. The action is on a writ of mandate sought by F. C. Langdon, the city's first Mayor. He is seeking to compel the City Trustees to call a referendum election. The Trustees demurred to the complaint, and Judge Gregory overruled the demurrer. The case will be heard on its merits on the 25th inst.

The demurrer set up that the complaint alleged only that the names signed to the election petition were those of qualified electors, when it should have been stated that they were registered qualified electors. The court held in overruling the demurrer that this was not a fatal defect.

ADMINISTRATION SOUGHT.

Two petitions, one for the probate of a will and the other for letters of administration, have been filed in the estate of Theodore Todd. The will, found among the effects of the widow of Judge B. T. Williamson of Ventura, was offered by Public Administrator Frank Bryson. Letters of administration were applied for yesterday by Mrs. Annie L. Ellis, widow of Mr. Todd. She alleges that Mr. Todd left no will.

The estate has a value of $40,000, consisting of bank and Home Builders stock. Mr. Todd died February 21, last.

LEAP FOR LIFE.

DEMANDS DAMAGES.

Mr. Baker yesterday brought suit against the Southern Pacific and the two other corporations for $30,000, alleging that the Southern Pacific was negligent and that the other defendants failed to flag the train when the truck halted on the track.

DULL DAY IN EUROPE

No Changes on any of the Fronts.

Lull in Italian Operations at Isonzo—Attacks at Pozieres Fail.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—For the first time in weeks no change of importance was reported in any [illegible] of the war. The most vio[illegible] fighting took place on the west[illegible] end of the British salient on the [illegible]. Six times the Germans ad[illegible] in force in a desperate ef[illegible] to bend back the British lines [illegible]thwest of Pozieres. London re[illegible] that all these assaults were [illegible]ded with heavy losses and that [illegible] British in turn captured about [illegible] yards of trenches northwest of [illegible]ntin.

An interesting feature of the situa[illegible]n on the western front is that the [illegible]rmans, contrary to their usual [illegible]ctice, have so far made no at[illegible]mpt to deliver a counter-attack in [illegible] region where the French and [illegible]ritish claim to have captured near[illegible]y three miles of trenches on [illegible]Wednesday. The French are busily [illegible]consolidating their gains and report [illegible]e action of importance on any sec[illegible]n of their front, including the [illegible]erdun region.

[illegible]me mystery exists as to the [illegible]ituation on the eastern front. For [illegible]ne consecutive days the Russians [illegible]ave confined themselves to the [illegible]tatement that nothing of impor[illegible]tance has occurred. The Austrian and [illegible]ermans war offices have been almost [illegible]ngly uncommunicative. The only [illegible]point mentioned by Vienna was [illegible] repulse of Russian attacks on [illegible] line of Gen. Von Boehm-Er[illegible]molli, who is in command of the [illegible]Russian forces retiring from the to [illegible]e invasion.
